Big Airliner Crash-Lands, Injuring 37

Air Show Tragedy Leaves 20 Dead

[By The Associated Press]

A non-scheduled airliner crash-landed yesterday in Chicago, injuring 37 persons, and a private plane fell and burned near Chehalis, Wash,. killing four.

These and three other crashes Saturday added up to a black week-end for American aviation, one that snuffed out the lives of at least 24 persons.

Nineteen of the dead were mowed down by a low-flying plane that fell at a Flagler, Colo., air show Saturday, slashing a bloody path through a thousand spectators. The pilot died in the crash.

No one was killed in the Chicago accident as the airliner, a non-scheduled plane of the Safeway Skycoach Airline Transport Company, belly-landed in a sparsely populated area of the city's south-west side.

None Injured Seriously

Forty-eight passengers were on the two-engined plane. Doctors said none of them were hurt seriously.

Capt. B. J. Mountain, Miami, Fla., the pilot, put the plane down after an engine failed immediately after the take-off from Midway Airport.

The Safeway company said the plane was scheduled to stop at Cincinnati, then fly to Miami. Most of the passengers gave Chicago and Florida addresses.

At Chehalis, a four-place private plane plunged into a cow pasture a minute after taking off, and caught fire.

Of the four killed, two were thrown clear of the wreckage. The bodies of the other two were pulled from the still burning plane by nearby residents.

Bomber Crash-Lands

Witnesses said the plane's engine was operating full throttle when the craft struck.

A two-engine B-26 light bomber from Luke Air Force Base near Phoenix, Ariz., crash-landed Sunday in a suburb of Sacramento, Calif.

Its crew of four walked away from the wrecked plane. One man reportedly suffered slight injury.

In Marseilles, France, officials reported sighting bodies and rafts adrift in the Mediterranean, about 80 miles east of Valencia.

Apparently, a communique said, they are from a lost French DC-3 passenger plane that disappeared Wednesday with 39 persons on board.

Duff Confident "Ike" Would Accept Draft

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Sen. Duff (R-Pa) said tonight he feels "very confident" that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will accept the Republican presidential nomination—that he will be a candidate "under the proper circumstances."

Duff, one of the top drum beaters for Eisenhower, said the general "can beat anybody who will run against him."

14 Perish When Skyrocket Sets Cabaret Ablaze

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16 (AP) — An exploding skyrocket set fire to a crowded cabaret early today and 14 persons were burned or trampled to death. Another 90 were hurt.

Among the dead was E. Read Goodridge, 51, an American who has lived in Mexico for many years. Goodridge, an importer of U. S. books, died this afternoon in a hospital.

The "Can Can" cabaret was crowded about 2 a.m. with Mexicans celebrating their independence day when the skyrocket exploded. Paper decorations flared and the crowd rushed for the single narrow door, less than three feet wide. Most of those who got through lived, but one man, his clothes aflame, ran three blocks before he dropped dead.

When the fire was out, police found nine persons who apparently had been trampled to death. The others were burned.

Goods Smuggled Into Red China From U. S. Areas

Strategic Materials Included In Traffic

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — A Senate subcommittee said today an on-the-spot investigation in the Far East had disclosed the smuggling of goods into Red China from U. S.-controlled areas in the Pacific.

Specific instances were cited of motorized junks carrying oil, heavy-duty truck tires, scrap aircraft aluminum, scrap lead and other materials from the Ryukyu Islands. The places named included Okinawa, where this country has a large military base.

"New and far-reaching efforts must be made by United States authorities to halt such traffic, particularly in these indisputably highly strategic materials," the subcommittee said.

It said that "most of the stores from the Ryukyus have undoubtedly been stolen or procured illegally, possibly even with the assistance of United States personnel, from the enormous military stores in the Ryukyu area."

Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.) heads the group, an exports controls subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee. It sent agents to the Far East.

The smuggling apparently has increased and, "aside from security implications, undermines United States prestige and hampers negotiations for stronger controls in certain areas, the subcommittee said.

This was among the major conclusions in a report surveying trade with Communist China and steps that have been taken to prevent the Reds from getting war-useful goods for their troops in Korea.

50 Reported Killed As Theater Roof Falls

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 16 (INS)—Some 50 persons, most of them children, were reported killed today and 200 others were injured in the collapse of the roof of a movie house in the Brazilian city of Campinas.

The majority of all victims in the disaster at Campinas, state of Sao Paulo, were children.

The roof fell in on the audience during a matinee performance.

Wholesale Beef Ceilings Raised Penny A Pound

Retail Prices Will Also Be Increased

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The government today announced an average penny-a-pound boost in wholesale beef ceiling prices effective next Wednesday.

It also announced that beef retail ceiling prices, as well as butcher shop ceilings for some cuts of pork, will be allowed to increase by up to two cents a pound within the next few days.

The Office of Price Stabilization, in making the announcements, said the average cent-a-pound increase in carcass ceilings for wholesale beef is necessary to restore fair profit margins to packers required by law.

Some Cuts Reduced

Packers have been getting from 12 to 35 per cent below ceiling for the fats and hides by-products of beef cattle with the result that this had cut into their profit margin for the whole animal under previous ceilings.

In adjusting wholesale beef ceilings generally upward, the OPS at the same time juggled the ceilings for individual wholesale cuts to "reflect more accurately the relative value of each cut."

This means the new wholesale ceilings reflect some reductions as well as increases. Ceilings of some wholesale cuts were reduced by as much as five cents a pound for the better grades, while ceilings for other cuts have been boosted.

Round Cuts to Lead Rise

Overall, OPS officials said, this will mean an average increase of about 1½ to 2 cents a pound at the retail level when the new butcher shop level ceilings are announced "in a few days." Retailers are required to adhere to existing ceilings until the higher levels are put into effect.

The adjustments as between grades and cuts of beef contained in the new wholesale price order will be carried into the forthcoming retail beef ceilings.

Beef round cuts will be given the greater price boosts, chucks will go up somewhat, rib cuts are to remain about the same, but the desirable loin cuts will be decreased a few cents a pound.

Larger Draft Calls, Fewer Deferments Believed Inevitable

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — A Selective Service official said tonight that larger draft calls and fewer deferments are inevitable.

The official, General Counsel Daniel Omer, said this is true because "military manpower is the scarcest wartime commodity in America."

Speaking on a broadcast, Omer said the pool of available military manpower, inadequate to begin with, is being reduced each month because of:

1. A shortage of 18½-year-olds entering the manpower pool.
2. A "very high" rejection rate, currently about 60 per cent.
3. A relatively large draft call — for October, more than 46,000 men.

Old Car Racers Near Finish Line

Driving a 1913 Stanley Steamer, he held a 42-minute edge over Rube De Launty and his 1911 model gasoline-driven Stoddard Dayton.

The two aging drivers—Brause is 76, De Launty 70—begin the last leg of their race tomorrow, the 75-mile drive to New York City and the finish line in Rockefeller Plaza.

They are trying to settle a half century-old argument — was the steam automobile faster than the internal combustion engine?

They expect to take off from here at 9 a. m. (EST) and reach their destination at 3 p. m.

Brause, once a vice-president of the Stanley Steamer Company, was chipper and confident as he stepped from his tall touring car.

De Launty was undaunted.

He picked up 20 minutes on the Stanley Steamer today after making some adjustments to the carburetor on his four-cylinder, 25 horsepower machine.

He said he could make up the 42 minutes easily tomorrow.

Since the two racers left Chicago last Monday they have driven a total of 1,011.3 miles—the Stanley Steamer in 49 hours, 14 minutes, and the Stoddard Dayton in 49 hours, 56 minutes.

AFL Will Blame CIO For Failure To Merge

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16 (AP)—The AFL leadership, in a report to the 70th convention opening Monday, intends to blame the CIO for the absence of merger talks in the past year.

The AFL's 15-man executive council said its peace committee had been ready since August, 1950 to meet with the CIO, but that the junior federation had made no moves in the direction of bringing together the nation's two big labor groups.

Convict Dives To Death

LA GRANGE, Ky., Sept. 16 (AP)—A convict dived head-first 40 feet to his death today just after being found hiding with three other prisoners atop the boiler room at La Grange State Reformatory.

Warden Renald L. Whaley reported Willie Cole, 23, darted to the edge of the building roof and jumped head foremost to concrete paving below.

Battered Loser Is Ultimate Victor As Tone Wins Girl

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16 (AP)—Actor Franchot Tone, his face cocooned in gauze, today proposed marriage to bosomy Barbara Payton, the blonde for whom he absorbed a thrashing from her erstwhile fiance, Tom Neal

"I love him very much," she announced to newsmen after visiting the battered actor at his hospital bed "We knew yesterday that we would marry, but today he asked me"

Thus it came to pass that aesthete Tone, battered loser to athlete Neal in an early morning brawl over Miss Payton's hand, became the ultimate winner. He got the girl after all, at least as far as the girl is concerned

She talked with reporters as she sat in her expensive convertible parked outside the hospital "Did he kiss you," somebody asked. She smiled and wiped a lipstick smear from her cheek

She posed for photographers, but refused to remove her dark glasses.

"I don't want my eye to show," she explained.

That was the first inference from Miss Payton that she actually did receive a shiner in the fight that sent Tone to the hospital with a pulped face and Neal into seclusion. Behind the glasses, the black eye appeared to be about the size of a silver dollar.

"Franchot told me," she said, " I'd rather we didn't go on our honeymoon until my face is well." I want to do anything Franchot wants to do," she added. "I leave it up to him. I'll do anything."

Her visit to the hospital, her second, followed closely a call by detectives who wanted to talk with Tone about his beating. Again the actress entered via the indoor fire escape.

Iranian Troops Guard Against Possible Coup

Premier's Opponents Skeptical Of Report

TEHRAN, Iran, Sept. 16 (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh summoned Iran's security force chiefs today to investigate a reported plot to overthrow his nationalist government in a coup d'etat.

The report of the plot—allegedly set for tomorrow—followed a third boycott by opposition deputies of a vote of confidence in Mossedegh's oil nationalization policies.

The report underlined the growing threat of crisis facing the government since the breakdown of talks with the British for a settlement of the dispute over future operations of the British - owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Opposition Discounts Report

An opposition leader discounted the talk of a revolt plot and charged that Mossadegh might use such reports as a pretext to jail his opponents.

Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi, who announced the news of the alleged plot, told reporters "it is only a report through unofficial channels" and asked that it not be magnified. He would give no other details.

But Mossadegh was busy talking to Iranian Army Chief of Staff Gen. Abbas Garzan, Minister of War Gen. Ali Askar Naghi and Police Chief Gen. Mansoor Mozayani.

No Troop Movements

Although Fatemi said the army, gendarmerie and police had been instructed to be on the alert, there were no signs of any special precautions in the capital. No movement of troops could be seen from the army camp near the edge of the city, and only the customary single policeman stood in front of Mossadegh's home, a block from the royal palace.

Talk of a coup d'etat — even though there were no public evidences to support it—and the opposition boycott in the Majlis, lower house of parliament, put a new strain on the government which has been under growing criticism for its failure to reach a settlement with the British on the oil issue.

Petsche, Chief French Financial Expert, Dies

PARIS, Sept. 16 (AP) — Maurice Petsche, chief financial expert of the French Fourth Republic, died today.

He was 55 years old and had been ill for the past several weeks with uremia. He was moved from the clinic where he had been receiving treatment when his condition suddenly worsened today. He died just after reaching his home.

Petsche, who had several times been finance minister in the middle-of-the-road coalitions which recently governed France, was minister of state—a post carrying no portfolio—at the time of his death.

7 Of 10 Idaho Jail Escapees Are Captured

Squeeze Through Ventilator Shaft

CALDWELL, Idaho, Sept. 16 (AP) — Another of the 10 "troublemaking" federal prisoners who squeezed out of the Canyon County jail was captured tonight. That leaves three still at large.

Fred B. Craigh, 21, a GI who was convicted of assault and robbery in Japan, was found near the stockyards where he had holed up since the break.

Six of the 10 who shoe-horned their way to freedom last night through a tiny venilator shaft were captured within a few hours after they dropped down the side of the three-story building on a makeshift rope of Army blankets.

The airplane-directed hunt of 50 federal, state, county and city officers centered in fruit orchards, crowded with itinerant workers for the harvest season. Nevada, Oregon and Washington officers also were alerted.

Roadblocks Maintained

Roadblocks were maintained all day.

The 10 men were among a group of 27 prisoners who were being transfered from Leavenworth Prison, in Kansas, to McNeil Island Penitentiary in Washington State.

The bus carrying them stopped here late yesterday as Capt. William P. Walsh of Leavenworth, in charge of the prisoners, decided to quarter them overnight in the Canyon County jail in this Southwestern Idaho town.

All 27 men, short-term prisoners, were fed supper about 6 o'clock last night. No unusual precautions were taken to guard them because officers had no thought that they would try to escape.

Blankets Tied Together

But 10 of them quietly gathered the Army blankets in their cells and tied them into ropes. Then they went to the spot where a very small ventilator opened through the ceiling into the jail attic, just above the third floor. Seventeen of the prisoners did not participate in the escape plot.

Sheriff Ray Leukenga of Canyon County said he and Capt. Walsh measured the ventilator after the escape was discovered and found it measured only seven and three-fourths inches by 12 inches.

"It's a good thing that these men weren't fat or they never would have got out of that hole," the surprised sheriff exclaimed.

NATO Extension Move Discussed

OTTAWA, Sept. 16 (AP) — The United States made a last-minute effort today to line up solid European support for admission of Greece and Turkey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Secretary of State Dean Acheson had appointments to discuss the Greek-Turkish question with Danish Foreign Minister Ole Bjorn Kraft and Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange. They are reported still to have some fears about extending the defensive alliance to the Eastern Mediterranean.

Diplomatic sources said the Scandinavians wanted a clear understanding of what responsibilities they would have for providing military aid in the event of trouble in the Mediterranean and the Middle East.

These sources said it appeared certain they would agree to admission of the two countries into the 12-nation organization before the present NATO council session ends Thursday.

The decision to be taken here, however, is subject to ratification by all the member governments. It is not believed likely Greece and Turkey would become members in time to attend the council meeting in Rome late next month.

Boyle Assured Chance To Tell His Side Of Story

Investigators Of RFC At Odds On Testimony

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle today was assured a chance to "tell his side of the story" to senators investigating reports of political influence in the granting of $645,000 in government loans to a St. Louis printing firm.

The assurance came from Sen. Hoey (D-NC) as two other members of the Senate investigations subcommittee he heads disagreed over the significance of testimony the group has heard so far.

Sen. Nixon (R-Calif) said Boyle's "claims of innocence x x x now have been refuted under oath" at the inquiry into whether he helped promote federal loans to the American Lithofold Corp. of St. Louis. Boyle has not been before the committee but has said publicly he had "nothing to do" with the negotiations.

McClellan Disagrees

On the other side, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), generally regarded as no friend of the Truman administration, told a reporter that "up to now the testimony doesn't bear out the strong implications" of a major charge made against Boyle in the controversy.

That charge by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch was that Boyle was paid $8,000 in "commissions" after the Reconstruction Finance Corp. granted loans to the Lithofold company in 1949. Boyle said he got only $1,250 for legal work not connected with the loans.

"My only interest," McClellan said, "is in seeing that everybody gets a fair hearing. I have no ax to grind and I am not out to 'get' Boyle or anybody else.

"There has been nothing to indicate that Boyle received any pay after he resigned as Lithofold's attorney."

Committee Undecided

Hoey said the inquiry committee still has not decided whether to ask Boyle to testify. Nixon and the other two Republican members have said, however, that they will vote to call him.

"Regardless of what the decision is," Hoey said, "Mr. Boyle will be given an opportunity to tell his side of the story if he cares to do so. And as I have said before, he has assured the committee he will be available if called."

The RFC loaned $645,000 to the Lithofold company in 1949 after it had turned down the company's loan applications three times prior to that.

No Pound Devaluation

OTTAWA, Sept. 16 (AP)— Hugh Gaitskell, chancellor of the British exchequer, said tonight that rumors the British pound is about to be devalued "are complete nonsense."

Ground Troops May Take Part In New Atomic Tests

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 16 (INS)—The vanguard of approximately 12,000 ground troops have moved into the Las Vegas area and unconfirmed reports immediately circulated that they were there in connection with government detonation tests at the atomic testing grounds.

A Sixth Army headquarters spokesman in San Francisco admitted there was an operation in preparation but called it "highly classified."

The activities brought reports that the troops will try out newly developed atomic weapons connected with the "terrible and fantastic" label given new weapons by President Truman.

AEC public relations spokesmen at Albuquerque, N. M., said "they could neither deny nor confirm such reports."

The AEC recently concluded a series of tests in the Frenchman's Flat area which produced spectacular flashes in the sky, visible for hundreds of miles. A subsequent tour by newsmen showed nothing in the area.

Message Puts Next Move Up To Red Chiefs

Parley To Discuss Terms Suggested

TOKYO, Monday, Sept. 17 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told the Communists today the Allies are ready to resume the suspended Korean truce talks if the Reds are so disposed.

The Allied supreme commander, in a message to the Communist high command, said:

"If you are now disposed to terminate the suspension of the armistice negotiations which you declared on 23 August, I am still prepared to order my liaison officers to a meeting at the bridge at Panmunjom to discuss conditions that will be mutually satisfactory for a resumption of the armistice talks."

Ridgway's message was addressed to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, commander of Chinese Red forces in Korea. It followed an uncompromising exchange of unofficial broadcasts.

Red Charges Denied

The Red radio repeatedly has charged the Allies with violating the neutrality zone in and around Kaesong, site of the talks.

Ridgway messaged today that he noted an implication in the most recent official communication from the Reds that they would like to resume the negotiations.

"I must remind you that negotiations have been suspended by your direction since 23 August. I again emphasize my concern in the achievement of a just and honorable military armistice."

Ridgway denied flatly the Red charges of neutrality zone violations except for one acknowledged

Allies Capture Two Key Heights

U. S. EIGHTH AMY HEADQUARters, Korea, Monday, Sept. 17 (AP) — Slowly advancing American and Allied infantry captured two key heights in Eastern Korea Sunday and bloodily repulsed three Communist attacks on the central front with crashing artillery barrages.

A sleet storm, the first hint of winter, brushed lightly across the western front. Allied patrol forces there stiffened by tanks and flame-throwers fought off entrenched Reds for five hours before withdrawing.

Intermittent rain and fog across the rest of the 150-mile battle line cut air support by Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers to only 239 sorties by 6 p. m.—less than half the daily average of the past fortnight.

Van Fleet estimated enemy casualties were running at 20 to 1 in comparison with the Allies.

He said it looked as if the Reds were putting battle-worn units back into the lines before they were rested or re-built—always a sign of desperation.

The Eighth Army commander was confident his series of limited offensives in the east had destroyed the Communist chances of an offensive in that area.

Nurse Is Slain Near Her Home

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 16 (AP) — An attractive blonde nurse was slain early today on a tree-shaded street on the edge of University of Michigan campus.

The Body of Miss Pauline Campbell, 34, was found at 12:20 a.m. (EST) on blood stained grass in front of a private home where she had a room. Shortly before midnight she had left St. Joseph Mercy Hospital to walk the ten blocks home along a poorly lighted street.

An autopsy showed she was killed by two heavy blows on the side of the head, apparently from a smooth weapon. The blows had dislodged the brain.

Police listed the motive of the killing as "possible robbery or sex." In search of clues they began a roundup of known sex deviates for questioning. There was no indication of rape, however.

Police said they found no purse on the body but it was not known whether the nurse was carrying a purse at the time of the attack.

Miss Campbell, a registered nurse, had completed a tour of duty at the hospital at 11 p.m. She remained to have lunch at the hospital before setting out for her room about ten minutes before midnight.

This was among the major conclusions in a report surveying trade with Communist China and steps that have been taken to prevent the Reds from getting war-useful goods for their troops in Korea.

Wholesale Beef Ceilings Raised Penny A Pound

Retail Prices Will Also Be Increased

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The government today announced an average penny-a-pound boost in wholesale beef ceiling prices effective next Wednesday.

It also announced that beef retail ceiling prices, as well as butcher shop ceilings for some cuts of pork, will be allowed to increase by up to two cents a pound within the next few days.

The Office of Price Stabilization, in making the announcements, said the average cent-a-pound increase in carcass ceilings for wholesale beef is necessary to restore fair profit margins to packers required by law.

Some Cuts Reduced

Packers have been getting from 12 to 35 per cent below ceiling for the fats and hides by-products of beef cattle with the result that this had cut into their profit margin for the whole animal under previous ceilings.

In adjusting wholesale beef ceilings generally upward, the OPS at the same time juggled the ceilings for individual wholesale cuts to "reflect more accurately the relative value of each cut."

This means the new wholesale ceilings reflect some reductions as well as increases. Ceilings of some wholesale cuts were reduced by as much as five cents a pound for the better grades, while ceilings for other cuts have been boosted.

Round Cuts to Lead Rise

Overall, OPS officials said, this will mean an average increase of about 1½ to 2 cents a pound at the retail level when the new butcher shop level ceilings are announced "in a few days." Retailers are required to adhere to existing ceilings until the higher levels are put into effect.

The adjustments as between grades and cuts of beef contained in the new wholesale price order will be carried into the forthcoming retail beef ceilings.

Beef round cuts will be given the greater price boosts, chucks will go up somewhat, rib cuts are to remain about the same, but the desirable loin cuts will be decreased a few cents a pound.

Larger Draft Calls, Fewer Deferments Believed Inevitable

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — A Selective Service official said tonight that larger draft calls and fewer deferments are inevitable.

The official, General Counsel Daniel Omer, said this is true because "military manpower is the scarcest wartime commodity in America."

Speaking on a broadcast, Omer said the pool of available military manpower, inadequate to begin with, is being reduced each month because of:

1. A shortage of 18½-year-olds entering the manpower pool.
2. A "very high" rejection rate, currently about 60 per cent.
3. A relatively large draft call — for October, more than 46,000 men.

Old Car Racers Near Finish Line

Driving a 1913 Stanley Steamer, he held a 42-minute edge over Rube De Launty and his 1911 model gasoline-driven Stoddard Dayton.

The two aging drivers—Brause is 76, De Launty 70—begin the last leg of their race tomorrow, the 75-mile drive to New York City and the finish line in Rockefeller Plaza.

They are trying to settle a half century-old argument — was the steam automobile faster than the internal combustion engine?

They expect to take off from here at 9 a. m. (EST) and reach their destination at 3 p. m.

Brause, once a vice-president of the Stanley Steamer Company, was chipper and confident as he stepped from his tall touring car.

De Launty was undaunted.

He picked up 20 minutes on the Stanley Steamer today after making some adjustments to the carburetor on his four-cylinder, 25 horsepower machine.

He said he could make up the 42 minutes easily tomorrow.

Since the two racers left Chicago last Monday they have driven a total of 1,011.3 miles—the Stanley Steamer in 49 hours, 14 minutes, and the Stoddard Dayton in 49 hours, 56 minutes.

Iranian Troops Guard Against Possible Coup

Premier's Opponents Skeptical Of Report

TEHRAN, Iran, Sept. 16 (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh summoned Iran's security force chiefs today to investigate a reported plot to overthrow his nationalist government in a coup d'etat.

The report of the plot—allegedly set for tomorrow—followed a third boycott by opposition deputies of a vote of confidence in Mossedegh's oil nationalization policies.

The report underlined the growing threat of crisis facing the government since the breakdown of talks with the British for a settlement of the dispute over future operations of the British - owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Opposition Discounts Report

An opposition leader discounted the talk of a revolt plot and charged that Mossadegh might use such reports as a pretext to jail his opponents.

Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi, who announced the news of the alleged plot, told reporters "it is only a report through unofficial channels" and asked that it not be magnified. He would give no other details.

But Mossadegh was busy talking to Iranian Army Chief of Staff Gen. Abbas Garzan, Minister of War Gen. Ali Askar Naghi and Police Chief Gen. Mansoor Mozayani.

No Troop Movements

Although Fatemi said the army, gendarmerie and police had been instructed to be on the alert, there were no signs of any special precautions in the capital. No movement of troops could be seen from the army camp near the edge of the city, and only the customary single policeman stood in front of Mossadegh's home, a block from the royal palace.

Talk of a coup d'etat — even though there were no public evidences to support it—and the opposition boycott in the Majlis, lower house of parliament, put a new strain on the government which has been under growing criticism for its failure to reach a settlement with the British on the oil issue.

Battered Loser Is Ultimate Victor As Tone Wins Girl

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16 (AP)—Actor Franchot Tone, his face cocooned in gauze, today proposed marriage to bosomy Barbara Payton, the blonde for whom he absorbed a thrashing from her erstwhile fiance, Tom Neal

"I love him very much," she announced to newsmen after visiting the battered actor at his hospital bed "We knew yesterday that we would marry, but today he asked me"

Thus it came to pass that aesthete Tone, battered loser to athlete Neal in an early morning brawl over Miss Payton's hand, became the ultimate winner. He got the girl after all, at least as far as the girl is concerned

She talked with reporters as she sat in her expensive convertible parked outside the hospital "Did he kiss you," somebody asked. She smiled and wiped a lipstick smear from her cheek

She posed for photographers, but refused to remove her dark glasses.

"I don't want my eye to show," she explained.

That was the first inference from Miss Payton that she actually did receive a shiner in the fight that sent Tone to the hospital with a pulped face and Neal into seclusion. Behind the glasses, the black eye appeared to be about the size of a silver dollar.

"Franchot told me," she said, "I'd rather we didn't go on our honeymoon until my face is well." I want to do anything Franchot wants to do," she added. "I leave it up to him. I'll do anything."

Her visit to the hospital, her second, followed closely a call by detectives who wanted to talk with Tone about his beating. Again the actress entered via the indoor fire escape.

AFL Will Blame CIO For Failure To Merge

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16 (AP)—The AFL leadership, in a report to the 70th convention opening Monday, intends to blame the CIO for the absence of merger talks in the past year.

The AFL's 15-man executive council said its peace committee had been ready since August, 1950 to meet with the CIO, but that the junior federation had made no moves in the direction of bringing together the nation's two big labor groups.

Convict Dives To Death

LA GRANGE, Ky., Sept. 16 (AP)—A convict dived head-first 40 feet to his death today just after being found hiding with three other prisoners atop the boiler room at La Grange State Reformatory.

Warden Renald L. Whaley reported Willie Cole, 23, darted to the edge of the building roof and jumped head foremost to concrete paving below.

Petsche, Chief French Financial Expert, Dies

PARIS, Sept. 16 (AP) — Maurice Petsche, chief financial expert of the French Fourth Republic, died today.

He was 55 years old and had been ill for the past several weeks with uremia. He was moved from the clinic where he had been receiving treatment when his condition suddenly worsened today. He died just after reaching his home.

Petsche, who had several times been finance minister in the middle-of-the-road coalitions which recently governed France, was minister of state—a post carrying no portfolio—at the time of his death.

Peru Ends State Of War

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 16 (AP) — The Peruvian government today decreed an end to the state of war with Germany which it declared Feb. 11, 1945. Diplomatic relations will be reestablished, though a final peace treaty will not be negotiated until later.

7 Of 10 Idaho Jail Escapees Are Captured

Squeeze Through Ventilator Shaft

CALDWELL, Idaho, Sept. 16 (AP) — Another of the 10 "troublemaking" federal prisoners who squeezed out of the Canyon County jail was captured tonight. That leaves three still at large.

Fred B. Craigh, 21, a GI who was convicted of assault and robbery in Japan, was found near the stockyards where he had holed up since the break.

Six of the 10 who shoe-horned their way to freedom last night through a tiny venilator shaft were captured within a few hours after they dropped down the side of the three-story building on a makeshift rope of Army blankets.

The airplane-directed hunt of 50 federal, state, county and city officers centered in fruit orchards, crowded with itinerant workers for the harvest season. Nevada, Oregon and Washington officers also were alerted.

Roadblocks Maintained

Roadblocks were maintained all day.

The 10 men were among a group of 27 prisoners who were being transfered from Leavenworth Prison, in Kansas, to McNeil Island Penitentiary in Washington State.

The bus carrying them stopped here late yesterday as Capt. William P. Walsh of Leavenworth, in charge of the prisoners, decided to quarter them overnight in the Canyon County jail in this Southwestern Idaho town.

All 27 men, short-term prisoners, were fed supper about 6 o'clock last night. No unusual precautions were taken to guard them because officers had no thought that they would try to escape.

Blankets Tied Together

But 10 of them quietly gathered the Army blankets in their cells and tied them into ropes. Then they went to the spot where a very small ventilator opened through the ceiling into the jail attic, just above the third floor. Seventeen of the prisoners did not participate in the escape plot.

Sheriff Ray Leukenga of Canyon County said he and Capt. Walsh measured the ventilator after the escape was discovered and found it measured only seven and three-fourths inches by 12 inches.

"It's a good thing that these men weren't fat or they never would have got out of that hole," the surprised sheriff exclaimed.

NATO Extension Move Discussed

OTTAWA, Sept. 16 (AP) — The United States made a last-minute effort today to line up solid European support for admission of Greece and Turkey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Secretary of State Dean Acheson had appointments to discuss the Greek-Turkish question with Danish Foreign Minister Ole Bjorn Kraft and Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange. They are reported still to have some fears about extending the defensive alliance to the Eastern Mediterranean.

Diplomatic sources said the Scandinavians wanted a clear understanding of what responsibilities they would have for providing military aid in the event of trouble in the Mediterranean and the Middle East.

These sources said it appeared certain they would agree to admission of the two countries into the 12-nation organization before the present NATO council session ends Thursday.

The decision to be taken here, however, is subject to ratification by all the member governments. It is not believed likely Greece and Turkey would become members in time to attend the council meeting in Rome late next month.

Boyle Assured Chance To Tell His Side Of Story

Investigators Of RFC At Odds On Testimony

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle today was assured a chance to "tell his side of the story" to senators investigating reports of political influence in the granting of $645,000 in government loans to a St. Louis printing firm.

The assurance came from Sen. Hoey (D-NC) as two other members of the Senate investigations subcommittee he heads disagreed over the significance of testimony the group has heard so far.

Sen. Nixon (R-Calif) said Boyle's "claims of innocence x x x now have been refuted under oath" at the inquiry into whether he helped promote federal loans to the American Lithofold Corp. of St. Louis. Boyle has not been before the committee but has said publicly he had "nothing to do" with the negotiations.

McClellan Disagrees

On the other side, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), generally regarded as no friend of the Truman administration, told a reporter that "up to now the testimony doesn't bear out the strong implications" of a major charge made against Boyle in the controversy.

That charge by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch was that Boyle was paid $8,000 in "commissions" after the Reconstruction Finance Corp. granted loans to the Lithofold company in 1949. Boyle said he got only $1,250 for legal work not connected with the loans.

"My only interest," McClellan said, "is in seeing that everybody gets a fair hearing. I have no ax to grind and I am not out to 'get' Boyle or anybody else.

"There has been nothing to indicate that Boyle received any pay after he resigned as Lithofold's attorney."

Committee Undecided

Hoey said the inquiry committee still has not decided whether to ask Boyle to testify. Nixon and the other two Republican members have said, however, that they will vote to call him.

"Regardless of what the decision is," Hoey said, "Mr. Boyle will be given an opportunity to tell his side of the story if he cares to do so. And as I have said before, he has assured the committee he will be available if called."

The RFC loaned $645,000 to the Lithofold company in 1949 after it had turned down the company's loan applications three times prior to that.

No Pound Devaluation

OTTAWA, Sept. 16 (AP)— Hugh Gaitskell, chancellor of the British exchequer, said tonight that rumors the British pound is about to be devalued "are complete nonsense."

Ground Troops May Take Part In New Atomic Tests

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 16 (INS) —The vanguard of approximately 12,000 ground troops have moved into the Las Vegas area and unconfirmed reports immediately circulated that they were there in connection with government detonation tests at the atomic testing grounds.

A Sixth Army headquarters spokesman in San Francisco admitted there was an operation in preparation but called it "highly classified."

The activities brought reports that the troops will try out newly developed atomic weapons connected with the "terrible and fantastic" label given new weapons by President Truman.

AEC public relations spokesmen at Albuquerque, N. M., said "they could neither deny nor confirm such reports."

The AEC recently concluded a series of tests in the Frenchman's Flat area which produced spectacular flashes in the sky, visible for hundreds of miles. A subsequent tour by newsmen showed nothing in the area.

Message Puts Next Move Up To Red Chiefs

Parley To Discuss Terms Suggested

TOKYO, Monday, Sept. 17 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told the Communists today the Allies are ready to resume the suspended Korean truce talks if the Reds are so disposed.

The Allied supreme commander, in a message to the Communist high command, said:

"If you are now disposed to terminate the suspension of the armistice negotiations which you declared on 23 August, I am still prepared to order my liaison officers to a meeting at the bridge at Panmunjom to discuss conditions that will be mutually satisfactory for a resumption of the armistice talks."

Ridgway's message was addressed to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, commander of Chinese Red forces in Korea. It followed an uncompromising exchange of unofficial broadcasts.

Red Charges Denied

The Red radio repeatedly has charged the Allies with violating the neutrality zone in and around Kaesong, site of the talks.

Ridgway messaged today that he noted an implication in the most recent official communication from the Reds that they would like to resume the negotiations.

"I must remind you that negotiations have been suspended by your direction since 23 August. I again emphasize my concern in the achievement of a just and honorable military armistice."

Ridgway denied flatly the Red charges of neutrality zone violations except for one acknowledged

Allies Capture Two Key Heights

U. S. EIGHTH AMY HEADQUARters, Korea, Monday, Sept. 17 (AP) — Slowly advancing American and Allied infantry captured two key heights in Eastern Korea Sunday and bloodily repulsed three Communist attacks on the central front with crashing artillery barrages.

A sleet storm, the first hint of winter, brushed lightly across the western front. Allied patrol forces there stiffened by tanks and flame-throwers fought off entrenched Reds for five hours before withdrawing.

Intermittent rain and fog across the rest of the 150-mile battle line cut air support by Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers to only 239 sorties by 6 p. m.—less than half the daily average of the past fortnight.

After a frontline inspection, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, declared the Communists "don't have much of an offensive capability" left in the roaring hill fights on the eastern front.

Van Fleet estimated enemy casualties were running at 20 to 1 in comparison with the Allies.

He said it looked as if the Reds were putting battle-worn units back into the lines before they were rested or re-built—always a sign of desperation.

The Eighth Army commander was confident his series of limited offensives in the east had destroyed the Communist chances of an offensive in that area.

Nurse Is Slain Near Her Home

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 16 (AP) — An attractive blonde nurse was slain early today on a tree-shaded street on the edge of University of Michigan campus.

The Body of Miss Pauline Campbell, 34, was found at 12:20 a.m. (EST) on blood stained grass in front of a private home where she had a room. Shortly before midnight she had left St. Joseph Mercy Hospital to walk the ten blocks home along a poorly lighted street.

An autopsy showed she was killed by two heavy blows on the side of the head, apparently from a smooth weapon. The blows had dislodged the brain.

Police listed the motive of the killing as "possible robbery or sex." In search of clues they began a roundup of known sex deviates for questioning. There was no indication of rape, however.

Police said they found no purse on the body but it was not known whether the nurse was carrying a purse at the time of the attack.

Miss Campbell, a registered nurse, had completed a tour of duty at the hospital at 11 p.m. She remained to have lunch at the hospital before setting out for her room about ten minutes before midnight.

Students Start Campaign For FHA Youth Center

An "apron parade" put more than $2,000 in the till of the $1,000,000 statewide drive to develop a West Virginia youth center, demonstrating the serious support of the Future Homemakers of America toward the project.

The paradé was the highlight of the annual state meeting of the West Virginia FHA recently held at Jackson's Mill.

All of the money from the unique stunt goes toward the building of the West Virginia FFA-FHA Camp and Conference Center on a 231-acre state-owned site near Ripley, Jackson County.

The young high school girl members of the FHA worked for weeks preparing their cleverly handsome handmade aprons.

As the strains of the "Tennessee Waltz" were heard, the young ladies paraded gracefully toward the front of the auditorium where Miss Pauline Stout, state FHA supervisor, stood waiting.

As the girls passed, each representing an FHA chapter, Carol Ellis of Hedgesville, outgoing president of the FHA who thought up the idea of the parade, plucked from the apron pockets envelopes containing the various chapters' contributions. Then Carol handed the envelopes to Miss Stout and when the 60 young ladies had passed, a total of $1,941.31 was on hand.

Capping the affair, pretty Marlene Morgan of Masontown, Preston County, daughter of a professional auctioneer, took the rostrum and with true auctioneering technique sold all the aprons to the youngsters and teachers for a sum total of $61.70.

Largest donation made in the "apron parade" was $250 from the enterprising Clay FHA chapter. Next were the Ripley FHA members with a gift of $200.

Sattis Simmons of Ripley, general campaign chairman, commented that the "generous contributions which the FHA chapters made to the project should stimulate added support from the general public for the camp and conference center."

"These school children have shown what they can do to start the campaign moving," Simmons said. "We cannot fail to carry our drive to a successful conclusion and give to all the youth of West Virginia a modern, finished camp and conference center."

Rose Mary Barbarito Becomes Bride Of Dewey T. Amoruso

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Miss Rose Mary Barbarito, daughter of Joseph Barbarito, West Hampshire Street, and Dewey T. Amoruso, son of Joseph Amoruso, Orchard Street, also of Piedmont, were united in marriage Saturday at 2 p. m. in St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. George Pugh, assistant pastor.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of sapphire blue velvet with winter white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Adrian J. Wiltison, Piedmont, wore a suit of beige gabardine with black velvet accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

James J. Barbarito, Westernport, brother of the bride was best man.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. George Ord, Westernport, organist, played a short recital of nuptial music.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's father following the wedding.

Mrs. Ormal Hoover, cut the wedding cake, and Mrs. Sebastian Barbarito, sister-in-law of the bride, also of here, presided at the punch bowl.

The couple left after the reception for a motor trip to Virginia. They will reside at 11 Ashfield Street, here.

Students Start Campaign For FHA Youth Center

An "apron parade" put more than $2,000 in the till of the $1,000,000 statewide drive to develop a West Virginia youth center, demonstrating the serious support of the Future Homemakers of America toward the project.

The paradé was the highlight of the annual state meeting of the West Virginia FHA recently held at Jackson's Mill.

All of the money from the unique stunt goes toward the building of the West Virginia FFA-FHA Camp and Conference Center on a 231-acre state-owned site near Ripley, Jackson County.

The young high school girl members of the FHA worked for weeks preparing their cleverly handsome handmade aprons.

As the strains of the "Tennessee Waltz" were heard, the young ladies paraded gracefully toward the front of the auditorium where Miss Pauline Stout, state FHA supervisor, stood waiting.

As the girls passed, each representing an FHA chapter, Carol Ellis of Hedgesville, outgoing president of the FHA who thought up the idea of the parade, plucked from the apron pockets envelopes containing the various chapters' contributions. Then Carol handed the envelopes to Miss Stout and when the 60 young ladies had passed, a total of $1,941.31 was on hand.

Capping the affair, pretty Marlene Morgan of Masontown, Preston County, daughter of a professional auctioneer, took the rostrum and with true auctioneering technique sold all the aprons to the youngsters and teachers for a sum total of $61.70.

Largest donation made in the "apron parade" was $250 from the enterprising Clay FHA chapter. Next were the Ripley FHA members with a gift of $200.

Sattis Simmons of Ripley, general campaign chairman, commented that the "generous contributions which the FHA chapters made to the project should stimulate added support from the general public for the camp and conference center."

"These school children have shown what they can do to start the campaign moving," Simmons said. "We cannot fail to carry our drive to a successful conclusion and give to all the youth of West Virginia a modern, finished camp and conference center."

Rose Mary Barbarito Becomes Bride Of Dewey T. Amoruso

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Miss Rose Mary Barbarito, daughter of Joseph Barbarito, West Hampshire Street, and Dewey T. Amoruso, son of Joseph Amoruso, Orchard Street, also of Piedmont, were united in marriage Saturday at 2 p. m. in St. Peter's Catholic Church, Westernport.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. George Pugh, assistant pastor.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of sapphire blue velvet with winter white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Adrian J. Wiltison, Piedmont, wore a suit of beige gabardine with black velvet accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

James J. Barbarito, Westernport, brother of the bride was best man.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. George Ord, Westernport, organist, played a short recital of nuptial music.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's father following the wedding.

Mrs. Ormal Hoover, cut the wedding cake, and Mrs. Sebastian Barbarito, sister-in-law of the bride, also of here, presided at the punch bowl.

The couple left after the reception for a motor trip to Virginia. They will reside at 11 Ashfield Street, here.

Woman Is Found Burned To Death

TUNNELTON, W. Va.—Mrs. Nora Catherine Riley, 24, was found burned to death in the embers of her four-room home by Tunnelton, W. Va., volunteer firemen Friday.

State troopers said the body was found on the porch, where Mrs. Riley apparently fled after her clothing caught fire.

The home is located a couple of miles from Tunnelton and the fire was not discovered until after it had gained considerable headway.

Officers said the woman's husband, Ralph Riley, had gone to Grafton on business and their only child was in school.

Bus Damaged In Crash Near McCoole Bridge

A bus belonging to the Osgood Company of Morgantown, W. Va., and a tractor-trailer of the Turpentine and Resin Company of Savannah, Ga., collided shortly before 10 a. m. Thursday near the entrance of the new Keyser-McCoole Bridge at McCoole. No one was injured.

The bus was bound to Morgantown from Cumberland and both vehicles were traveling in the same direction. The bus was delayed more than 30 minutes, but after temporary repairs was able to continue to Morgantown.

There were only a few passengers on the bus.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16 (INS) — I had a most illuminating long distance telephone conversation with Lord Mayor Fred Hume, of Vancouver, who is in charge of the official visit of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Canada.

Princess Elizabeth

I had heard that one of our important stars had been invited to meet the future queen of England and her consort in Vancouver and to tour Canada with the royal party. This was emphatically denied.

The lord mayor said:

"Everyone wants to get in on the act, particularly press agents who want to promote their famous stars. Na entertainer has been invited to meet the royal pair.

"Here is our official plan: On October 13, the first night Princess Elizabeth and Philip are in Vancouver, our national game, La Crosse, will be played for them. They both love children and we want as many Canadian children as possible to be present. They go next day to Victoria, returning to Vancouver and to New Westminster. They'll pay a state call at Washington and then go directly home."

The King's grave illness has canceled any plans they had. This comment, however, didn't come from the lord mayor.

Harry Cohn won't stand still for Jackson Leighter's picture, "Safari so good." If one foot of Leighter's picture of Rita Hayworth is shown on the screen Harry will sue.

"We'll slap an injunction on him so fast," said Harry, "that he won't know what hit him. He can use all he wants of Aly Khan, but he can't use film of Rita in any way, shape or form. He was told that by Judge Roth, and I'm surprised he is going ahead. We have the exclusive film rights to Miss Hayworth's film services."

That reminds me, I received a letter from the cartoonists of "Safari So Good," who say they'll co-produce, and not edit the picture. They also tell me about a new cartoon character, a "feline thespian" — a mixture of Jimmy Durante and John Barrymore — which debuts in this picture if and when it's ever released.

Jean Peters is a very much sicker girl than is generally known. She has had a lingering bronchial condition that has caused her untold agony.

Dr. Verne Mason has ordered Jean into Good Samaritan Hospital for ten days as soon as possible for a series of thorough tests so he can better diagnose her condition. She was so ill on location for "Wait 'Til The Sun Shines, Nellie" in Kansas that she had to return to Hollywood.

She has difficulty in breathing, and this is the reason she was withdrawn from "The Way Of The Gaucho" cast.

In our town tomorrow is Herman Wouk, author of the best seller, "The Caine Mutiny." He is here, of course, to consult with Stanley Kramer, who has bought the book for a motion picture.

More than consult, however, Mr. Wouk is here to see if he cannot adapt the book so that it will be acceptable to the Navy's big brass.

If anyone knows how to soft pedal some of the unacceptable material in the book, the author is the boy who should know how to do it.

The teen-queen with a high rate in dateableness is the one who makes sure that she is date-groomed all the time!

SECRETS OF CHARM
By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Smooth grooming is the greatest glamor booster you can have at any age. That soap-n-water slicked-up look has powerful appeal.

Even the dullest-witted male can see beyond the blue-jeans and mismates a girl may be wearing to what a wow she'll be in a starchy date dress — if there is no mistaking her personal polish. So, if you want a high score in dateableness, just keep date-groomed all the time. Keeping your person in party trim has another advantage: You'll always be ready for the unexpected invitation, any one of which just might turn out to be the most important of your life!

Personally Perfect

The secret of this personal perfection lies not in how much time you spend on yourself but how often. Get out a sheet of paper and divide it into five columns, heading each one with a day of the week from Monday through Friday.

Under each day note the daily regulars: bath (scrub with body and nail brushes and slather with hand or baby lotion specially the knuckles, knees, heels, and elbows); deodorant; dental duty (including floss, dentrifice, and mouthwash at least twice a day); brush hair (fifty licks before school and fifty more before bed and set any stragglers); apply the right night improver for your particular type of skin. These are routines which should be so much of a habit that you do them almost without thinking.

That's all for Monday. But under Tuesday, you jot a special job: manicure (shape your nails with an emery without disturbing the corners; leaving them squarish prevents splits and breaks). If parents give the nod to nail polish, do a meticulous, careful job. If not, relax — you're only missing the trouble of constant patching, and you can put a high pink gloss on your nails with a buffer! At the same session, a pedicure, filing toe nails straight across to discourage ingrown nails and snagged nylons.

Scheduled for Fun

Wednesday's special is a check n clothes. Use soap flakes or the stitch-in-time wherever indicated.

Thursday is the perfect day for shampooing your hair (two washings, three rinsings, and a pin curl —no crimper setting!) On Friday or Saturday dates, your hair will be its most manageable and beautiful!

What is Friday's assignment? Looking your most attractive, natural self and being it! The same as for Saaurday and Sunday. Now is the time to get into the swing for a duty-free, fun week-end. Make it your life-long habit!

Tomorrow: Idealizing your wardrobe.

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON (INS) — Memo to a wonderful old lady who knew me some months before the Census Bureau did:

Hello, dear. Big day, eh? Eighty one years. Yipes! You look better than your balding and broadening kids do. Must be your clean living, and never smoking, drinking or watching rassling on TV.

I often wonder whether I stumbled into the newspaper dodge because of you. I'd bet that you have been the most devoted reader of newspapers, and most thorough, in the history of your hometown, Washington, D. C. I can even remember when you made the first big change in your system of reading the old Herald. Was that your 60th birthday? Anyway, you told me that you found yourself turning to the obits before you tackled the front page and that sports column which so often baffled you.

Think what has passed before your eyes, history delivered fresh to your door every morning and evening by successive generations of carriers!

You were in school and could read when the word filtered east from Little Big Horn, in Montana, that Gen. Custer and his men had been wiped out by the Sioux. You had been alive during the Franco-Prussian War, and the great New York financial panic of 1873. Incredible, isn't it?

Turkey was a power in Europe when you were a bonneted schoolgirl of eight, and the Russians went to war against the Sultan to break that power. It must have been a jolt for you to read that Czar Alexander II was assassinated in 1881, just when you probably were learning something about it.

But how much greater was the news that the President had been shot, President Garfield, that is, by one of the frustrated office-seekers who plagued his steps, Charles J. Guiteau. I remember a song you taught me years later, that had become popular after the shooting. It was a dirge:

My name is Charlie Guiteau,
That name I'll never deny,
I left my native Paree
To come here and dee-eye.

He was the third president of your life. You had Grant and Rutherford B. Hayes before him, and then you got Chester A. Arthur, the political spoilsman who was vice president and who reformed mightily and did so much to set up the civil service, in which most of your children and grandchildren were to serve.

You were fixing to marry when the Chinese fought the Japanese and an island with the strange name of Formosa—on which you are now something of an authority—was given to Japan. And you were a housewife and mother by the time the Spanish-American war came along.

The events the papers have brought to you since!

The revolt in the Philippines and the near death of the dashing young son of the great Gen. Arthur MacArthur — a second lieutenant named Douglas . . . the Boxer uprising . . . the murder of McKinley . . . the war between Russia and Japan . . . the fall of the old dowager empress of China . . . the trouble with Mexico . . . the shooting of Archduke Francis Ferdinand.

And Wilson and the big war's encampment of troops near our house . . . and the League, and Harding, Coolidge, Lindbergh, and Al Capone, and the bonus marchers, Roosevelt and a bigger war than "the war to end all wars . . . And, the pride of your heart, your great-grandchildren, and the way they seem most content when on your lap.

Love you. Won't take any more of your time. Know you want to get to the papers.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16 (INS) — I had a most illuminating long distance telephone conversation with Lord Mayor Fred Hume, of Vancouver, who is in charge of the official visit of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Canada.

Princess Elizabeth

I had heard that one of our important stars had been invited to meet the future queen of England and her consort in Vancouver and to tour Canada with the royal party. This was emphatically denied.

The lord mayor said:

"Everyone wants to get in on the act, particularly press agents who want to promote their famous stars. Na entertainer has been invited to meet the royal pair.

"Here is our official plan: On October 13, the first night Princess Elizabeth and Philip are in Vancouver, our national game, La Crosse, will be played for them. They both love children and we want as many Canadian children as possible to be present. They go next day to Victoria, returning to Vancouver and to New Westminster. They'll pay a state call at Washington and then go directly home."

The King's grave illness has canceled any plans they had. This comment, however, didn't come from the lord mayor.

Harry Cohn won't stand still for Jackson Leighter's picture, "Safari so good." If one foot of Leighter's picture of Rita Hayworth is shown on the screen Harry will sue.

"We'll slap an injunction on him so fast," said Harry, "that he won't know what hit him. He can use all he wants of Aly Khan, but he can't use film of Rita in any way, shape or form. He was told that by Judge Roth, and I'm surprised he is going ahead. We have the exclusive film rights to Miss Hayworth's film services."

That reminds me, I received a letter from the cartoonists of "Safari So Good," who say they'll co-produce, and not edit the picture. They also tell me about a new cartoon character, a "feline thespian" — a mixture of Jimmy Durante and John Barrymore — which debuts in this picture if and when it's ever released.

Jean Peters is a very much sicker girl than is generally known. She has had a lingering bronchial condition that has caused her untold agony.

Dr. Verne Mason has ordered Jean into Good Samaritan Hospital for ten days as soon as possible for a series of thorough tests so he can better diagnose her condition. She was so ill on location for "Wait 'Til The Sun Shines, Nellie" in Kansas that she had to return to Hollywood.

She has difficulty in breathing, and this is the reason she was withdrawn from "The Way Of The Gaucho" cast.

In our town tomorrow is Herman Wouk, author of the best seller, "The Caine Mutiny." He is here, of course, to consult with Stanley Kramer, who has bought the book for a motion picture.

More than consult, however, Mr. Wouk is here to see if he cannot adapt the book so that it will be acceptable to the Navy's big brass.

If anyone knows how to soft pedal some of the unacceptable material in the book, the author is the boy who should know how to do it.

Snapshote of Hollywood collected at random:

In April the Ricardo Montalbans welcome their fourth child. Mrs. Montalban is the sister of Loretta Young.

Kirk Douglas' current heartbeat is Elizabeth Threat, popular actress.

David May and Russell Havenstrite have written home of their big game haul in Nairobi, South Africa. They caught a black mane lion and a huge python.

Virginia Field and Willard Parker, after having sent out over half of their wedding invitations, have to do them all over again because the address they gave was incorrect. Their friends (at whose home the wedding is to be held) bought a new house.

When Barbara Hale was invited by the government of Finland to send the gown that had been most important in her life for a charity affair, she sent her white lace wedding gown.

Brad Dexter at Sportsmen's Lodge with Martha Vickers, the latest ex-Mrs. Mickey Rooney. Brad's real heart is Virginia, Gov. Warren's beautiful blonde daughter.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

The teen-queen with a high rate in dateableness is the one who makes sure that she is date-groomed all the time!

SECRETS OF CHARM
By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Smooth grooming is the greatest glamor booster you can have at any age. That soap-n-water slicked-up look has powerful appeal.

Even the dullest-witted male can see beyond the blue-jeans and mismates a girl may be wearing to what a wow she'll be in a starchy date dress — if there is no mistaking her personal polish. So, if you want a high score in dateableness, just keep date-groomed all the time. Keeping your person in party trim has another advantage: You'll always be ready for the unexpected invitation, any one of which just might turn out to be the most important of your life!

Personally Perfect

The secret of this personal perfection lies not in how much time you spend on yourself but how often. Get out a sheet of paper and divide it into five columns, heading each one with a day of the week from Monday through Friday.

Under each day note the daily regulars: bath (scrub with body and nail brushes and slather with hand or baby lotion specially the knuckles, knees, heels, and elbows); deodorant; dental duty (including floss, dentrifice, and mouthwash at least twice a day); brush hair (fifty licks before school and fifty more before bed and set any stragglers); apply the right night improver for your particular type of skin. These are routines which should be so much of a habit that you do them almost without thinking.

That's all for Monday. But under Tuesday, you jot a special job: manicure (shape your nails with an emery without disturbing the corners; leaving them squarish prevents splits and breaks). If parents give the nod to nail polish, do a meticulous, careful job. If not, relax — you're only missing the trouble of constant patching, and you can put a high pink gloss on your nails with a buffer! At the same session, a pedicure, filing toe nails straight across to discourage ingrown nails and snagged nylons.

Scheduled for Fun

Wednesday's special is a check n clothes. Use soap flakes or the stitch-in-time wherever indicated.

Thursday is the perfect day for shampooing your hair (two washings, three rinsings, and a pin curl —no crimper setting!) On Friday or Saturday dates, your hair will be its most manageable and beautiful!

What is Friday's assignment? Looking your most attractive, natural self and being it! The same as for Saaurday and Sunday. Now is the time to get into the swing for a duty-free, fun week-end. Make it your life-long habit!

Tomorrow: Idealizing your wardrobe.

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON (INS) — Memo to a wonderful old lady who knew me some months before the Census Bureau did:

Hello, dear. Big day, eh? Eighty one years. Yipes! You look better than your balding and broadening kids do. Must be your clean living, and never smoking, drinking or watching rassling on TV.

I often wonder whether I stumbled into the newspaper dodge because of you. I'd bet that you have been the most devoted reader of newspapers, and most thorough, in the history of your hometown, Washington, D. C. I can even remember when you made the first big change in your system of reading the old Herald. Was that your 60th birthday? Anyway, you told me that you found yourself turning to the obits before you tackled the front page and that sports column which so often baffled you.

Think what has passed before your eyes, history delivered fresh to your door every morning and evening by successive generations of carriers!

You were in school and could read when the word filtered east from Little Big Horn, in Montana, that Gen. Custer and his men had been wiped out by the Sioux. You had been alive during the Franco-Prussian War, and the great New York financial panic of 1873. Incredible, isn't it?

Turkey was a power in Europe when you were a bonneted schoolgirl of eight, and the Russians went to war against the Sultan to break that power. It must have been a jolt for you to read that Czar Alexander II was assassinated in 1881, just when you probably were learning something about it.

But how much greater was the news that the President had been shot, President Garfield, that is, by one of the frustrated office-seekers who plagued his steps, Charles J. Guiteau. I remember a song you taught me years later, that had become popular after the shooting. It was a dirge:

My name is Charlie Guiteau,
That name I'll never deny,
I left my native Paree
To come here and dee-eye.

He was the third president of your life. You had Grant and Rutherford B. Hayes before him, and then you got Chester A. Arthur, the political spoilsman who was vice president and who reformed mightily and did so much to set up the civil service, in which most of your children and grandchildren were to serve.

You were fixing to marry when the Chinese fought the Japanese and an island with the strange name of Formosa—on which you are now something of an authority—was given to Japan. And you were a housewife and mother by the time the Spanish-American war came along.

The events the papers have brought to you since!

The revolt in the Philippines and the near death of the dashing young son of the great Gen. Arthur MacArthur — a second lieutenant named Douglas . . . the Boxer uprising . . . the murder of McKinley . . . the war between Russia and Japan . . . the fall of the old dowager empress of China . . . the trouble with Mexico . . . the shooting of Archduke Francis Ferdinand.

And Wilson and the big war's encampment of troops near our house . . . and the League, and Harding, Coolidge, Lindbergh, and Al Capone, and the bonus marchers, Roosevelt and a bigger war than "the war to end all wars . . . And, the pride of your heart, your great-grandchildren, and the way they seem most content when on your lap.

Love you. Won't take any more of your time. Know you want to get to the papers.

British Social Services

Social services are likely to play an important role in the general election in Great Britain, which Prime Minister Attlee is now expected to call for this autumn. The welfare services will not be an issue between parties, for the Tories and Liberals are firmly committed to all essential features of the programs now operating under the Labor government. But they threaten great difficulties for the labor party itself.

Last spring Aneurin Bevan resigned his cabinet post when the Attlee government decided to impose charges for false teeth and spectacles supplied by the health service. This retrenchment had been made, he maintained, because Britain is spending too much on rearmament.

The British Trades Union Congress, which has a powerful voice in Labor policy, last week turned down resolutions by the Bevanites criticizing the government. But Bevan is believed to have much greater strength in the general party membership than in the unions. A showdown is expected at the party conference now scheduled for October 1.

It is difficult for Americans to visualize social services as a national political issue. But in Britain it is natural for questions about social services to head up in a national election both because they touch the life of every citizen every day, and bacause they are so largely a function of the national government.

The central government pays about two-thirds of the costs of publicly supported education and the great bulk of the nation's medical, dental, and hospital bills. Relief costs are borne by the Exchequer, and it contributes heavily to social insurance reserves. Food subsidies are paid by the national government, and it provides sizable housing subsidies. Thus there is centralization of control over services which in the United States are provided partly by the national government, partly by states and localities, and partly by voluntary groups.

Expenditures for social services now form the largest single item in the budget. In the fiscal year 1951-52, Britain will spend about $4.2 billion for rearmament and $4.5 billion for social services, including food subsidies.

The British people pay a heavy price for services and subsidies. The taxes on beer and tobacco alone last year brought in more than enough to pay for food subsidies and the national health service, which together accounted for about half of all social expenditures. Sales taxes are paid by everyone, and income taxes bear heavily on above average incomes. Every citizen between 15 and 65 except the non-employed woman pays a weekly insurance contribution. In other words, almost nobody gets anything for nothing.

By and large, British social services are more varied and apply to more people than those of the United States. Insurance benefits cover old age, death of a breadwinner, unemployment, sickness and maternity leave. Lump-sum grants help to cover costs of childbirth and of funerals. The British citizen has no medical bills unless he wishes to be treated by one of the few doctors not participating in the health service, and no hospital bills unless he wants de luxe accommodations. The man of average income can get some state aid toward his legal expenses; for the low-income groups legal services are free.

A weekly family allowance is made to the mother in families with more than one child. Milk is furnished free to all school children, and meals are served in the schools at cost or free where the parents cannot afford to pay. Costs of basic foods are held down by subsidy. Milk, for example, sells at retail for 11d. (13c) a quart; without subsidy it would sell for 17d. (20c).

The leaders of whichever party wins the general election will face grave problems of how to maintain services which are highly popular with the British public and still buildup the nation's defenses.

Substitute For Atom?

Only guarded hints have been dropped so far about "the new and terrible weapons of war" which this country is perfecting, according to reports, or rumors and indications. At San Francisco the President said they are "fantastic in their operations." Senator Young of North Dakota, quick to sense a headline, adds they are not atomic but even more devastating than the latest atomic bombs and more startling than germ warfare.

Whatever these weapons are, and it might be poor taste to speculate on something which is supposed to be a top military secret (although it may be learned in years to come that Russia knows all about them) there is positive evidence of their potential value in warfare.

After they had heard the weapons described in secret session, members of a Senate appropriations subcommittee were sufficiently impressed to add an extra $5,000,000,000 for air power to the bill providing the gigantic sum of $56,000,000,000 for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

If the new weapons are in fact as terrible as they are reported to be and if, as seems apparent, they can be carried to the enemy by air, there can be little doubt of the soundness of this decision. In the years immediately following World War II, after the United States had demobilized the major portion of its armed forces, the chief deterrent to a Russian attack was this country's possession of the atomic bomb.

Now that the Kremlin is reputed to have a stock of atomic bombs of its own, that deterrent is not nearly as potent at it once was. Little as the American people like the prospect that even more frightful weapons are in the making, the fact that the United States possesses these weapons and the means of delivering them may be sufficient to turn the balance against Red aggression.

Jane's Fighting Ship

A far cry along the Pacific Coast it was from the jolly can-can dancers at Seattle to the 17-year-old queen at San Diego.

The dancers? They were somebody's idea of a glamorous greeting to American soldiers returning from Korea. The queen? She was Jane Taylor, pretty as a pinup but unable to walk. Never could. The ship's company of the big carrier Princeton took her aboard in a wheelchair, enthroned her on the flight deck, and crowned her. They fitted her out with a wardrobe and made her their guest of honor at dinner and a dance. They presented her with a $5,000 fund for college.

All this doesn't sound like a spontaneous inspiration in the breasts of some 2,027 officers and men who have been in Asiatic waters for nine months. Of course it wasn't. Somebody had to have an idea. The idea was that a girl who had cheerfully fought a grim battle of her own, strictly on courage, would be just the queen for the crew of that fighting lady, the Princeton. Jane's picture and the story of her personality did the rest. They nominated her by acclamation.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Polio Precautions

Fighting polio is like fighting an invisible enemy. We do not know when or where it will strike but this is life and there is no need to spend the polio season in a state of anxiety. Unless an epidemic appears close to home, the chances are slight of having a victim in the family.

The early signs of polio are headache, nausea, vomiting, muscles soreness, stiffness, stiff neck, fever and difficulty in swallowing. The physician should be called when children exhibit such symptoms and the youngsters must be kept indoors until the possibility of polio has been eliminated. There are no sure-fire preventive measures in the line of vaccines or medications. Consequently, we must rely upon a number of precautions that bear a casual relationship to the malady.

During the polio season, undue fatigue and exertion are to be avoided and special attention must by paid to good physical hygiene and sanitation. This means washing the hands before eating and covering the mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing. Flies and other insects should be kept from foods. Diet also is important because laboratory studies have shown that animals deprived of certain proteins are more susceptible to the disease. In the circumstances it is advisable to include in the meals cereals, meats, milk and dairy products. Families should not travel into areas where polio is known to be present unless travel is absolutely necessary.

Nose, throat and dental operations are discouraged during the polio months of July, August, September and October. Open wounds created by surgery make it easier for the causative virus to gain entrance to the body. Recently scientists have concluded that vaccination against whooping cough and diphtheria also should be delayed at this time of the year because the procedure may lower the resistance of the body to polio for at least a month after the innoculations are given.

There is no positive evidence that polio is spread by water, sewage, food or insects, but research has produced certain data indicating that such factors might be involved. The virus has been found in sewage and perhaps drinking water could be contaminated in this way. While no outbreaks have been traced to drinking water, this possibility cannot be discarded. When an epidemic exists, therefore, water only from a safe source should be used. The virus lives for a long time in the bowel discharges, hence the proper collection and disposal of human waste is most important. This problem begins in the home and ends in the center for sewage disposal.

The polio virus has been found in blow flies, house flies and cockroaches. Thus transmission by insects could occur but proof of their responsibility for epidemics still is lacking. Entire communities have been sprayed with DDT but the efficacy of this measure has not been evaluated. The rationale of this procedure is complicated further because all epidemics stop spontaneously. On the other hand, no one can deny that flies are capable of spreading disease, which means that their eradication never is in vain. It is best done by covering or spraying manure piles and the proper collection and disposal of waste products. In this way the breeding sources are attacked more effectively than through spraying the entire city by airplane.

TOMORROW: Faulty clotting of blood.

STAPH INFECTIONS

B. F. writes: Are sties on the eyes and boils in different parts of the body related? I get both of them now and then.

REPLY

Yes, both represent staphylococcal infections. In the sty, the germ attacks the root of the eyelash; the boil, an ordinary hair root.

FOODS THAT DISAGREE

Mrs. H. writes: What foods are most likely to disagree with a person?

REPLY

Some individuals with cast iron stomachs can eat anything; others are bothered by certain foods. The items most likely to cause trouble are: raw onion, milk (including cream and ice cream), raw apples, cooked cabbage, chocolate, radishes, raw tomatoes, cucumbers, eggs, cantaloup, meat, strawberries, coffee, lettuce, dried beans, cauliflower, melons, pork, corn, pickles and sour foods, peanuts, oranges, spices, cheese and peppers. Fat, greasy and rich foods are usually upsetting to many.

WHEEZING ON LAUGHING

M. T. writes: Whenever I burst out laughing my bronchial asthma bothers me. Why is this?

REPLY

Laughter encourages deep breathing, which in turn dislodges mucus and initiates coughing. It is the latter manifestation that produces the temporary bout of sneezing.

JEEP DISEASE

J. L. writes: What would happen if a pilonidal cyst is not removed?

REPLY

In most instances, these lesions become infected at intervals, producing periodic disability. Others drain constantly, requiring a fresh bandage every day. Between attacks the individual may be perfectly comfortable.

Glaring Tax Loopholes In New Senate Bill; Five Millionaire Senators Helped Draft Discriminatory Tax Schedule; Coal Mine Owners Get Special Favor

WASHINGTON—The men who run the Senate Finance Committee are among the wealthiest in Congress, including five millionaires. Most of the others have large outside incomes well above their $15,000-a-year Senate salaries.

Yet these well-heeled Senators have just finished drafting a complicated new tax bill that will spare the rich and soak the poor more than at any time since the days of Andy Mellon. It is literally polka-dotted with loopholes to benefit special, private interests all the way from mine owners to oyster-shell dealers.

What the Senate Finance Committee has done is trim one and a half billions off the House tax bill, in such a way that 90 per cent of this tax saving goes to the rich who can afford to pay more. Only a paltry $200 million will be cut off the tax bill of the small-income people who earn less than $5,000 per year.

For example, the House approved a 12½ per cent boost in the individual income taxes. The Senate committee cut this to 11 per cent, then threw in a clause for the special benefit of some of their own group. This clause would limit the increase to eight per cent of all income remaining after taxes paid under the present law. The way this works out, it would benefit single people making more than $27,000 a year, or married couples making over $54,000 a year. The loss to the Treasury is estimated at half a billion dollars annually and the low-bracket taxpayer gets no benefit.

The Senate committee also reduced taxes on corporations, which are now earning at the rate of $50 billion per year—the largest profits in history. Most of these profits are coming from the Korean War boom, yet the Finace committee whittled down the excess-profits tax to the tune of an estimated $750 million.

In just one stroke, the Senators saved the big corporations another approximately half a billion dollars. The House had adopted the normal procedure and had voted corporate tax increases to take effect as of Jan. 1, 1951. However, the Senate changed this tax date to April 1, 1951.

Children Count as Partners

Though the House had already added a few loopholes to the tax bill, the Senate Finance Committee adopted all the House loopholes and added several more of its own. Here are some of the most glaring loopholes, designed to save taxes to the wealthy but add to the tax burden of the poor:

1. Individual incomes are taxable up to 90 per cent. However, capital gains are taxable up to only 25 per cent. The House voted, and the senators approved, a loophole by which coal-mine royalties would be capital gains. This is a tax bonanza for the coal-mine owner, putting him in a special category from other businessmen such as the apartment house owner, for instance, who cannot charge up rents as a capital gain.

2. A farmer or workingman can now reduce his taxes by splitting his income with his wife. However, the House voted to allow businessmen the special privilege of splitting their income with their entire families, under certain conditions. Thus, in some cases a businessman could count his children, including newborn babies, as full-fledged business partners and thus reduce his tax load. The senators not only accepted this loophole, but made it retroactive all the way back to 1939. This means a saving of several hundred million dollars to businessmen, which will have to be made up by other taxpayers.

3. Oil and gas owners now have a special loophole, which enables them to deduct 27½ per cent of their investment each year. This would be the same as the 27½ per cent reduction from a wage earner's gross salary—only the wage earner isn't allowed it.

After four years, the oilmen's entire investment can be deducted, yet under the new bill they can continue taking 27½ per cent additional deductions each year. Instead of closing this gaping loophole, the senators allowed similar but lesser deductions for several other industries—sand and gravel, clay, tile, asbestos, salt, oyster shells, clam shells and many others.

Beef-Cattle Bonanza

4. In addition to the benefits for coal-mine owners, another special tax loophole was voted by the House for the mining industry generally. This permits full tax deductions for the development of new mines. The senators not only accepted this but added on a $75,000 tax deduction for exploration cost.

5. The House permitted livestock breeders to count their income as capital gains. The senators accepted this and added turkey breeders to boot, since one turkey-breeding senator is a member of the committee. This new capital-gains bonanza on cattle is why dairy farmers are going out of the milk business in favor of raising blue-ribbon show herds which they can sell at a huge capital-gains profit.

The five millionaire senators who drafted this rich man's tax bill behind closed doors are Bob Kerr of Oklahoma and Harry Byrd of Virginia, Democrats; Gene Millikin of Colorado, Bob Taft of Ohio, and Ed Martin of Pennsylvania, Republicans. Also on the committee, and men of large incomes are: Clyde Hoey of North Carolina, Allen Frear of Delaware, Democrats; Hugh Butler of Nebraska, cattle raiser; Owen Brewster of Maine, and John Williams of Delaware, a turkey raiser, Republicans. Two other members of the committee are well off but not wealthy—Walter George of Georgia, chairman, and Ed Johnson of Colorado, both Democrats.

Texas' Tom Connally, also a member of the committee, is wealthy, but has a long record for voting in favor of the small taxpayer. Aside from Connally, the small taxpayer is not represented on the committee.

However, Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, Democrat, will lead the fight on the Senate floor to close the tax loopholes. He will be backstopped by a group of Democratic senators including millionaires Lehman of New York, Benton of Connecticut, and Green of Rhode Island.

Against Boxing Rage

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 16—I despise the commercial exploitation of brutality, as it exists in prize fighting. So far this year six fighters have died from injuries received in the ring in the United States alone. Surely, commercial prize fighting is something the country could well do without. It comes to me as a shock that an estimated 40,000,000 Americans turned on their radios or televisions to hear or watch the Ezzard Charles—Joe Walcott bout. We boast that our civilization is superior to that of ancient Rome because we do not have the bloody gladiatorial contests. Yet, doctors know that many prize fighters suffer with serious injuries which are not public knowledge.

Protect The Onlookers

It is my opinion that boxing gloves were invented not so much to protect the bodies of the boxers as to protect the consciences of the onlookers. When gloves are worn the people at the ring side can "kid" themselves that they are observing an exhibition of skill disassociated from cruelty and degradation.

It is the intentional infliction of physical injuries which distinguishes boxing, and probably wrestling, from the true sports. Boxing and wrestling may be essential to a young man's physical education, but they should be restricted to high school gymnasiums and military training camps. Keep them out of the entertainment field. I am chagrined to think that here in enlightened America the form of entertainment which draws the greatest number of televiewers consists of the spectacle of two pugilists slugging each other until both are bleeding and bruised, and one of them, suffering from intentionally inflicted concussions, drop to the floor unconscious.

Suggests Boycott

Let me state with emphasis, however, that I am not at this time recommending abolition of prize fighting by law. The menace of prize fighting can be met by a spiritual protest, which could manifest itself adequately by a turning off of television and radio sets. Americans must solve this problem by self-control and by setting their children and neighbors a good example.

World leadership appears to be devolving upon the United States of America, and the retention of leadership implies ample provision for military defense. Personnel in our armed forces need all-round rugged physical training along with their technical training. Preparedness for individual personal combat is a virtue that should be cultivated to a reasonable degree. Courses in boxing and wrestling, therefore, should be part of the physical education of our young men, in the national interest. But I can't perceive that the need for such training warrants the commercial exploitation of brutal fights for high prizes before mammoth audiences.

No Animosity

I harbor no resentment against individual pugilists. I do not know how much we can believe of the publicity issued concerning the new champion heavyweight prize fighter, Mr. Arnold Cream, whose ring name is Jersey Joe Walcott. I am greatly interested to read that Mr. Cream teaches Sunday School and before each bout seeks a few minutes of solitude for the purpose of prayer. My first reaction was to look only with a cynical eye on prayers for success in the prize ring!

But as I read more about Mr. Cream, a man near 40, I could not avoid the conclusion that it is unimportant whether or not he prays for God's blessing on un-Godly endeavor. The sad thing is that in this country a man of Mr. Cream's lifelong character, perseverance, and interest in the church finds opportunity for self-expression only in a profession that purveys to the lowest human instincts. If racial discrimination and poverty had not borne down so heavily on this competent man in his youth, America might be richer by one more leader in some constructive profession. The difference between Arnold Cream's opportunities and the opportunities which our people will accord each of his six promising children will be a good measure of the nation's progress in democracy.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Big Men

A few days ago the weekly meeting of the Armed Forces Policy Council — the statutory committee of the top men in the Defense establishment — seemed to be starting as usual. But when all the secretaries of departments and chiefs of service staffs were in their hierarchical places, George C. Marshall spoke from the head of the council table.

He was, he said, laying down his heavy burden at long last. He had asked the President to relieve him as early as last March. He had only agreed to stay on until the completion of the Japanese peace treaty — a risky corner to turn. He was glad to go, and glad to pass on his burden to his successor, whom all would warmly support. And so, motioning Robert A. Lovett into the Secretary of Defense's chair the great old man rose, shook hands with his associates, and quietly left the council room and public life.

This quiet departure, so modest yet so deeply moving, affords an excuse for saying something that is not news, yet needs to be said. In these dark times, it is only too easy to notice and to write about only what is depressing and squalid. At home, the fundamental decencies of American political life are now under attack, as never before in the lifetime of any of us, by a shabby crew of adventurers and opportunists. Abroad, dark clouds ring the whole horizon, and at any moment the fearful storm of war may break over the world. In these circumstances, the sane, healthy and hopeful things sometimes compete too weakly for attention with the lurid, the horrible and the menacing.

Marshall One Of Them

To true up, then, it is good to take the occasion of Gen. Marshall's retirement to celebrate the fine things, and more particularly the fine men, that American public life has produced in these last years. In one of his Princeton lectures, George Kennan paid tribute to such giants of our past as John Hay, Elihu Root and Charles Evans Hughes, as being men who "embodied that pattern of integrity of mind and spirit, moderation and delicacy of character, irreproachable loyalty in personal relations, modesty of person combined with dignity of office, kindliness and generosity to all . . . who were weaker and more dependent which constitutes the finest (American) contribution to the human species and comes close to . . . our national ideal and genius."

Kennan need not have looked backward to find such men. One of them, in a superlative degree, was Marshall himself, the towering soldier, the masterly administrator, the leader of granite character and unimpeachable integrity. If his political judgments were not always wise (and this reporter does not think so), the fact may be explained by another passage in Kennan's lecture, where he quotes Gibbon's remark on the great Byzantine general, Belisarium: "His imperfections flowed from the contagion of his times; his virtues were his own." In the case of Marshall, he had been formed in the rigid anti-political tradition of the old army. What is remarkable about Marshall is not that he was at first somewhat at sea in handling the great political issues of the war, but that he went on to become a great Secretary of State.

Many Accomplishments

Nor is Marshall alone in belonging to this great American pattern that Kennan has so well described. The Army can also boast of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, a very different man from Marshall, yet a man great enough to lift up the spirits of a continent and promise leadership to a people. And among the civilian administrators, how many there have been, in these last years, who would be the boast of any country—among the dead, Henry L. Stinson, the dedicated and destroyed James V. Forrestal and Harry L. Hopkins, to whom history will be more than just his contemporaries; and among the living such men as our Marshall's worthy successor, Robert A. Lovett, John J. McCloy and W. Averell Harriman, to name only three.

Think also of what these men and others like them—Charles E. Wilson is a new addition to the list—have accomplished in these last years. Think how the menace of Nazi tyranny and Japanese conquest was first hurled back and destroyed. Think how, when the war ended, the new menace of Soviet imperialism, left with no balancing challenge by the collapse of its evil competitors, threatened to flow out over a weakened and enfeebled world. Think how this menace too has been confronted, halted and, we hope, turned back.

Remember that these men did these things, not alone, but as the chosen agents of the American people, with the power of the American people as their strength and their resource. So long as the American people do not change, and so long as the American people can find such agents of its will, what is cheap and squalid at home, what is threatening and dark abroad will be defeted in the end.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Co-Existence

In orthodox Marxism, it is axiomatic that heaven on earth will be achieved when all of mankind accepts the dogma of socialism. The argument has raged among Marxists as to whether socialism could succeed in one country alone or had to be universal. The quarrel between Stalin and Trotzky was partly over this question. Stalin had Trotzky killed in Mexico.

Now a phrase is being used again to give the impression that Marxian orthodoxy is accepting the dogma that socialism and capitalism, sovietism and democracy can live together in peace and harmony. The phrase is, co-existence. The problem it presents is how two opposite and divergent civilizations can exist simultanously in close contact.

Juliusz Katz-Suchy, Poland's representative to the United Nations, says:

> "War economy, it seemed, had become an indispensable condition for the maintenance of the capitalist system. Such an economy . . . entailed a fall in living standards, a limitation of social services, the curtailment of housing construction, and increased difficulties for the weaker economies. This was proof that the system was losing every social reason for its existence."

While this is undoubtedly in part true only because of our mixed economy in time of war which inhibits capitalist freedom, the competitive play which is essential to its success, it is also true in the Communist countries which have remained on a war basis continuously since the end of World War II. In fact, captive countries, such as Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Soviet China, have been mobilized for permanent war.

What such a man as the Polish diplomat does not understand is that the essence of American life is not the standard of living but the freedom of life. What can be said of this situation in the world today is that capitalism, Fabian socialism, and communism co-exist on a war basis and are producing in this world a lowering standard of living and shortages in raw materials and therefore in manufactured consumers' goods. But there is a difference between us and them in that here the individual retains his freedom whereas in the Soviet world, he is a creature of the state. When this difference disappears, if it ever does, we shall be alike.

If co-existence means anything, it has come to mark a period of universal misfortune, increasing fear, depreciated currencies, and a lowered standard of living, but it need not mean destruction of our civilization.

The Communist countries are anxious to develop an East-West trade to the maximum. That is, they want to increase their trade with their enemies. In this, they are joined by Great Britain, a country whose shopkeeping instincts focus realistically on the dogma that trade is the life-blood of national existence. To both the Communists and the Fabian Socialists, trade could go on even while a war is being fought, as in Korea.

In fact, now that the Japanese have regained their sovereignity, their eyes will turn, not unnaturally to the prospects of trade with the continent of Asia, particularly with Soviet China which, from Manchuria, can ship soy-beans and such items to Japan and take from that country the manufactures Japan needs to sell. Japan fought four wars for that trade and in the end lost it. But the Japanese, who despise the Chinese, would not mind their trade. Great Britain, which is engaged in both a hot and cold war against communism, still seeks the trade of Soviet China.

Katz-Suchy makes the point:

> "It was now clear that the so-called 'economic assistance' under the Marshall Plan was a means of linking the economies of the recipient countries to that of the United States, depriving them once and for all of any possibility of following an independent economic policy. As for the so-called Schuman Plan, that was designed to meet the requirements of the Atlantic Pact war machinery and to serve the interests of United imperialism and its ally, German neo-fascism."

Suppose all this were correct, which it is not, the fact remains that the Soviet world aims at an integrated economic system in which the Kremlin determines the production and use of all commodities, including those of its satellites. Poland, for instance, is now not even a satellite: it is a province of Soviet Russia, directly under its control, in economics as in politics, in ideas and ideals as in the training and educaton of its children. This is a battle not only of differing economic systems but of civilizations.

British Social Services

Social services are likely to play an important role in the general election in Great Britain, which Prime Minister Attlee is now expected to call for this autumn. The welfare services will not be an issue between parties, for the Tories and Liberals are firmly committed to all essential features of the programs now operating under the Labor government. But they threaten great difficulties for the labor party itself.

Last spring Aneurin Bevan resigned his cabinet post when the Attlee government decided to impose charges for false teeth and spectacles supplied by the health service. This retrenchment had been made, he maintained, because Britain is spending too much on rearmament.

The British Trades Union Congress, which has a powerful voice in Labor policy, last week turned down resolutions by the Bevanites criticizing the government. But Bevan is believed to have much greater strength in the general party membership than in the unions. A showdown is expected at the party conference now scheduled for October 1.

It is difficult for Americans to visualize social services as a national political issue. But in Britain it is natural for questions about social services to head up in a national election both because they touch the life of every citizen every day, and bacause they are so largely a function of the national government.

The central government pays about two-thirds of the costs of publicly supported education and the great bulk of the nation's medical, dental, and hospital bills. Relief costs are borne by the Exchequer, and it contributes heavily to social insurance reserves. Food subsidies are paid by the national government, and it provides sizable housing subsidies. Thus there is centralization of control over services which in the United States are provided partly by the national government, partly by states and localities, and partly by voluntary groups.

Expenditures for social services now form the largest single item in the budget. In the fiscal year 1951-52, Britain will spend about $4.2 billion for rearmament and $4.5 billion for social services, including food subsidies.

The British people pay a heavy price for services and subsidies. The taxes on beer and tobacco alone last year brought in more than enough to pay for food subsidies and the national health service, which together accounted for about half of all social expenditures. Sales taxes are paid by everyone, and income taxes bear heavily on above average incomes. Every citizen between 15 and 65 except the non-employed woman pays a weekly insurance contribution. In other words, almost nobody gets anything for nothing.

By and large, British social services are more varied and apply to more people than those of the United States. Insurance benefits cover old age, death of a breadwinner, unemployment, sickness and maternity leave. Lump-sum grants help to cover costs of childbirth and of funerals. The British citizen has no medical bills unless he wishes to be treated by one of the few doctors not participating in the health service, and no hospital bills unless he wants de luxe accommodations. The man of average income can get some state aid toward his legal expenses; for the low-income groups legal services are free.

A weekly family allowance is made to the mother in families with more than one child. Milk is furnished free to all school children, and meals are served in the schools at cost or free where the parents cannot afford to pay. Costs of basic foods are held down by subsidy. Milk, for example, sells at retail for 11d. (13c) a quart; without subsidy it would sell for 17d. (20c).

The leaders of whichever party wins the general election will face grave problems of how to maintain services which are highly popular with the British public and still buildup the nation's defenses.

Substitute For Atom?

Only guarded hints have been dropped so far about "the new and terrible weapons of war" which this country is perfecting, according to reports, or rumors and indications. At San Francisco the President said they are "fantastic in their operations." Senator Young of North Dakota, quick to sense a headline, adds they are not atomic but even more devastating than the latest atomic bombs and more startling than germ warfare.

Whatever these weapons are, and it might be poor taste to speculate on something which is supposed to be a top military secret (although it may be learned in years to come that Russia knows all about them) there is positive evidence of their potential value in warfare.

After they had heard the weapons described in secret session, members of a Senate appropriations subcommittee were sufficiently impressed to add an extra $5,000,000,000 for air power to the bill providing the gigantic sum of $56,000,000,000 for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

If the new weapons are in fact as terrible as they are reported to be and if, as seems apparent, they can be carried to the enemy by air, there can be little doubt of the soundness of this decision. In the years immediately following World War II, after the United States had demobilized the major portion of its armed forces, the chief deterrent to a Russian attack was this country's possession of the atomic bomb.

Now that the Kremlin is reputed to have a stock of atomic bombs of its own, that deterrent is not nearly as potent at it once was. Little as the American people like the prospect that even more frightful weapons are in the making, the fact that the United States possesses these weapons and the means of delivering them may be sufficient to turn the balance against Red aggression.

Jane's Fighting Ship

A far cry along the Pacific Coast it was from the jolly can-can dancers at Seattle to the 17-year-old queen at San Diego.

The dancers? They were somebody's idea of a glamorous greeting to American soldiers returning from Korea. The queen? She was Jane Taylor, pretty as a pinup but unable to walk. Never could. The ship's company of the big carrier Princeton took her aboard in a wheelchair, enthroned her on the flight deck, and crowned her. They fitted her out with a wardrobe and made her their guest of honor at dinner and a dance. They presented her with a $5,000 fund for college.

All this doesn't sound like a spontaneous inspiration in the breasts of some 2,027 officers and men who have been in Asiatic waters for nine months. Of course it wasn't. Somebody had to have an idea. The idea was that a girl who had cheerfully fought a grim battle of her own, strictly on courage, would be just the queen for the crew of that fighting lady, the Princeton. Jane's picture and the story of her personality did the rest. They nominated her by acclamation.

How To Keep Well

Polio Precautions

Fighting polio is like fighting an invisible enemy. We do not know when or where it will strike but this is life and there is no need to spend the polio season in a state of anxiety. Unless an epidemic appears close to home, the chances are slight of having a victim in the family.

The early signs of polio are headache, nausea, vomiting, muscles soreness, stiffness, stiff neck, fever and difficulty in swallowing. The physician should be called when children exhibit such symptoms and the youngsters must be kept indoors until the possibility of polio has been eliminated. There are no sure-fire preventive measures in the line of vaccines or medications. Consequently we must rely upon a number of precautions that bear a casual relationship to the malady.

During the polio season, undue fatigue and exertion are to be avoided and special attention must by paid to good physical hygiene and sanitation. This means washing the hands before eating and covering the mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing. Flies and other insects should be kept from foods. Diet also is important because laboratory studies have shown that animals deprived of certain proteins are more susceptible to the disease. In the circumstances it is advisable to include in the meals cereals, meats, milk and dairy products. Families should not travel into areas where polio is known to be present unless travel is absolutely necessary.

Nose, throat and dental operations are discouraged during the polio months of July, August, September and October. Open wounds created by surgery make it easier for the causative virus to gain entrance to the body. Recently scientists have concluded that vaccination against whooping cough and diphtheria also should be delayed at this time of the year because the procedure may lower the resistance of the body to polio for at least a month after the innoculations are given.

There is no positive evidence that polio is spread by water, sewage, food or insects, but research has produced certain data indicating that such factors might be involved. The virus has been found in sewage and perhaps drinking water could be contaminated in this way. While no outbreaks have been traced to drinking water, this possibility cannot be discarded. When an epidemic exists, therefore, water only from a safe source should be used. The virus lives for a long time in the bowel discharges, hence the proper collection and disposal of human waste is most important. This problem begins in the home and ends in the center for sewage disposal.

The polio virus has been found in blow flies, house flies and cockroaches. Thus transmission by insects could occur but proof of their responsibility for epidemics still is lacking. Entire communities have been sprayed with DDT but the efficacy of this measure has not been evaluated. The rationale of this procedure is complicated further because all epidemics stop spontaneously. On the other hand, no one can deny that flies are capable of spreading disease, which means that their eradication never is in vain. It is best done by covering or spraying manure piles and the proper collection and disposal of waste products. In this way the breeding sources are attacked more effectively than through spraying the entire city by airplane.

TOMORROW: Faulty clotting of blood.

STAPH INFECTIONS

B. F. writes: Are sties on the eyes and boils in different parts of the body related? I get both of them now and then.

REPLY

Yes, both represent staphylococcal infections. In the sty, the germ attacks the root of the eyelash; the boil, an ordinary hair root.

FOODS THAT DISAGREE

Mrs. H. writes: What foods are most likely to disagree with a person?

REPLY

Some individuals with cast iron stomachs can eat anything; others are bothered by certain foods. The items most likely to cause trouble are: raw onion, milk (including cream and ice cream), raw apples, cooked cabbage, chocolate, radishes, raw tomatoes, cucumbers, eggs, cantaloup, meat, strawberries, coffee, lettuce, dried beans, cauliflower, melons, pork, corn, pickles and sour foods, peanuts, oranges, spices, cheese and peppers. Fat, greasy and rich foods are usually upsetting to many.

WHEEZING ON LAUGHING

M. T. writes: Whenever I burst out laughing my bronchial asthma bothers me. Why is this?

REPLY

Laughter encourages deep breathing, which in turn dislodges mucus and initiates coughing. It is the latter manifestation that produces the temporary bout of sneezing.

JEEP DISEASE

J. L. writes: What would happen if a pilonidal cyst is not removed?

REPLY

In most instances, these lesions become infected at intervals, producing periodic disability. Others drain constantly, requiring a fresh bandage every day. Between attacks the individual may be perfectly comfortable.

Glaring Tax Loopholes In New Senate Bill; Five Millionaire Senators Helped Draft Discriminatory Tax Schedule; Coal Mine Owners Get Special Favor

WASHINGTON—The men who run the Senate Finance Committee are among the wealthiest in Congress, including five millionaires. Most of the others have large outside incomes well above their $15,000-a-year Senate salaries.

Yet these well-heeled Senators have just finished drafting a complicated new tax bill that will spare the rich and soak the poor more than at any time since the days of Andy Mellon. It is literally polka-dotted with loopholes to benefit special, private interests all the way from mine owners to oyster-shell dealers.

What the Senate Finance Committee has done is trim one and a half billions off the House tax bill, in such a way that 90 per cent of this tax saving goes to the rich who can afford to pay more. Only a paltry $200 million will be cut off the tax bill of the small-income people who earn less than $5,000 per year.

For example, the House approved a 12½ per cent boost in the individual income taxes. The Senate committee cut this to 11 per cent, then threw in a clause for the special benefit of some of their own group. This clause would limit the increase to eight per cent of all income remaining after taxes paid under the present law. The way this works out, it would benefit single people making more than $27,000 a year, or married couples making over $54,000 a year. The loss to the Treasury is estimated at half a billion dollars annually and the low-bracket taxpayer gets no benefit.

The Senate committee also reduced taxes on corporations, which are now earning at the rate of $50 billion per year—the largest profits in history. Most of these profits are coming from the Korean War boom, yet the Finace committee whittled down the excess-profits tax to the tune of an estimated $750 million.

In just one stroke, the Senators saved the big corporations another approximately half a billion dollars. The House had adopted the normal procedure and had voted corporate tax increases to take effect as of Jan. 1, 1951. However, the Senate changed this tax date to April 1, 1951.

Children Count as Partners

Though the House had already added a few loopholes to the tax bill, the Senate Finance Committee adopted all the House loopholes and added several more of its own. Here are some of the most glaring loopholes, designed to save taxes to the wealthy but add to the tax burden of the poor:

1. Individual incomes are taxable up to 90 per cent. However, capital gains are taxable up to only 25 per cent. The House voted, and the senators approved, a loophole by which coal-mine royalties would be capital gains. This is a tax bonanza for the coal-mine owner, putting him in a special category from other businessmen such as the apartment house owner, for instance, who cannot charge up rents as a capital gain.

2. A farmer or workingman can now reduce his taxes by splitting his income with his wife. However, the House voted to allow businessmen the special privilege of splitting their income with their entire families, under certain conditions. Thus, in some cases a businessman could count his children, including newborn babies, as full-fledged business partners and thus reduce his tax load. The senators not only accepted this loophole, but made it retroactive all the way back to 1939. This means a saving of several hundred million dollars to businessmen, which will have to be made up by other taxpayers.

3. Oil and gas owners now have a special loophole, which enables them to deduct 27½ per cent of their investment each year. This would be the same as the 27½ per cent reduction from a wage earner's gross salary—only the wage earner isn't allowed it.

After four years, the oilmen's entire investment can be deducted, yet under the new bill they can continue taking 27½ per cent additional deductions each year. Instead of closing this gaping loophole, the senators allowed similar but lesser deductions for several other industries—sand and gravel, clay, tile, asbestos, salt, oyster shells, clam shells and many others.

Beef-Cattle Bonanza

4. In addition to the benefits for coal-mine owners, another special tax loophole was voted by the House for the mining industry generally. This permits full tax deductions for the development of new mines. The senators not only accepted this but added on a $75,000 tax deduction for exploration cost.

5. The House permitted livestock breeders to count their income as capital gains. The senators accepted this and added turkey breeders to boot, since one turkey-breeding senator is a member of the committee. This new capital-gains bonanza on cattle is why dairy farmers are going out of the milk business in favor of raising blue-ribbon show herds which they can sell at a huge capital-gains profit.

The five millionaire senators who drafted this rich man's tax bill behind closed doors are Bob Kerr of Oklahoma and Harry Byrd of Virginia, Democrats; Gene Millikin of Colorado, Bob Taft of Ohio, and Ed Martin of Pennsylvania, Republicans. Also on the committee, and men of large incomes are: Clyde Hoey of North Carolina, Allen Frear of Delaware, Democrats; Hugh Butler of Nebraska, cattle raiser; Owen Brewster of Maine, and John Williams of Delaware, a turkey raiser, Republicans. Two other members of the committee are well off but not wealthy—Walter George of Georgia, chairman, and Ed Johnson of Colorado, both Democrats.

Texas' Tom Connally, also a member of the committee, is wealthy, but has a long record for voting in favor of the small taxpayer. Aside from Connally, the small taxpayer is not represented on the committee.

However, Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, Democrat, will lead the fight on the Senate floor to close the tax loopholes. He will be backstopped by a group of Democratic senators including millionaires Lehman of New York, Benton of Connecticut, and Green of Rhode Island.

Against Boxing Rage

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 16—I despise the commercial exploitation of brutality, as it exists in prize fighting. So far this year six fighters have died from injuries received in the ring in the United States alone. Surely, commercial prize fighting is something the country could well do without. It comes to me as a shock that an estimated 40,000,000 Americans turned on their radios or televisions to hear or watch the Ezzard Charles—Joe Walcott bout. We boast that our civilization is superior to that of ancient Rome because we do not have the bloody gladiatorial contests. Yet, doctors know that many prize fighters suffer with serious injuries which are not public knowledge.

Protect The Onlookers

It is my opinion that boxing gloves were invented not so much to protect the bodies of the boxers as to protect the consciences of the onlookers. When gloves are worn the people at the ring side can "kid" themselves that they are observing an exhibition of skill disassociated from cruelty and degradation.

It is the intentional infliction of physical injuries which distinguishes boxing, and probably wrestling, from the true sports. Boxing and wrestling may be essential to a young man's physical education, but they should be restricted to high school gymnasiums and military training camps. Keep them out of the entertainment field. I am chagrined to think that here in enlightened America the form of entertainment which draws the greatest number of televiewers consists of the spectacle of two pugilists slugging each other until both are bleeding and bruised, and one of them, suffering from intentionally inflicted concussions, drop to the floor unconscious.

Suggests Boycott

Let me state with emphasis, however, that I am not at this time recommending abolition of prize fighting by law. The menace of prize fighting can be met by a spiritual protest, which could manifest itself adequately by a turning off of television and radio sets. Americans must solve this problem by self-control and by setting their children and neighbors a good example.

World leadership appears to be devolving upon the United States of America, and the retention of leadership implies ample provision for military defense. Personnel in our armed forces need all-round rugged physical training along with their technical training. Preparedness for individual personal combat is a virtue that should be cultivated to a reasonable degree. Courses in boxing and wrestling, therefore, should be part of the physical education of our young men, in the national interest. But I can't perceive that the need for such training warrants the commercial exploitation of brutal fights for high prizes before mammoth audiences.

No Animosity

I harbor no resentment against individual pugilists. I do not know how much we can believe of the publicity issued concerning the new champion heavyweight prize fighter, Mr. Arnold Cream, whose ring name is Jersey Joe Walcott. I am greatly interested to read that Mr. Cream teaches Sunday School and before each bout seeks a few minutes of solitude for the purpose of prayer. My first reaction was to look only with a cynical eye on prayers for success in the prize ring!

But as I read more about Mr. Cream, a man near 40, I could not avoid the conclusion that it is unimportant whether or not he prays for God's blessing on unGodly endeavor. The sad thing is that in this country a man of Mr. Cream's lifelong character, perseverance, and interest in the church finds opportunity for self-expression only in a profession that purveys to the lowest human instincts. If racial discrimination and poverty had not borne down so heavily on this competent man in his youth, America might be richer by one more leader in some constructive profession. The difference between Arnold Cream's opportunities and the opportunities which our people will accord each of his six promising children will be a good measure of the nation's progress in democracy.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Big Men

A few days ago the weekly meeting of the Armed Forces Policy Council — the statutory committee of the top men in the Defense establishment — seemed to be starting as usual. But when all the secretaries of departments and chiefs of service staffs were in their hierarchical places, George C. Marshall spoke from the head of the council table.

He was, he said, laying down his heavy burden at long last. He had asked the President to relieve him as early as last March. He had only agreed to stay on until the completion of the Japanese peace treaty — a risky corner to turn. He was glad to go, and glad to pass on his burden to his successor, whom all would warmly support. And so, motioning Robert A. Lovett into the Secretary of Defense's chair the great old man rose, shook hands with his associates, and quietly left the council room and public life.

This quiet departure, so modest yet so deeply moving, affords an excuse for saying something that is not news, yet needs to be said. In these dark times, it is only too easy to notice and to write about only what is depressing and squalid. At home, the fundamental decencies of American political life are now under attack, as never before in the lifetime of any of us, by a shabby crew of adventurers and opportunists. Abroad, dark clouds ring the whole horizon, and at any moment the fearful storm of war may break over the world. In these circumstances, the sane, healthy and hopeful things sometimes compete too weakly for attention with the lurid, the horrible and the menacing.

Marshall One Of Them

To true up, then, it is good to take the occasion of Gen. Marshall's retirement to celebrate the fine things, and more particularly the fine men, that American public life has produced in these last years. In one of his Princeton lectures, George Kennan paid tribute to such giants of our past as John Hay, Elihu Root and Charles Evans Hughes, as being men who "embodied that pattern of integrity of mind and spirit, moderation and delicacy of character, irreproachable loyalty in personal relations, modesty of person combined with dignity of office, kindliness and generosity to all . . . who were weaker and more dependent which constitutes the finest (American) contribution to the human species and comes close to . . . our national ideal and genius."

Kennan need not have looked backward to find such men. One of them, in a superlative degree, was Marshall himself, the towering soldier, the masterly administrator, the leader of granite character and unimpeachable integrity. If his political judgments were not always wise (and this reporter does not think so), the fact may be explained by another passage in Kennan's lecture, where he quotes Gibbon's remark on the great Byzantine general, Belisarium: "His imperfections flowed from the contagion of his times; his virtues were his own." In the case of Marshall, he had been formed in the rigid anti-political tradition of the old army. What is remarkable about Marshall is not that he was at first somewhat at sea in handling the great political issues of the war, but that he went on to become a great Secretary of State.

Many Accomplishments

Nor is Marshall alone in belonging to this great American pattern that Kennan has so well described. The Army can also boast of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, a very different man from Marshall, yet a man great enough to lift up the spirits of a continent and promise leadership to a people. And among the civilian administrators, how many there have been, in these last years, who would be the boast of any country—among the dead, Henry L. Stinson, the dedicated and destroyed James V. Forrestal and Harry L. Hopkins, to whom history will be more than just his contemporaries; and among the living such men as our Marshall's worthy successor, Robert A. Lovett, John J. McCloy and W. Averell Harriman, to name only three.

Think also of what these men and others like them—Charles E. Wilson is a new addition to the list—have accomplished in these last years. Think how the menace of Nazi tyranny and Japanese conquest was first hurled back and destroyed. Think how, when the war ended, the new menace of Soviet imperialism, left with no balancing challenge by the collapse of its evil competitors, threatened to flow out over a weakened and enfeebled world. Think how this menace too has been confronted, halted and, we hope, turned back.

Remember that these men did these things, not alone, but as the chosen agents of the American people, with the power of the American people as their strength and their resource. So long as the American people do not change, and so long as the American people can find such agents of its will, what is cheap and squalid at home, what is threatening and dark abroad will be defeted in the end.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Co-Existence

In orthodox Marxism, it is axiomatic that heaven on earth will be achieved when all of mankind accepts the dogma of socialism. The argument has raged among Marxists as to whether socialism could succeed in one country alone or had to be universal. The quarrel between Stalin and Trotzky was partly over this question. Stalin had Trotzky killed in Mexico.

Now a phrase is being used again to give the impression that Marxian orthodoxy is accepting the dogma that socialism and capitalism, sovietism and democracy can live together in peace and harmony. The phrase is, co-existence. The problem it presents is how two opposite and divergent civilizations can exist simultanously in close contact.

Juliusz Katz-Suchy, Poland's representative to the United Nations, says:

> "War economy, it seemed, had become an indispensable condition for the maintenance of the capitalist system. Such an economy . . . entailed a fall in living standards, a limitation of social services, the curtailment of housing construction, and increased difficulties for the weaker economies. This was proof that the system was losing every social reason for its existence."

While this is undoubtedly in part true only because of our mixed economy in time of war which inhibits capitalist freedom, the competitive play which is essential to its success, it is also true in the Communist countries which have remained on a war basis continuously since the end of World War II. In fact, captive countries, such as Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Soviet China, have been mobilized for permanent war.

What such a man as the Polish diplomat does not understand is that the essence of American life is not the standard of living but the freedom of life. What can be said of this situation in the world today is that capitalism, Fabian socialism, and communism co-exist on a war basis and are producing in this world a lowering standard of living and shortages in raw materials and therefore in manufactured consumers' goods. But there is a difference between us and them in that here the individual retains his freedom whereas in the Soviet world, he is a creature of the state. When this difference disappears, if it ever does, we shall be alike.

If co-existence means anything, it has come to mark a period of universal misfortune, increasing fear, depreciated currencies, and a lowered standard of living, but it need not mean destruction of our civilization.

The Communist countries are anxious to develop an East-West trade to the maximum. That is, they want to increase their trade with their enemies. In this, they are joined by Great Britain, a country whose shop-keeping instincts focus realistically on the dogma that trade is the life-blood of national existence. To both the Communists and the Fabian Socialists, trade could go on even while a war is being fought, as in Korea.

In fact, now that the Japanese have regained their sovereignity, their eyes will turn, not unnaturally to the prospects of trade with the continent of Asia, particularly with Soviet China which, from Manchuria, can ship soy-beans and such items to Japan and take from that country the manufactures Japan needs to sell. Japan fought four wars for that trade and in the end lost it. But the Japanese, who despise the Chinese, would not mind their trade. Great Britain, which is engaged in both a hot and cold war against communism, still seeks the trade of Soviet China.

Katz-Suchy makes the point:

> "It was now clear that the so-called 'economic assistance' under the Marshall Plan was a means of linking the economies of the recipient countries to that of the United States, depriving them once and for all of any possibility of following an independent economic policy. As for the so-called Schuman Plan, that was designed to meet the requirements of the Atlantic Pact war machinery and to serve the interests of United imperialism and its ally, German neo-fascism."

Suppose all this were correct, which it is not, the fact remains that the Soviet world aims at an integrated economic system in which the Kremlin determines the production and use of all commodities, including those of its satellites. Poland, for instance, is now not even a satellite: it is a province of Soviet Russia, directly under its control, in economics as in politics, in ideas and ideals as in the training and educaton of its children. This is a battle not only of differing economic systems but of civilizations.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Insanity, Violence And Tears

On "The Web" the other night a homicidal sex maniac and a gibbering though gentle imbecile were parlayed into a half hour of offstage violence which must have been eminently satisfying to the people who like that sort of thing.

John Crosby

This is not intended as reproof exactly. What little story the author had to tell — and in spite of dire nature of the characters and the intrusion of a couple of corpses, he didn't have much — was well staged. Also an argument could be advanced that homicidal maniacs have been the chief characters in some pretty good plays before and will be again, that you can't rule them out entirely. Still, it was pretty strong medicine.

• — • — •

Fiendishness in varous forms is so much a part of the life around us that it's bound to be reflected in the popular arts, especially television which has a special fondness for bizarre crime. Individually, this little excursion into the lower depths can be condoned; cumulatively, it can't. And there's getting to be quite an accumulation of it on television. The perfect formula for this sort of show appears to be a mingling of sex, homicide and insanity. While I admit the existence of this explosive mixture in nature, I'd like to point out there are other, milder relationships between men and women which deserve a little more attention from the writers than they are getting. Men and women don't enjoy killing one another to the exclusion of all other amusements. They play other games, nicer ones.

Insanity, handled with greater delicacy and subtlety, was also the theme of the first of the Robert Montgomery shows of this season (NBC-TV 9:30 p. m. EDT alternate Mondays). This was a dramatization of Wilbur Daniel Steele's O. Henry prizewinning short story "Bubbles." The tale was that of a father who is trying to shield a small daughter from some skeleton in the family closet and he succeeds in shielding it pretty well from the rest of us, too, until the last few minutes. The dreadful secret is that the girl's mother, though beautiful, is mad as a hatter.

The subject of insanity, especially the particularly prevalent feminine variety of resentment and jealousy. was treated with great understanding. But the story itself seemed to lead no where in particular and I have a feeling that something must have dropped out of it in translation from story to TV. It was told through the eyes of the young girl, a small waif with open-toed teeth and slightly crossed eyes. It's what I generally refer to as the Growing Awareness of Young Girl gambit and it has been enormously fashionable among the fiction writers for a great many years.

However, where a girl can Grow Aware with considerable authority on the printed page, it has always been hard for the rest of us to look at life through her eyes on the stage or screen, awareness jumping out at adults more hurriedly and affecting us more cynically. Or perhaps I'm just tired of looking at things through the eyes of young girls, preferring my own myopic, slightly bleary but shock-resistant ones.

Let's move away from insanity toward a more elementary form of derangement, the giveaway program. It seems to me I have spotted a trend. Years ago, when there was such a thing as radio, the emphasis on giveaways was on laughter. The girl with the rich undistilled accents of Brooklyn could always get the quizmasters' nod because she could get a studio audience to laugh.

The emphasis now is on pathos, the idea is to wring tears from you and me and no holds are barred. The other night on "Strike It Rich" Warren Hull, the emcee, produced a family of four who were in the words of the husband "broke and desperate," were sleeping in the back of their car and had apparently given up eating entirely. The show ended before Mr. Hull managed to give away any money (although they were assured of a night's lodging, much good that will do them).

• — • — •

Mr. Hull at other times has acted as Santa Claus to scores of other people in the grip of desperation. This is very nice for the contestants, but I'm a little resentful that my own emotions should be played with in this way to sell a sponsor's product. The tear-jerking racket, I feel strongly, should be returned to soap opera where it came from.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO SQUEEZES IN A ROW

YOU are not likely to see the double-squeeze principle applied on two different tricks, one of them three tricks later than the first. The first squeeze pinches one defender between a couple of suits. Since he is the only one who can protect one of those suits, he must relinquish his defense in the other. That then leaves his partner in an impossible spot, where he must defend against that unguarded suit and the fourth suit. All of which he can't do if the play is built right.

One of the several truly skilled bridge players in the organization built by that great man and American, the late William Randolph Hearst, is Morgan W. Howard. This hand is an example of the acumen he brings to every task. His partner had put the weight on him going to grand slam, but Mr. Howard, a former president of the American Contract Bridge League, carried it manfully, as you will agree when you hear what he did.

West led the heart 7, so surely placing the K with East that Mr. Howard took it with the A. Before deciding what finesse he would risk, if any, he probed by running some diamonds, discarding so as to leave in dummy two spades, the heart Q and four clubs. Then he led the last diamond. West, now with three spades and four clubs, would have made four club tricks available by finessing if he tossed a club, so threw off a spade, which later made East vulnerable to a squeeze between the majors.

The club J and 10 were finessed, then the A scored, putting the pincers on East. With three spades and the heart K, he dared not discard the heart and set up the Q he could see in dummy, so he selected a spade, leaving him only two. So after the spade Q finesse, the A dropped the K and made the 6 good for the final trick. The sublime confidence of Mr. Howard's partner in raising the small slam to grand proved justified.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Insanity, Violence And Tears

John Crosby

On "The Web" the other night a homicidal sex maniac and a gibbering though gentle imbecile were parlayed into a half hour of offstage violence which must have been eminently satisfying to the people who like that sort of thing.

This is not intended as reproof exactly. What little story the author had to tell — and in spite of dire nature of the characters and the intrusion of a couple of corpses, he didn't have much — was well staged. Also an argument could be advanced that homicidal maniacs have been the chief characters in some pretty good plays before and will be again, that you can't rule them out entirely. Still, it was pretty strong medicine.

Fiendishness in varous forms is so much a part of the life around us that it's bound to be reflected in the popular arts, especially television which has a special fondness for bizarre crime. Individually, this little excursion into the lower depths can be condoned; cumulatively, it can't. And there's getting to be quite an accumulation of it on television. The perfect formula for this sort of show appears to be a mingling of sex, homicide and insanity. While I admit the existence of this explosive mixture in nature, I'd like to point out there are other, milder relationships between men and women which deserve a little more attention from the writers than they are getting. Men and women don't enjoy killing one another to the exclusion of all other amusements. They play other games, nicer ones.

Insanity, handled with greater delicacy and subtlety, was also the theme of the first of the Robert Montgomery shows of this season (NBC-TV 9:30 p. m. EDT alternate Mondays). This was a dramatization of Wilbur Daniel Steele's O. Henry prizewinning short story "Bubbles." The tale was that of a father who is trying to shield a small daughter from some skeleton in the family closet and he succeeds in shielding it pretty well from the rest of us, too, until the last few minutes. The dreadful secret is that the girl's mother, though beautiful, is mad as a hatter.

The subject of insanity, especially the particularly prevalent feminine variety of resentment and jealousy, was treated with great understanding. But the story itself seemed to lead no where in particular and I have a feeling that something must have dropped out of it in translation from story to TV. It was told through the eyes of the young girl, a small waif with open-toed teeth and slightly crossed eyes. It's what I generally refer to as the Growing Awareness of Young Girl gambit and it has been enormously fashionable among the fiction writers for a great many years.

However, where a girl can Grow Aware with considerable authority on the printed page, it has always been hard for the rest of us to look at life through her eyes on the stage or screen, awareness jumping out at adults more hurriedly and affecting us more cynically. Or perhaps I'm just tired of looking at things through the eyes of young girls, preferring my own myopic, slightly bleary but shock-resistant ones.

Let's move away from insanity toward a more elementary form of derangement, the giveaway program. It seems to me I have spotted a trend. Years ago, when there was such a thing as radio, the emphasis on giveaways was on laughter. The girl with the rich undistilled accents of Brooklyn could always get the quizmasters' nod because she could get a studio audience to laugh.

The emphasis now is on pathos, the idea is to wring tears from you and me and no holds are barred. The other night on "Strike It Rich" Warren Hull, the emcee, produced a family of four who were in the words of the husband "broke and desperate," were sleeping in the back of their car and had apparently given up eating entirely. The show ended before Mr. Hull managed to give away any money (although they were assured of a night's lodging, much good that will do them).

Mr. Hull at other times has acted as Santa Claus to scores of other people in the grip of desperation. This is very nice for the contestants, but I'm a little resentful that my own emotions should be played with in this way to sell a sponsor's product. The tear-jerking racket, I feel strongly, should be returned to soap opera where it came from.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO SQUEEZES IN A ROW

YOU are not likely to see the double-squeeze principle applied on two different tricks, one of them three tricks later than the first. The first squeeze pinches one defender between a couple of suits. Since he is the only one who can protect one of those suits, he must relinquish his defense in the other. That then leaves his partner in an impossible spot, where he must defend against that unguarded suit and the fourth suit. All of which he can't do if the play is built right.

One of the several truly skilled bridge players in the organization built by that great man and American, the late William Randolph Hearst, is Morgan W. Howard. This hand is an example of the acumen he brings to every task. His partner had put the weight on him going to grand slam, but Mr. Howard, a former president of the American Contract Bridge League, carried it manfully, as you will agree when you hear what he did.

West led the heart 7, so surely placing the K with East that Mr. Howard took it with the A. Before deciding what finesse he would risk, if any, he probed by running some diamonds, discarding so as to leave in dummy two spades, the heart Q and four clubs. Then he led the last diamond. West, now with three spades and four clubs, would have made four club tricks available by finessing if he tossed a club, so threw off a spade, which later made East vulnerable to a squeeze between the majors.

The club J and 10 were finessed, then the A scored, putting the pincers on East. With three spades and the heart K, he dared not discard the heart and set up the Q he could see in dummy, so he selected a spade, leaving him only two. So after the spade Q finesse, the A dropped the K and made the 6 good for the final trick. The sublime confidence of Mr. Howard's partner in raising the small slam to grand proved justified.

Student Nurses To Take Course At Springfield

Eleven students from Memorial Hospital School of Nursing will begin tomorrow a three months' aftion in Psychiatric Nursing at Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville. Three months experience in Psychiatry is required in most states, and these students will fulfill this requirement. Psychiatric nursing is considered more and more important to prepare students how to care for persons with emotional and mental problems.

The students will spend much of their time on the wards of the Hubner (Administration) Building under the guidance of a professional nurse. They will be assigned to individual patients and given the opportunity to study one or more patients thoroughly. Experience and observation in the operating room and treatment room are also available. Lectures will be given by members of the medical and nursing staff.

"The program of study will help to educate the community to the use of the medical and educational facilities offered by the State of Maryland," said Violet E. Popp, educational director at Memorial Hospital. "This hospital is fortunate to be a part of the general, overall program of medical education begun by the state."

University of Maryland School of Nursing students also affiliate at Springfield.

Students participating include: Phyllis Barncord, Nellie Bowman, Martha Buffenmyer, Esther Burch, Nancy Largent, Ann Linn, Virginia Lechliter, Esther Lewis, Hilda Stump, Kathleen Beachy and Colleen Russell.

The Old Second Guesser

By JOHN N. WHEELER

The Last Rose Of Summer

John Wheeler

As one grows older, he hates to see the summer fade into the fall. Then we contemplate steam heat, heavy underwear, and slush and snow, unless you live in Florida or California. We decided to go to East Hampton, Long Island, for a last swim and fling, before the chill and frosts set in. It was hot when we left and got hotter as we went along the crowded highway.

We stopped at a place called the Sea Spray Inn, and what I saw there encouraged me about youth. A young man with horn-rimmed glasses and a crew haircut, who looked something like Russell Nype, passed us some pre-prandial dainties.

"Do you go to college?" I asked him.

"Yes, I will be in Harvard next year," he replied.

It turned out he was a serious young Frenchman who had already put in a term at Dartmouth and intended to study economics—I hope so he may be able to go back and put his own country on its feet. Then a pretty girl handed around celery, olives, etc.

"What do you do?" I asked her.

"I'm a sophomore at Vassar," she answered. My wife questioned her about her home, and she added she lived in Washington, D. C., and had grown up in the Chevy Chase section.

All this seemed to be wholesome. Here were a couple of young people —ambitious and happy — working through the summer to help pay for their educations. Of course, at the golf club, it would be easy to find the offspring of those who still think they are rich, making merry at the expense of their parents which I guess is all right if the old folks are prepared to pay the bills. But I believe Andre, the French boy, and the Vassar girl may climb higher in life and have more fun in the long run.

There developed a scarcity of caddies, and I found a lot of golfers pushing carts rigged to transport the tools. It looked funny to see dignified ladies and gents doing this when you wouldn't catch any of them shoving a baby carriage. One of the good players was grumbling about the situation, and I offered to carry his clubs for $10, but he turned me down, although I reminded him of inflation. As a matter of fact, the standard rate at the Maidstone Club is $3 per bag and a tip is expected on top of that. Even so, it is hard to get volunteers at the price. Perhaps they are right when you consider the number of clubs, raincoats, umbrellas, etc., some golfers carry with them. Personally, I feel the game is on the decline with everything going up, and the courses getting longer each year you grow older.

On the way back, we stopped to see a couple of friends, the husband being a banker through the week, and a bettor on horses in his off time. He told me the foreign department of his firm had received a commission from London of £6,000, which means a little more than $16,000, to place on Turpin. By the time this is published the fight will be over and you will know the answer, but, at the present writing, if I wanted to back either one, it would be Robinson.

"How do you bet that much?" I asked my friend.

"I don't know," he answered. "That's what I'm trying to find out."

"Do you have any trouble betting on the horse races, since the Kefauver show?"

"Not much, but now the bookmaker has to call you. He does daily, and they pay up all right."

Our last stop was to see an old man who should be cutting out paper dolls in a sanitarium, except he can afford an attendant. As he turned his back, the nurse nodded to me knowingly and made a gesture to indicate her patient was off his trolley. When she went out, he said,

"She's crazy."

Maybe they both were right. In fact as I read the newspapers nowadays reporting the sad state of the world and realize the stupidity of human beings, I think we all are.

Night School Registration Set Tomorrow

Adults in Allegany County will soon be joining the back-to-school movement when they enroll this week in adult education courses to be offered in the public schools. According to an announcement by J. D. Lonnholm, director of the evening school program, registration for the various courses to be offered will be held this week at several schools and centers.

Persons interested in enrolling in night school courses may register for classes of their choice from 7 to 9 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday at Fort Hill and Carver High Schools, Cumberland; Beall High, Frostburg; Central High, Lonaconing; Bruce High, Westernport; and Cresaptown School, Cresaptown. Registrars will be at each school to explain the program. J. S. Hunter will take registrations at Beall High; Joseph K. Haugen at Central High; Miss Margaret Hayden at Bruce High; Mrs. Jean Eackles at Cresaptown; Miss Mary Carter at Carver; and J. D. Lonnholm at Fort Hill.

Three Home Centers

In addition to the registration centers mentioned above, classes will also be conducted at the following points: Mrs. Christine Hess, 316 Piedmont Avenue, clothing construction; Miss Helen Cherry, 38 North Liberty Street, needlepoint; and Mrs. Richard VanHorn, 725 Oldtown Road, clothing construction.

On the basis of this week's registration, classes will be organized, instructors assigned, and classes started on Tuesday, September 25. A certain number of classes will begin on Monday, September 24, and these will be specified later.

"Among the new courses to be offered this year will be sculpturing for beginners," said Mr. Lonnholm, "which is an excellent hobby medium from which a person can derive a great deal of satisfaction. A course in group leadership is planned to train a person how to preside at meetings, to take minutes, interpret parliamentary law, organize and guide groups, and how to become an effective leader. An arts and crafts course will be offered which will consist of beginner's level activities in art metal, jewelry making, leatherwork, and weaving among other activities. The course in effective speaking, which proved to be most popular last year, will again be offered to train persons to express themselves with confidence."

Academic and cultural subjects to be offered are English, beginners' Spanish, high school mathematics, pencil sketching, oil painting, water color painting, charcoal sketching, beginning piano instruction, vocal music, arithmetic for business, everyday law, family finances, and music appreciation.

Multitude Of Courses

Courses to be offered in the commercial and vocational fields are beginning typing, advanced typing, beginning shorthand, advanced shorthand, bookkeeping, commercial sign painting, bricklaying, machine shop, cabinetmaking, electric motor repairing, blueprint reading, radio repairing, women's woodwork, electrical theory, building or buying a home, machine drawing, architectural drawing, photography, and driver education.

In the field of home economics, courses to be offered are beginning sewing, advanced sewing, coat and suit making, children's clothing, clothing alteration, slip covers and draperies, millinery, rug making, knitting and needlecraft, meal preparation, and painting and decorating useful objects.

Chest Workers Plan Meeting To Further 1951-52 Drive

Busy days are ahead of leaders in the Community Chest-United Defense Fund (USO) campaign as several important meetings are scheduled this week, according to George L. Buchanan, general chairman.

Tomorrow is the opening of the advance solicitation phase of the appeal when Edmund S. Burke, chairman, and Henry C. Swearingen, co-chairman, meet with their committee for dinner at 6:15 p. m. at the Central YMCA. This is the first meeting of this committee and will be devoted to discussions of the problems of securing pace-setting gifts in advance of the general campaign which starts early in October.

Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. Charles S. Catherman, Jr., chairman of the publicity committee, and W. Addison Rinker, James J. Condon and Homer Berry, co-chairmen of the Speakers Bureau, will hold their first organization meeting. This session is scheduled for the campaign office, Room 3, County Office Building on Union Street.

Thursday at 6:15 p. m. group chairmen and their committeemen will meet with Edward L. Ewald, chairman of the Classified Section, for dinner at the YMCA to plan presentation of the appeal to the larger employed groups in the city.

Separate conferences of residential zone and district leaders throughout the week are scheduled at the homes of the co-chairman of the section according to Mrs. Morris L. Barnes, chairman. The first of these meetings is today 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Mortimer M. Nehring, 509 Caroline Street. She is meeting with Mrs. E. L. Weimer, chairman of Zone 1 and her district chairmen: "A" Mrs. John Daychak, "B" and "C" Mrs. Harry Hall, "D" Mrs. James B. Raines and Mrs. Howard Frost. Mrs. Charles B. Hornbrook, chairman of Zone 2, and her district leaders will also attend and are: "A" Mrs. Robert Shoemaker, "B" Mrs. George Phillippi and "C" Mrs. Wilbur Hutson.

Mrs. Barnes stated that with the inclusion of the United Defense Fund (USO) in the budget for the campaign the leaders of the Residential Section had unanimously agreed that it should conduct a house to house solicitation.

Optimist Club Plans Charter Night

The Optimist Club of Cumberland will hold its sixth annual dinner on Wednesday, September 26 at the Clary Club, starting at 6:30 p. m. The club was chartered September 27, 1946 and Kenneth R. Shafer is now serving as president.

Harold E. Naughton, local attorney and immediate past president of the club, will be toastmaster at the dinner. David Miller is in charge of arrangements for the affair, which will be featured by an entertainment program.

Accused Slayer Faces Hearing Tomorrow

Clarence Burkett, 33, accused slayer of his estranged wife, Mrs. Mura Grace Burkett, 23, last week near Hyndman, Pa., will be given a hearing at 10 a. m. Wednesday before Justice of the Peace H. C. Bingham at Bedford, Pa.

Authorities said Burkett will be arraigned on a general charge of murder. A previous hearing was postponed.

New Store Opens At Noon Today

A new speciality shop, Lane's will open at 65 Baltimore Street today at noon.

The store will feature women's suits, coats, dresses and sportswear and will be managed by Walter S. Chain, who has been associated with the ready-to-wear business for 25 years.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If your children's toys are spread all over the house, possibly you can find an old trunk in the basement or attic. You might paint the outside in a bright color and the inside in wide stripes to make it attractive to hold toys.

Ordinary salt is composed of 60 per cent chlorine.

Equity Cases Filed

Two equity cases were filed Friday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Wilmoth Harman vs. Pauline Harman and Nina Smith vs. Enoch Smith.

Student Nurses To Take Course At Springfield

Eleven students from Memorial Hospital School of Nursing will begin tomorrow a three months' affiliation in Psychiatric Nursing at Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville. Three months experience in Psychiatry is required in most states, and these students will fulfill this requirement. Psychiatric nursing is considered more and more important to prepare students how to care for persons with emotional and mental problems.

The students will spend much of their time on the wards of the Hubner (Administration) Building under the guidance of a professional nurse. They will be assigned to individual patients and given the opportunity to study one or more patients thoroughly. Experience and observation in the operating room and treatment room are also available. Lectures will be given by members of the medical and nursing staff.

"The program of study will help to educate the community to the use of the medical and educational facilities offered by the State of Maryland," said Violet E. Popp, educational director at Memorial Hospital. "This hospital is fortunate to be a part of the general, overall program of medical education begun by the state."

University of Maryland School of Nursing students also affiliate at Springfield.

Students participating include: Phyllis Barncord, Nellie Bowman, Martha Buffenmyer, Esther Burch, Nancy Largent, Ann Linn, Virginia Lechliter, Esther Lewis, Hilda Stump, Kathleen Beachy and Colleen Russell.

Progress in sending radio waves to greater depths in the outer crust of the earth is reported from Texas. Radio waves are stated to have been transmitted through 1125 feet of earth, rock and salt.

The Old Second Guesser

By JOHN N. WHEELER

The Last Rose Of Summer

John Wheeler

As one grows older, he hates to see the summer fade into the fall. Then we contemplate steam heat, heavy underwear, and slush and snow, unless you live in Florida or California. We decided to go to East Hampton, Long Island, for a last swim and fling, before the chill and frosts set in. It was hot when we left and got hotter as we went along the crowded highway.

We stopped at a place called the Sea Spray Inn, and what I saw there encouraged me about youth. A young man with horn-rimmed glasses and a crew haircut, who looked something like Russell Nype, passed us some pre-prandial dainties.

"Do you go to college?" I asked him.

"Yes, I will be in Harvard next year," he replied.

It turned out he was a serious young Frenchman who had already put in a term at Dartmouth and intended to study economics—I hope so he may be able to go back and put his own country on its feet. Then a pretty girl handed around celery, olives, etc.

"What do you do?" I asked her.

"I'm a sophomore at Vassar," she answered. My wife questioned her about her home, and she added she lived in Washington, D. C., and had grown up in the Chevy Chase section.

All this seemed to be wholesome. Here were a couple of young people—ambitious and happy — working through the summer to help pay for their educations. Of course, at the golf club, it would be easy to find the offspring of those who still think they are rich, making merry at the expense of their parents which I guess is all right if the old folks are prepared to pay the bills. But I believe Andre, the French boy, and the Vassar girl may climb higher in life and have more fun in the long run.

There developed a scarcity of caddies, and I found a lot of golfers pushing carts rigged to transport the tools. It looked funny to see dignified ladies and gents doing this when you wouldn't catch any of them shoving a baby carriage. One of the good players was grumbling about the situation, and I offered to carry his clubs for $10, but he turned me down, although I reminded him of inflation. As a matter of fact, the standard rate at the Maidstone Club is $3 per bag and a tip is expected on top of that. Even so, it is hard to get volunteers at the price. Perhaps they are right when you consider the number of clubs, raincoats, umbrellas, etc., some golfers carry with them. Personally, I feel the game is on the decline with everything going up, and the courses getting longer each year you grow older.

On the way back, we stopped to see a couple of friends, the husband being a banker through the week, and a bettor on horses in his off time. He told me the foreign department of his firm had received a commission from London of £6,000, which means a little more than $16,000, to place on Turpin. By the time this is published the fight will be over and you will know the answer, but, at the present writing, if I wanted to back either one, it would be Robinson.

"How do you bet that much?" I asked my friend.

"I don't know," he answered. "That's what I'm trying to find out."

"Do you have any trouble betting on the horse races, since the Kefauver show?"

"Not much, but now the bookmaker has to call you. He does daily, and they pay up all right."

Our last stop was to see an old man who should be cutting out paper dolls in a sanitarium, except he can afford an attendant. As he turned his back, the nurse nodded to me knowingly and made a gesture to indicate her patient was off his trolley. When she went out, he said,

"She's crazy."

Maybe they both were right. In fact as I read the newspapers nowadays reporting the sad state of the world and realize the stupidity of human beings, I think we all are.

Yankees Regain Lead; Giants Bag Two, Trail By 4½ Games

Bobby Feller Kayoed In 5th By New York

68,760 See Reynolds Win, 5-1; DiMaggio's Triple Is Big Blow

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)— Allie Reynolds' five-hit pitching boosted the New York Yankees into a three-percentage point lead today in the American League race as they whipped Cleveland 5 to 1 before 68,760 fans.

Knocking Bobby Feller from the box in the fifth inning, the Yanks evicted the Indians from first place after a six-day stay.

Reynolds was in trouble only in one inning — the fifth — as he registered his fifth victory of the season over the Tribe. He gave up two hits and two walks as the Tribe got its only run and loaded the bases with one out. Reynolds worked his way out of the tough predicament by forcing Larry Doby to hit into an inning-ending double play.

Joe DiMaggio drove Feller out of the box with a two-run triple in the Yankees' half of the fifth to paste the 22-game winning righthander with his eighth defeat.

The triumph enabled the Yankees to maintain their two and a half game margin over the third place Red Sox who nipped the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. Box:

Bill Klem, 77, Big League Umpire For 36 Years, Dies

BILL KLEM

Colorful Arbiter Retired In 1941

MIAMI, Sept. 16—(AP)—Bill Klem, one of the most famed of all baseball umpires, died today of a heart ailment.

The "Old Arbiter," as he was widely known, told his lawyer a week ago, "this is my last game and I'm going to strike out this time."

The 77-year-old baseball figure died in Doctors' Hospital, where he had been a patient since Aug. 11. At his bedside was his widow, Marie, his only immediate survivor.

Retired in 1941

Klem served as a National League umpire for 36 years, retiring from the diamond in 1941. He then became umpire-in-chief of the league, emerging occasionally to officiate at a charity or exhibition game.

He stood behind home plate for the last time in a pre-season game in the spring of 1944. He wanted to prove that "perfect eyesight isn't the major factor in calling 'em right."

It wasn't until after that game that he told anyone he had become blind in one eye.

"Nobody noticed the difference in my officiating," he later recalled, "and it bore out my point—that being in position on top of the play and a few other factors are as important, maybe more important, than perfect vision."

Klem, who set a record by officiating in 18 world series games, entered baseball when it was a rough and tumble affair.

Many baseball men believe that Klem did as much as anyone in the game to raise umpiring to its present level.

Stamped Out Rowdyism

Klem himself often said that baseball became the popular sport it is today only after umpires stamped out rowdyism.

Suffering from a heart ailment the past two or three years, Klem had lived quietly with his wife in Miami Beach. He spent much of his time answering hundreds of letters, which asked his opinion on rulings made in baseball games.

One of his long time friends, Cullen Cain, retired sportswriter and former public relations director for the National League, said of Klem:

"He probably threw more players out of games than any other umpire in history, but they all loved and respected him, no matter how angry they might become."

Never Called One Wrong

Klem, one of the most colorful umpires of his time, often was quoted as saying he never "called one wrong" in his life. He later amended that to say that when he called a play he knew he was right "in my heart."

Born William J. Klem in Rochester, N. Y., he played briefily for a baseball team in his home town. He soon switched to umpiring and officiated in Connecticut and New York State League before going to the American Association in 1904. The next year he joined the National League.

He will be buried here Wednesday morning after a requiem mass at St. Patrick's Church in Miami Beach.

Sentinels Fail To Equal City Mark 2nd Time

Linsly Winner, 14-13; AHS "19" Still Stands

It's out of the frying pan into the fire as far as the Fort Hill High School football team is concerned.

Saturday night, Coach Bill Hahn's Sentinels' saw their 18-game winning streak snapped at the local stadium by Linsly Military Institute, of Wheeling, W. Va., in a 14-13 thriller.

It looks like more trouble ahead Friday night as Fort Hill is called upon to face West Fairmont High School at East-West Stadium, Fairmont, and according to word from the West Virginia mining community Coach "Biz" Dawson's Polar Bears are the "best since the 1946 state championship eleven."

The Bears whipped Rivesville, 32-0, and they are billed to play off Saturday night's postponed game with Farmington tonight. Farmington, incidentally, is scheduled to play at Romney High, November 3.

Miss Record 2nd Time

For the second time in four years, Fort Hill saw its victory streak nipped at 18 games, just one game short of the city's all-time record hung up by Allegany High elevens in 1941-42-43. The Campers won 18 straight under Herman Ball in 1941 and 1942 and ran the string to 19 when Walter Bowers took over in 1943.

Fort Hill's previous long run was 18 in 1947 and 1948. A 6-6 tie with Allegany on Turkey Day (1948) snapped the win string. Fort Hill went through 20 games without a loss by taking the 1949 opener but the tie cracked the string of consecutive wins.

A crowd of 5,500 saw the Sentinels go down to defeat Saturday in a game that had the spectators on their toes until the final whistle.

End Robert Ray's 65-yard sprint produced the first touchdown of the game and Edwards place kicked the point that gave Linsly a 7-0 edge in the first period. Dick Beard raced over from the 15 and kicked the point to tie it up at 7-7 in the second stanza. The Sentinels forged ahead in the third period, 13-7, on

Keyser Loses To Hyndman In Playoffs, 2-1

Cook's Infield Hit Decides Tilt; Victor Will Play Westvaco

Hyndman's Firemen earned the right to battle it out with Westvaco in the finals of the playoffs in the Bi-State Baseball League by defeating the Keyser Firemen yesterday in Hyndman by the score of 2-1.

The Pennsylvanians won the series, three games to one. Hyndman defeated Keyser on the latter's field Saturday, 10-6, cracking Carl Wilfong's 15-game winning streak.

Lefty Kuhn, Keyser twirler, drove in the West Virginians' initial tally in the fifth with a timely single but Hyndman came back to mark up the tying and winning tallies in the 6th.

Manager William "Bee" Scarpelli was safe on an error. He advanced to second on a wild pitch, third on a wild pitch and scored on Kuhn's balk. After Geist fanned and "Pete" Deremer went out, Sloey walked, moved to third on Stevens' single and scored what proved to be the winning marker on Bob Cook's high bounding infield bingle.

Keyser threatened in the 9th when Manager Bill See doubled and Barnhouse beat out an infield out. Tommy Burns, who relieved Bill Geist of Altoona in the 7th, forced Raines to pop to Bobby Shaffer, third sacker. Then Gene Stair made a sensational play in left field, crashing into the fence to take a drive off the bat of Ted Lauer.

Hyndman collected nine hits, three of which were credited to "Mutt" Kuhn. Lauer and Barnhouse rapped a pair of singles apiece and Earl Hess smacked a two-bagger.

Sloey obtained two of Hyndman's six safeties.

"Pete" Deremer played classy ball at short for the winners making several nice stops of throws of hard hit balls.

Geist got credit for the win.

Plans for the final best-of-five series will be made at a meeting to be held Tuesday.

Westvaco reached the finals Saturday by blasting the Frostburg Demons on Saturday in Westernport by the score of 12-6. "Woody" Woodson was returned the winner over Jack Meyer. The Papermakers won the series in three straight contests. Yesterday's score:

KEYSER .... 000 010 000—1 9 3

Cary Middlecoff Wins By Stroke

Edges Jerry Barber For $2,400 Prize

BALTIMRE, Sept. 16 (AP) — Cary Middlecoff of Memphis recovered remarkably on the last nine holes to win the Eastern Open Golf Tourney today, even though he drove out of bounds on the last hole.

Middlecoff finished with a one-under par 71 for a 72-hole total of 279, nine below par for Mount Pleasant.

The winner wasn't decided until the last shot of the tourney by little Jerry Barber of Pasadena, Calif. When he failed to make a 15-foot putt for a birdie, it left him one stroke behind Middlecoff for the $2,400 first prize.

The 30-year-old Middlecoff emerged the winner in a blanket finish. At times, Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., was in the lead during the final round, and Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., had a chance.

They both killed their chances on the same hole — the 201-yard par three 17th. They each took fives in similar manner, missing the green and taking two shots to get on before holing out.

Up until then, Heafner and Middlecoff were even and Barber was a stroke behind, the way he had started the final round in relation to Middlecoff.

In fact, Middlecoff, Barber and Haefner finished in the same order in which they started the last round as all shot 71's.

Turnesa who wound up with a 69, had to share fourth place with Jim Ferrier of San Francisco who came rushing in with a 67 for a total of 282. Lloyd Mangrum, last year's winner of the Eastern with the same score as Middlecoff, finished tied for seventh at 287.

Steelers Smear Green Bay, 35-6

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers smeared the Green Bay Packers, 35-6 today in a National Football League exhibition game before 13,458 fans.

The Steelers capitalized on two fumbles in the second half, picking them up for scoring sprints of 62 and 56 yards.

Ray Matthews sewed it up with an 85-yard scoring run late in the fourth quarter. George Papach made it a rout by plunging the final yard for a touchdown with 15 seconds left.

Fullback Jerry Nuzum plunged nine yards for the only first half touchdown and Joe Geri booted the first of his five conversions to give the Steelers a 7-0 halftime lead.

Ponton And Roby Advance In CCC Golf Tournament

Play Bastian, Topper In Fall Semi-Finals

Russell Ponton and Clifton Van Roby, who won and lost in the finals of the spring handicap tournament, forged to the semi-finals yesterday in the Cumberland Country Club's fall championship golf tournament.

Ponton eliminated James W. Beacham, 5 and 4, and will play Max Bastian, defending champion, in the next match. Roby downed Dick Zembower, 7 and 6, and earned the right to battle John Topper in the semi-finals.

George Schwarzenbach advanced to the finals of the first flight by defeating George Young, 1 up, in 18 holes. He will play the winner of the Dr. John K. Rozum-Dr. Karl P. Heintz match.

In the semi-finals of the second flight, Fritz Eiler will play the winner of the John Mosner-Sam Gantt match and Benny LaNeve will oppose Stanley Jacobson.

George Bottorf defeated Ray Hollandsworth, 1 up in 18 holes, and will play George Thomason in the third flight semi-finals. George Millenson moved into the semi-final bracket with Charles Pinton by eliminating Keith Sisk, 1 up, 18 holes.

Tom Kearney defeated Albert Doub, 4 and 2, and Ken Morgan won over Frank McCagh, 1 up, 18 holes, in the fourth flight. In the semi-finals Kearney opposes Bill Prichard and Morgan tests John Moberly.

Louis Young defeated Harry Kauffman, 8 and 6, to challenge Earl Gower in the semi-finals of the fifth flight. In the other semi-final Jack Waugh plays Ed Mullan.

Fifty-six golfers already have signed up for the Presidents-Vice Presidents match set for October 6 and 7. One hundred are expected to compete. The losers play hosts to the winners at a dinner October 10.

Red Sox Edge Pale Hose, 5-4

Kiely And Rosar Star In Victory

BOSTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Lefty Leo Kiely, ignoring his shaky infield, put the Boston Red Sox back on the pennant tracks again today by topping the Chicago White Sox, 5-4, with a sparkling six-hit pitching performance. Half of the Chicago counters resulted from miscues.

Johnny Pesky registered the deciding tally against righthander Ken Holcombe in the eighth inning by drawing a pass, advancing two bases as Ted Williams grounded out to short rightfield and romping in on Clyde Volmer's single.

Catcher Buddy Rosar put the Red Sox into a 4-3 lead in the seventh with his first homer of the season. Don Lenhardt homered for the first Chicago run in the second inning.

Rosar also accounted for the first two runs by doubling to right field in the fifth, after Dropo and Fred Hatfield lashed consecutative singles. Box:

Moorefield Is 4-3 Victor Over Moose Tossers

Hott's Bunt In 9th Gives Garrett Win Over Norman Geatz

Moorefield drew first blood in its best-of-three games Interstate Baseball League final playoff series with the Loyal Order of Moose by defeating the circuit's pennant winners yesterday at Moorefield, W. Va., by the score of 4-3.

Warden Hott's squeeze play bunt which scored Newhouse in the last of the 9th decided a pitching duel in which Junior "Lefty" Garrett was returned the winner over Norman Geatz.

With the score knotted at 3-3 in the ninth, Newhouse singled and moved to second on a wild pitch. Both runners were safe on Don Smith's fielder's choice. Thomas was intentionally passed, loading the bases. Then Hott laid down the bunt that sent Newhouse over the platter.

Cumberland led 3-1 until the home half of the 8th when Bill Harman belted a two-run triple to tie the score. Bobby Thomas had singled and Warden Hott got a life on an error before Harman connected.

Each pitcher yielded eight hits. Garrett fanned eight and Geatz struck out four.

New house headed the Moorefield attack with three singles, Harman tripled and Garrett doubled. Mickey Clark and Al Martin shared four of the Moose team's safeties.

The game was played in the fast time of one hour, 45 minutes.

Penn Avenue Field will be the scene of the second game on Saturday at 4 p. m. If the series goes three games a coin will be tossed to determine the site next Sunday.

In Saturday games, the Moose ousted Centerville, 5-0, and Moorefield downed Romney, 9-7. Both were semi-final playoff contests and were final games of five-game series. Yesterday's score:

MOOSE .... 100 002 000—3 8 2
MOOREFIELD .... 001 000 021—4 8 1

Brewers Cop Series

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 16 (INS) — The Milwaukee Brewers made quick work today of the Kansas City Blues, beating the Blues, 11 to 3, in the final game of their American Association playoff series.

The Brewers took the series, four games to one.

Braves, Reds Divide

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16 (AP) — Ken Raffensberger's fifth shutout of the season enabled the Cincinnati Reds to gain an even split in their doubleheader today with the Boston Braves. The Braves took the first game, 11 to 5, to give Warren Spahn his 21st triumph of the season, but Raffensberger allowed only five hits as Cincinnati took the windup, 4 to 0. Scores:

Dodgers Top Chicago, 6-1

Labine Bags 4th Win, Hodges Belts Homer

CHICAGO, Sept. 16—(AP)—Gil Hodges' two-run homer was one of five hits collected by the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers who cashed in on two glaring Chicago Cub errors today for a simple 6-1 triumph.

Clem Labine, recalled from St. Paul in July, gained his fourth straight victory against no defeats by spacing six blows, two of them doubles by Frank Baumholtz. Labine has allowed only four runs in his four triumphs.

The floundering Cubs fell completely apart in the eighth inning much to the chagrin of 33,741 Wrigley Field customers.

The Dodgers, keeping their long stride in the National League pennant rush over the second-place New York Giants, scored three times in the fateful eighth to assure Bob Kelly's defeat after seven wins. Box:

Cards Trim Phils

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16 (AP) — Stan Musial paced the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9 to 2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies today, slamming out a triple, single and double in that order. Bill Nicholson scored the first run off Redbird hurler Gerald Staley, a third-inning homer.

A pair of errors by Catcher Del Wilber and three wild pitches by Karl Drews helped the St. Louis club along.

The Phils outhit the cards 14 to 13 but Staley kept the Phils' hits scattered enough for his 17th victory this year. Box:

Jansen, Maglie Register Dual Win Over Bucs

New Yorkers Score 7-1, 6-4 Triumphs, Kiner Belts No. 40

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16 (INS) — Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie kept the fading pennant hopes of the New York Giants alive today by pitching them to a 7 to 1 and 6 to 4 sweep of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The double triumph, coming with a Brooklyn victory over Chicago in a single game, reduced the Dodger National League lead to 4½ games.

Jansen won his 19th game in the opener, allowing only three hits, including Ralph Kiner's 40th homer which ruined his shutout.

Maglie won his 21st game in the nightcap although he blew a three run lead in the eighth inning. Homers by Bob Thomson, his second of the day and 29th of the season, and Al Dark, had helped give Maglie this cushion.

The Giants salted the nightcap away with a two run tear in the ninth off reliever Murry Dickson. Box:

Wilson Joins Yanks

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — The New York Yankees today added outfielder Archie Wilson to their roster, in order to improve their righthanded pinch-hitting department. The new player, who was with Buffalo of the International League this season, reported today. The Bisons were eliminated from the I. L. playoffs last night by Montreal.

Wilson, who was voted most valuable player in the league, hit .316, batted in 108 runs and belted 26 homers.

68,760 See Reynolds Win, 5-1; DiMaggio's Triple Is Big Blow

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)— Allie Reynolds' five-hit pitching boosted the New York Yankees into a three-percentage point lead today in the American League race as they whipped Cleveland 5 to 1 before 68,760 fans.

Knocking Bobby Feller from the box in the fifth inning, the Yanks evicted the Indians from first place after a six-day stay.

Reynolds was in trouble only in one inning — the fifth — as he registered his fifth victory of the season over the Tribe. He gave up two hits and two walks as the Tribe got its only run and loaded the bases with one out. Reynolds worked his way out of the tough predicament by forcing Larry Doby to hit into an inning-ending double play.

Joe DiMaggio drove Feller out of the box with a two-run triple in the Yankees' half of the fifth to paste the 22-game winning righthander with his eighth defeat.

The triumph enabled the Yankees to maintain their two and a half game margin over the third place Red Sox who nipped the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. Box:

Bill Klem, 77, Big League Umpire For 36 Years, Dies

BILL KLEM

Colorful Arbiter Retired In 1941

MIAMI, Sept. 16—(AP)—Bill Klem, one of the most famed of all baseball umpires, died today of a heart ailment.

The "Old Arbiter," as he was widely known, told his lawyer a week ago, "this is my last game and I'm going to strike out this time."

The 77-year-old baseball figure died in Doctors' Hospital, where he had been a patient since Aug. 11. At his bedside was his widow, Marie, his only immediate survivor.

Retired in 1941

Klem served as a National League umpire for 36 years, retiring from the diamond in 1941. He then became umpire-in-chief of the league, emerging occasionally to officiate at a charity or exhibition game.

He stood behind home plate for the last time in a pre-season game in the spring of 1944. He wanted to prove that "perfect eyesight isn't the major factor in calling 'em right."

It wasn't until after that game that he told anyone he had become blind in one eye.

"Nobody noticed the difference in my officiating," he later recalled, "and it bore out my point—that being in position on top of the play and a few other factors are as important, maybe more important, than perfect vision."

Klem, who set a record by officiating in 18 world series games, entered baseball when it was a rough and tumble affair.

Many baseball men believe that Klem did as much as anyone in the game to raise umpiring to its present level.

Stamped Out Rowdyism

Klem himself often said that baseball became the popular sport it is today only after umpires stamped out rowdyism.

Suffering from a heart ailment the past two or three years, Klem had lived quietly with his wife in Miami Beach. He spent much of his time answering hundreds of letters, which asked his opinion on rulings made in baseball games.

One of his long time friends, Cullen Cain, retired sportswriter and former public relations director for the National League, said of Klem:

"He probably threw more players out of games than any other umpire in history, but they all loved and respected him, no matter how angry they might become."

Never Called One Wrong

Klem, one of the most colorful umpires of his time, often was quoted as saying he never "called one wrong" in his life. He later amended that to say that when he called a play he knew he was right "in my heart."

Born William J. Klem in Rochester, N. Y., he played briefly for a baseball team in his home town. He soon switched to umpiring and officiated in Connecticut and New York State League before going to the American Association in 1904. The next year he joined the National League.

He will be buried here Wednesday morning after a requiem mass at St. Patrick's Church in Miami Beach.

Linsly Winner, 14-13; AHS "19" Still Stands

It's out of the frying pan into the fire as far as the Fort Hill High School football team is concerned.

Saturday night, Coach Bill Hahn's Sentinels' saw their 18-game winning streak snapped at the local stadium by Linsly Military Institute, of Wheeling, W. Va., in a 14-13 thriller.

It looks like more trouble ahead Friday night as Fort Hill is called upon to face West Fairmont High School at East-West Stadium, Fairmont, and according to word from the West Virginia mining community Coach "Biz" Dawson's Polar Bears are the "best since the 1946 state championship eleven."

The Bears whipped Rivesville, 32-0, and they are billed to play off Saturday night's postponed game with Farmington tonight. Farmington, incidentally, is scheduled to play at Romney High, November 3.

Miss Record 2nd Time

For the second time in four years, Fort Hill saw its victory streak nipped at 18 games, just one game short of the city's all-time record hung up by Allegany High elevens in 1941-42-43. The Campers won 18 straight under Herman Ball in 1941 and 1942 and ran the string to 19 when Walter Bowers took over in 1943.

Fort Hill's previous long run was 18 in 1947 and 1948. A 6-6 tie with Allegany on Turkey Day (1948) snapped the win string. Fort Hill went through 20 games without a loss by taking the 1949 opener but the tie cracked the string of consecutive wins.

A crowd of 5,500 saw the Sentinels go down to defeat Saturday in a game that had the spectators on their toes until the final whistle.

End Robert Ray's 65-yard sprint produced the first touchdown of the game and Edwards place kicked the point that gave Linsly a 7-0 edge in the first period. Dick Beard raced over from the 15 and kicked the point to tie it up at 7-7 in the second stanza. The Sentinels forged ahead in the third period, 13-7, on

Cook's Infield Hit Decides Tilt; Victor Will Play Westvaco

Hyndman's Firemen earned the right to battle it out with Westvaco in the finals of the playoffs in the Bi-State Baseball League by defeating the Keyser Firemen yesterday in Hyndman by the score of 2-1.

The Pennsylvanians won the series, three games to one. Hyndman defeated Keyser on the latter's field Saturday, 10-6, cracking Carl Wilfong's 15-game winning streak.

Lefty Kuhn, Keyser twirler, drove in the West Virginians' initial tally in the fifth with a timely single but Hyndman came back to mark up the tying and winning tallies in the 6th.

Manager William "Bee" Scarpelli was safe on an error. He advanced to second on a wild pitch, third on a wild pitch and scored on Kuhn's balk. After Geist fanned and "Pete" Deremer went out, Sloey walked, moved to third on Stevens' single and scored what proved to be the winning marker on Bob Cook's high bounding infield bingle.

Keyser threatened in the 9th when Manager Bill See doubled and Barnhouse beat out an infield out. Tommy Burns, who relieved Bill Geist of Altoona in the 7th, forced Raines to pop to Bobby Shaffer, third sacker. Then Gene Stair made a sensational play in left field, crashing into the fence to take a drive off the bat of Ted Lauer.

Hyndman collected nine hits, three of which were credited to "Mutt" Kuhn. Lauer and Barnhouse rapped a pair of singles apiece and Earl Hess smacked a two-bagger.

Sloey obtained two of Hyndman's six safeties.

"Pete" Deremer played classy ball at short for the winners making several nice stops of throws of hard hit balls.

Geist got credit for the win.

Plans for the final best-of-five series will be made at a meeting to be held Tuesday.

Westvaco reached the finals Saturday by blasting the Frostburg Demons on Saturday in Westernport by the score of 12-6. "Woody" Woodson was returned the winner over Jack Meyer. The Papermakers won the series in three straight contests. Yesterday's score:

KEYSER .... 000 010 000—1 9 3
HYNDMAN .... 000 002 00x—2 6 2

Kuhn and Barnhouse. Geist, T. Burns (7) and Sloey.

Edges Jerry Barber For $2,400 Prize

BALTIMRE, Sept. 16 (AP) — Cary Middlecoff of Memphis recovered remarkably on the last nine holes to win the Eastern Open Golf Tourney today, even though he drove out of bounds on the last hole.

Middlecoff finished with a one-under par 71 for a 72-hole total of 279, nine below par for Mount Pleasant.

The winner wasn't decided until the last shot of the tourney by little Jerry Barber of Pasadena, Calif. When he failed to make a 15-foot putt for a birdie, it left him one stroke behind Middlecoff for the $2,400 first prize.

The 30-year-old Middlecoff emerged the winner in a blanket finish. At times, Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., was in the lead during the final round, and Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., had a chance.

They both killed their chances on the same hole — the 201-yard par three 17th. They each took fives in similar manner, missing the green and taking two shots to get on before holing out.

Up until then, Heafner and Middlecoff were even and Barber was a stroke behind, the way he had started the final round in relation to Middlecoff.

In fact, Middlecoff, Barber and Haefner finished in the same order in which they started the last round as all shot 71's.

Turnesa who wound up with a 69, had to share fourth place with Jim Ferrier of San Francisco who came rushing in with a 67 for a total of 282. Lloyd Mangrum, last year's winner of the Eastern with the same score as Middlecoff, finished tied for seventh at 287.

Steelers Smear Green Bay, 35-6

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers smeared the Green Bay Packers, 35-6 today in a National Football League exhibition game before 13,458 fans.

The Steelers capitalized on two fumbles in the second half, picking them up for scoring sprints of 62 and 56 yards.

Ray Matthews sewed it up with an 85-yard scoring run late in the fourth quarter. George Papach made it a rout by plunging the final yard for a touchdown with 15 seconds left.

Fullback Jerry Nuzum plunged nine yards for the only first half touchdown and Joe Geri booted the first of his five conversions to give the Steelers a 7-0 halftime lead.

LaVale, Corgs Tangle Today

The second game of the County Softball League series between LaVale and Corriganville will be played today at 6 p. m. at Corriganville.

LaVale won the opener of the best-of-five series last week by the score of 8-4.

Glen Kauffman and Junior Brelsford are expected to work on the firing line today.

Play Bastian, Topper In Fall Semi-Finals

Russell Ponton and Clifton Van Roby, who won and lost in the finals of the spring handicap tournament, forged to the semi-finals yesterday in the Cumberland Country Club's fall championship golf tournament.

Ponton eliminated James W. Beacham, 5 and 4, and will play Max Bastian, defending champion, in the next match. Roby downed Dick Zembower, 7 and 6, and earned the right to battle John Topper in the semi-finals.

George Schwarzenbach advanced to the finals of the first flight by defeating George Young, 1 up, in 18 holes. He will play the winner of the Dr. John K. Rozum-Dr. Karl P. Heintz match.

In the semi-finals of the second flight, Fritz Eiler will play the winner of the John Mosner-Sam Gantt match and Benny LaNeve will oppose Stanley Jacobson.

George Bottorf defeated Ray Hollandsworth, 1 up in 18 holes, and will play George Thomason in the third flight semi-finals. George Millenson moved into the semi-final bracket with Charles Pinton by eliminating Keith Sisk, 1 up, 18 holes.

Tom Kearney defeated Albert Doub, 4 and 2, and Ken Morgan won over Frank McCagh, 1 up, 18 holes, in the fourth flight. In the semi-finals Kearney opposes Bill Prichard and Morgan tests John Moberly.

Louis Young defeated Harry Kauffman, 8 and 6, to challenge Earl Gower in the semi-finals of the fifth flight. In the other semi-final Jack Waugh plays Ed Mullan.

Fifty-six golfers already have signed up for the Presidents-Vice Presidents match set for October 6 and 7. One hundred are expected to compete. The losers play hosts to the winners at a dinner October 10.

Red Sox Edge Pale Hose, 5-4

Kiely And Rosar Star In Victory

BOSTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Lefty Leo Kiely, ignoring his shaky infield, put the Boston Red Sox back on the pennant tracks again today by topping the Chicago White Sox, 5-4, with a sparkling six-hit pitching performance. Half of the Chicago counters resulted from miscues.

Johnny Pesky registered the deciding tally against righthander Ken Holcombe in the eighth inning by drawing a pass, advancing two bases as Ted Williams grounded out to short rightfield and romping in on Clyde Volmer's single.

Catcher Buddy Rosar put the Red Sox into a 4-3 lead in the seventh with his first homer of the season. Don Lenhardt homered for the first Chicago run in the second inning.

Rosar also accounted for the first two runs by doubling to right field in the fifth, after Dropo and Fred Hatfield lashed consecutative singles. Box:

Moorefield Is 4-3 Victor Over Moose Tossers

Hott's Bunt In 9th Gives Garrett Win Over Norman Geatz

Moorefield drew first blood in its best-of-three games Interstate Baseball League final playoff series with the Loyal Order of Moose by defeating the circuit's pennant winners yesterday at Moorefield, W. Va., by the score of 4-3.

Warden Hott's squeeze play bunt which scored Newhouse in the last of the 9th decided a pitching duel in which Junior "Lefty" Garrett was returned the winner over Norman Geatz.

With the score knotted at 3-3 in the ninth, Newhouse singled and moved to second on a wild pitch. Both runners were safe on Don Smith's fielder's choice. Thomas was intentionally passed, loading the bases. Then Hott laid down the bunt that sent Newhouse over the platter.

Cumberland led 3-1 until the home half of the 8th when Bill Harman belted a two-run triple to tie the score. Bobby Thomas had singled and Warden Hott got a life on an error before Harman connected.

Each pitcher yielded eight hits. Garrett fanned eight and Geatz struck out four.

New house headed the Moorefield attack with three singles, Harman tripled and Garrett doubled. Mickey Clark and Al Martin shared four of the Moose team's safeties.

The game was played in the fast time of one hour, 45 minutes.

Penn Avenue Field will be the scene of the second game on Saturday at 4 p. m. If the series goes three games a coin will be tossed to determine the site next Sunday.

In Saturday games, the Moose ousted Centerville, 5-0, and Moorefield downed Romney, 9-7. Both were semi-final playoff contests and were final games of five-game series. Yesterday's score:

MOOSE .... 100 002 000—3 8 2
MOOREFIELD .... 001 000 021—4 8 1

Dodgers Top Chicago, 6-1

Labine Bags 4th Win, Hodges Belts Homer

CHICAGO, Sept. 16—(AP)—Gil Hodges' two-run homer was one of five hits collected by the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers who cashed in on two glaring Chicago Cub errors today for a simple 6-1 triumph.

Clem Labine, recalled from St. Paul in July, gained his fourth straight victory against no defeats by spacing six blows, two of them doubles by Frank Baumholtz. Labine has allowed only four runs in his four triumphs.

The floundering Cubs fell completely apart in the eighth inning much to the chagrin of 33,741 Wrigley Field customers.

The Dodgers, keeping their long stride in the National League pennant rush over the second-place New York Giants, scored three times in the fateful eighth to assure Bob Kelly's defeat after seven wins. Box:

Cards Trim Phils

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16 (AP) — Stan Musial paced the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9 to 2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies today, slamming out a triple, single and double in that order. Bill Nicholson scored the first run off Redbird hurler Gerald Staley, a third-inning homer.

A pair of errors by Catcher Del Wilber and three wild pitches by Karl Drews helped the St. Louis club along.

The Phils outhit the cards 14 to 13 but Staley kept the Phils' hits scattered enough for his 17th victory this year. Box:

Jansen, Maglie Register Dual Win Over Bucs

New Yorkers Score 7-1, 6-4 Triumphs, Kiner Belts No. 40

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16 (INS) — Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie kept the fading pennant hopes of the New York Giants alive today by pitching them to a 7 to 1 and 6 to 4 sweep of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The double triumph, coming with a Brooklyn victory over Chicago in a single game, reduced the Dodger National League lead to 4½ games.

Jansen won his 19th game in the opener, allowing only three hits, including Ralph Kiner's 40th homer which ruined his shutout.

Maglie won his 21st game in the nightcap although he blew a three run lead in the eighth inning. Homers by Bob Thomson, his second of the day and 29th of the season, and Al Dark, had helped give Maglie this cushion.

The Giants salted the nightcap away with a two run tear in the ninth off reliever Murry Dickson. Box:

Wilson Joins Yanks

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — The New York Yankees today added outfielder Archie Wilson to their roster, in order to improve their righthanded pinch-hitting department. The new player, who was with Buffalo of the International League this season, reported today. The Bisons were eliminated from the I. L. playoffs last night by Montreal.

Wilson, who was voted most valuable player in the league, hit .316, batted in 108 runs and belted 26 homers.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of James R. Laffey, Jr., who lost his life on Peleliu, Padau Islands, September 16th, 1944.

My noble son a gallant youth,
He marched away to war;
A brave defender of the truth,
To die on fields afar.
Yet he is not dead,
His soul still lives on
In peace and unafraid;
His battles o'er and victory won,
He lives for evermore.

Sadly missed by his grandmother,
Jessie Kalbaugh.

ROBY, John O.—In loving memory of our father and father-in-law who departed this life eight years ago today, September 17, 1943.
Rest in Peace, Dear Father.
Sadly missed by his daughter and son-in-law

In Memoriam

In loving memory of James R. Laffey, Jr., who lost his life on Peleliu, Padau Islands, September 16th, 1944.

My noble son a gallant youth,
He marched away to war;
A brave defender of the truth,
To die on fields afar.
Yet he is not dead,
His soul still lives on
In peace and unafraid;
His battles o'er and victory won,
He lives for evermore.

Sadly missed by his grandmother,
Jessie Kalbaugh.

ROBY, John O.—In loving memory of our father and father-in-law who departed this life eight years ago today, September 17, 1943.

Rest in Peace, Dear Father.
Sadly missed by his daughter and son-in-law
DEE ROBY THOMPSON

Rocky Graziano To Meet Janiro

Sala, DeJohn Test New Ring Padding Tonight

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Rocky Graziano, the former middleweight king who may get next crack at Sugar Ray Robinson, meets Tony Janiro at Detroit's Olympia Wednesday in the standout bout of the week.

It will be the third meeting between the Rock and the baby-faced battler from Youngstown, O. They fought a 10-round draw at New York March 31, 1950 and Graziano won a close decision last October. Both previous fights were at Madison Square Garden.

If Graziano polishes off Janiro, he may be matched with Robinson for a 160-pound title match at Chicago in mid-February.

Syracuse opens its new War Memorial auditorium tomorrow night with a 10-round middleweight match between Joey De John of Syracuse and Lee Sala of Donora, Pa. It's a rematch of a sensational 1949 bout won by Sala.

A new ring padding perfected at Cornell University, will get its first test by the New York State Athletic Commission in the Syracuse show.

Madison Square Garden gives Chico Vejar, unbeaten Stamford, Conn. schoolboy his first big time main go Friday night in a welter 10 with Eddie Compo of Waterbury, Conn.

Next Sunday at Berlin, Jack Gardner will defend his European heavyweight crown against Germany's Hein Ten Hoff in 15 rounds.

Alison Attlee Engaged

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Alison Elizabeth Attlee, 21-year-old daughter of the British prime minister, was engaged today to marry her brother's boss, Capt. Richard Lionel Davis.

Malaya Independence Party Is Organized

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Sept. 16 (AP)—Representatives of all races and creeds in Malaya met in a hotel here today and organized a new political party which aims at getting independence for this rich rubber and tin country.

Malays, Chinese, Indians, and Eurasians joined the veteran Malay leader, Data Onn Bin Jaafar, in forming the independence Malaya party.

Night Class To Open At Bruce High

WESTERNPORT — Enrollment for adult night classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday at Bruce High School from 7 to 9 p. m.

Courses to be offered this year will include beginning and advanced sewing, typing, shorthand and blueprint reading. Any other courses in which fifteen or more persons are interested will be taught.

Sentinels Fail

Harold Hull's td but Beard's kick for the point went wide of the target. In the final heat, Jerry Comer made it 13-all by scoring from the one and he ran the extra point which decided the issue.

The first downs were 16-3 in favor of Fort Hill. The Sentinels also out rushed the Cadets, 264 to 58 net yards.

AHS Beats Beall

At Frostburg, Allegany High School lanuched its 1951 campaign with a 36-6 victory over Beall High before 3,500 fans. It was the fifth successive year that AHS had beaten the Mountaineers.

Allegany scored in every period and the touchdowns were credited to Sisk, Eirich, Hager, Easton and Hook with Dick Widdows booting four of the extra points. A safety netted the Campers two points. Hess scored Beall's lone touchdown in the final stanza.

AHS reeled off 15 first downs to Beall's 9 and piled up 277 net yards to Beall's 49 on the ground. The Campers completed one of five passes for 12 yards while Beall clicksix times in 17 tries for 96 yards.

Potomac State Victor

Potomac State of Keyser opened the season with a 13-0 victory over the Pioneers at Glenville. Jack Matkowsky of Clayton, N. J., scored both touchdowns for Coach Dana Lough's Catamounts. Richard Poe of Grafton made the conversion. The Cats held a 10-7 edge in first downs.

by the United Nations command Sept. 10. The Allies admitted that a plane mistakenly strafed the Kaesong area. No damage was reported.

The Allied high command said the incident resulted from faulty navigation.

Thorough Investigation

"Each of the allegations contained in your letter has been thoroughly investigated," Ridgway messaged today. "These investigations established that the forces of the United Nations command were not, I repeat not, involved in any violation of the neutral zone except for the one incident occuring on 10 September.

"These thorough investigations, the results of which have been furnished to you previously, demonstrate the objective and responsible attitude of the UNC (United Nations command) towards violations of the agreements concerning the neutral zone."

Liaison officers at the U. N. command advance camp at Munsan were instructed to leave for Panmunjom to deliver Ridgway's reply.

Braves Sweep Pen-Mar Games

Mt. Savage Is Victor Over Eckhart, 10-1

The Braves of Mt. Savage made it four straight wins in the Pen-Mar Baseball League's playoff series by defeating Eckhart yesterday at Eckhart by the score of 10-1.

Eckhart dropped the series opener last week, 12-2. Mt. Savage eliminated Wellersburg in two games, 4-1 and 7-3.

Bob "Lefty" Crump received credit for yesterday's win while in the role of relief pitcher. It was his third straight pitching triumph of the series. The Braves' southpaw relieved Ralph Dickel in the 6th after Eckhart had knotted the count at 1-1 and started the winning rally by drawing a pass in the 7th. Blank's double and singles by Cassidy, Deffenbaugh and Goss featured the 5-run outburst. Hits by Best, Paul Dickel and Cunningham coupled with two passes netted the Braves four runs in the ninth.

Paul Dickel smacked three singles to lead the Mt. Savage swatsmiths while Cunningham played a bangup game at the hot corner for the winners. Watkins hit safely twice for Eckhart. Box:

Truck Weight Checker Held As Bribe-Taker

SALISBURY, Md., Sept. 16 (AP) — The head of a State Roads Commission truck-weight checking crew was held under $5,000 bond tonight, charged with accepting a bribe from a defendant in an overloaded truck case.

The officer was identified as Louis J. Parsons, about 34, Salisbury, in a warrant sworn out by Wicomico State's Attorney Hamilton P. Fox.

Parsons headed a crew which operates truck-weighing scales in an effort to check on axle loads of trucks. A new Maryland law provides for stiff penalties for overweights.

Parsons was arrested in his home in Salisbury Saturday night, Fox said, shortly after taking $250 in marked bills from Mrs. David Hancock of Stockton, wife of a man who had appealed a fine of $1,000 for refusing to have his truck weighed.

Three Surviving Quads Still On Critical List

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Three of Baltimore's "six-minute quads" were still on the critical list at City Hospital tonight.

Floria, the third of the four to be born Friday night, died yesterday.

Mrs. Susie Avance, 31 year-old negro widow, gave birth to the quadruplets in six minutes of delivery time after only 32 minutes of labor.

Oakland Grabs Series Opener

Glaze Turns Back Terra Alta, 6-2

TERRA ALTA, W. Va., Sept. 16—Oakland's Amvets scored all of their runs in the first three innings today to defeat Terra Alta in the opener of the best-of-three series for the championship of the Mountain State Baseball League. The score was 6-2.

The second half champions of the split season race, rapped two Terra Alta pitchers for 13 safeties while Bob Glaze limited the home team to five blows, four of which were shared by H. Hardesty and Watson.

Ted James paced the winners at the plate with three singles. Glaze banged a homer and single, Baker a double and single and Lyons a pair of one-base knocks.

The second game is set for next Sunday at 2:30 p. m., EST in Oakland. Score:

Frank Sedgman Beats Trabert In Coast Final

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16 (AP) — Giving a big hint of things to come in the Davis Cup play, Frank Sedgman of Australia won the Pacific Southwest Tennis Championship for the second straight year today by defeating Tony Trabert of Cincinnati.

The scores were 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Sedgman is Australia's number one Davis Cup player. Trabert is a leading member of the U. S. cup team, although he may not get into the international matches in Australia this December because he is due for induction into the navy this month.

Sedgman grabbed the first two sets but Trabert prolonged the match by capturing the third with a blistering attack.

The fourth set lasted 25 minutes, and the Aussie's triumph required one hour and 23 minutes for the entire match.

Sedgman won this tournament last year by defeating a crippled Ted Schroeder, who had injured a knee in a fall during a previous match.

Petersburg Beats Elkins, 7-1; M. S. P. Tops Franklin, 6-1

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 16—Petersburg's Merchants, pennant winners, and the Medium Security Prison team of Huttonsville, became finalists in the Alleghany Baseball League playoffs by winning contests today at Petersburg and Huttonsville.

Petersburg defeated Elkins, 7-1, and M.S.P. edged Franklin, 6-1.

The four top teams of the league play a single game to determine the finalists in the best-of-three series for a trophy offered by the league.

Petersburg will play host to M.S.P. in the series opener next Sunday at 2 p. m., EST.

Wally Eaton, Petersburg hurler, tossed a 4-hitter, fanned 11 and obtained two of his team's 11 bingles in today's triumph over Elkins. Ray Hill slammed a home run for the Merchants in the 5th inning.

Baker turned back Franklin with five hits in besting Lefty Pope in a slab duel at Huttonsville. The scores:

AT PETERSBURG
ELKINS .... 100 000 000—1 4 4
PETERSBURG ...... 001 114 00x—7 11 2
Stalnaker, Godwin (6) and Pearce. Eaton and Dolly.

Rocky Graziano To Meet Janiro

Sala, DeJohn Test New Ring Padding Tonight

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Rocky Graziano, the former middleweight king who may get next crack at Sugar Ray Robinson, meets Tony Janiro at Detroit's Olympia Wednesday in the standout bout of the week.

It will be the third meeting between the Rock and the baby-faced battler from Youngstown, O. They fought a 10-round draw at New York March 31, 1950 and Graziano won a close decision last October. Both previous fights were at Madison Square Garden.

If Graziano polishes off Janiro, he may be matched with Robinson for a 160-pound title match at Chicago in mid-February.

Syracuse opens its new War Memorial auditorium tomorrow night with a 10-round middleweight match between Joey De John of Syracuse and Lee Sala of Donora, Pa. It's a rematch of a sensational 1949 bout won by Sala.

A new ring padding perfected at Cornell University, will get its first test by the New York State Athletic Commission in the Syracuse show.

Madison Square Garden gives Chico Vejar, unbeaten Stamford, Conn. schoolboy his first big time main go Friday night in a welter 10 with Eddie Compo of Waterbury, Conn.

Next Sunday at Berlin, Jack Gardner will defend his European heavyweight crown against Germany's Hein Ten Hoff in 15 rounds.

Alison Attlee Engaged

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Alison Elizabeth Attlee, 21-year-old daughter of the British prime minister, was engaged today to marry her brother's boss, Capt. Richard Lionel Davis.

Malaya Independence Party Is Organized

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Sept. 16 (AP)—Representatives of all races and creeds in Malaya met in a hotel here today and organized a new political party which aims at getting independence for this rich rubber and tin country.

Malays, Chinese, Indians, and Eurasians joined the veteran Malay leader, Data Onn Bin Jaafar, in forming the independence Malaya party.

Night Class To Open At Bruce High

WESTERNPORT — Enrollment for adult night classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday at Bruce High School from 7 to 9 p. m.

Courses to be offered this year will include beginning and advanced sewing, typing, shorthand and blueprint reading. Any other courses in which fifteen or more persons are interested will be taught.

Sentinels Fail

Harold Hull's td but Beard's kick for the point went wide of the target. In the final heat, Jerry Comer made it 13-all by scoring from the one and he ran the extra point which decided the issue.

The first downs were 16-3 in favor of Fort Hill. The Sentinels also out rushed the Cadets, 264 to 58 net yards.

AHS Beats Beall

At Frostburg, Allegany High School lanuched its 1951 campaign with a 36-6 victory over Beall High before 3,500 fans. It was the fifth successive year that AHS had beaten the Mountaineers.

Allegany scored in every period and the touchdowns were credited to Sisk, Eirich, Hager, Easton and Hook with Dick Widdows booting four of the extra points. A safety netted the Campers two points. Hess scored Beall's lone touchdown in the final stanza.

AHS reeled off 15 first downs to Beall's 9 and piled up 277 net yards to Beall's 49 on the ground. The Campers completed one of five passes for 12 yards while Beall clicksix times in 17 tries for 96 yards.

Potomac State Victor

Potomac State of Keyser opened the season with a 13-0 victory over the Pioneers at Glenville. Jack Matkowsky of Clayton, N. J., scored both touchdowns for Coach Dana Lough's Catamounts. Richard Poe of Grafton made the conversion. The Cats held a 10-7 edge in first downs.

by the United Nations command Sept. 10. The Allies admitted that a plane mistakenly strafed the Kaesong area. No damage was reported.

The Allied high command said the incident resulted from faulty navigation.

Thorough Investigation

"Each of the allegations contained in your letter has been thoroughly investigated," Ridgway messaged today. "These investigations established that the forces of the United Nations command were not, I repeat not, involved in any violation of the neutral zone except for the one incident occuring on 10 September.

"These thorough investigations, the results of which have been furnished to you previously, demonstrate the objective and responsible attitude of the UNC (United Nations command) towards violations of the agreements concerning the neutral zone."

Liaison officers at the U. N. command advance camp at Munsan were instructed to leave for Panmunjom to deliver Ridgway's reply.

Braves Sweep Pen-Mar Games

Mt. Savage Is Victor Over Eckhart, 10-1

The Braves of Mt. Savage made it four straight wins in the Pen-Mar Baseball League's playoff series by defeating Eckhart yesterday at Eckhart by the score of 10-1.

Eckhart dropped the series opener last week, 12-2. Mt. Savage eliminated Wellersburg in two games, 4-1 and 7-3.

Bob "Lefty" Crump received credit for yesterday's win while in the role of relief pitcher. It was his third straight pitching triumph of the series. The Braves' southpaw relieved Ralph Dickel in the 6th after Eckhart had knotted the count at 1-1 and started the winning rally by drawing a pass in the 7th. Blank's double and singles by Cassidy, Deffenbaugh and Goss featured the 5-run outburst. Hits by Best, Paul Dickel and Cunningham coupled with two passes netted the Braves four runs in the ninth.

Paul Dickel smacked three singles to lead the Mt. Savage swatsmiths while Cunningham played a bangup game at the hot corner for the winners. Watkins hit safely twice for Eckhart. Box:

Truck Weight Checker Held As Bribe-Taker

SALISBURY, Md., Sept. 16 (AP) — The head of a State Roads Commission truck-weight checking crew was held under $5,000 bond tonight, charged with accepting a bribe from a defendant in an overloaded truck case.

The officer was identified as Louis J. Parsons, about 34, Salisbury, in a warrant sworn out by Wicomico State's Attorney Hamilton P. Fox.

Parsons headed a crew which operates truck-weighing scales in an effort to check on axle loads of trucks. A new Maryland law provides for stiff penalties for overweights.

Parsons was arrested in his home in Salisbury Saturday night, Fox said, shortly after taking $250 in marked bills from Mrs. David Hancock of Stockton, wife of a man who had appealed a fine of $1,000 for refusing to have his truck weighed.

Three Surviving Quads Still On Critical List

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Three of Baltimore's "six-minute quads" were still on the critical list at City Hospital tonight.

Floria, the third of the four to be born Friday night, died yesterday.

Mrs. Susie Avance, 31 year-old negro widow, gave birth to the quadruplets in six minutes of delivery time after only 32 minutes of labor.

Oakland Grabs Series Opener

Glaze Turns Back Terra Alta, 6-2

TERRA ALTA, W. Va., Sept. 16—Oakland's Amvets scored all of their runs in the first three innings today to defeat Terra Alta in the opener of the best-of-three series for the championship of the Mountain State Baseball League. The score was 6-2.

The second half champions of the split season race, rapped two Terra Alta pitchers for 13 safeties while Bob Glaze limited the home team to five blows, four of which were shared by H. Hardesty and Watson.

Ted James paced the winners at the plate with three singles. Glaze banged a homer and single, Baker a double and single and Lyons a pair of one-base knocks.

The second game is set for next Sunday at 2:30 p. m., EST in Oakland. Score:

Frank Sedgman Beats Trabert In Coast Final

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16 (AP) — Giving a big hint of things to come in the Davis Cup play, Frank Sedgman of Australia won the Pacific Southwest Tennis Championship for the second straight year today by defeating Tony Trabert of Cincinnati.

The scores were 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Sedgman is Australia's number one Davis Cup player. Trabert is a leading member of the U. S. cup team, although he may not get into the international matches in Australia this December because he is due for induction into the navy this month.

Sedgman grabbed the first two sets but Trabert prolonged the match by capturing the third with a blistering attack.

The fourth set lasted 25 minutes, and the Aussie's triumph required one hour and 23 minutes for the entire match.

Sedgman won this tournament last year by defeating a crippled Ted Schroeder, who had injured a knee in a fall during a previous match.

Petersburg Beats Elkins, 7-1; M. S. P. Tops Franklin, 6-1

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 16—Petersburg's Merchants, pennant winners, and the Medium Security Prison team of Huttonsville, became finalists in the Alleghany Baseball League playoffs by winning contests today at Petersburg and Huttonsville.

Petersburg defeated Elkins, 7-1, and M.S.P. edged Franklin, 6-1.

The four top teams of the league play a single game to determine the finalists in the best-of-three series for a trophy offered by the league.

Petersburg will play host to M.S.P. in the series opener next Sunday at 2 p. m., EST.

Wally Eaton, Petersburg hurler, tossed a 4-hitter, fanned 11 and obtained two of his team's 11 bingles in today's triumph over Elkins. Ray Hill slammed a home run for the Merchants in the 5th inning.

Baker turned back Franklin with five hits in besting Lefty Pope in a slab duel at Huttonsville. The scores:

Kelly Plant Workers Ratify Plan For 13-Cent Pay Boost

Union, Company May Sign Pact Today

A 13 cents "across the board" wage increase granted to plant workers of the Kelly Springfield Tire and Rubber Co., was ratified by members of Local 26, United Rubber Workers Union of America, CIO, at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Union Hall, South Mechanic Street.

Raymond C. Burkhart, union president, said last night the union and Kelly-Springfield Tire Company intend to sign the agreement as soon as possible, probably today. The agreement reached will be retroactive to September 10, Burkhart added. Both company and union, Burkhart continued, will apply immediately to the Wage Stabilization Board for approval of the increase.

The original request for something to correct intra-plant inequities was dropped since the wage negotiating committee headed by Chairman Burkhart decided it may jeopardize approval by the Wage Stabilization Board. Representing production on the committee was A. E. Johnson. Ray Adams represented engineering.

Add-on Incorporated

Burkhart said last night the 35 cent add-on and general increase of 13 cents which totals 48 cents will be incorporated into the wage structure. Burkhart explained the 35 cents has been carried as add-on by the payroll department in various raises since 1947.

The International Union has approved the .13 cent increase and manner of incorporating the entire 48 cents into the wage structure, Burkhart noted.

The entire amount will be incorporated on piece work jobs in such a manner that employes will receive 48 cents based on straight time piece work earnings for the payroll period from March 5 to April 2. It will be incorporated on a percentage basis equal to 48 cents for the average on each job classification. The day workers 48 cents, Burkhart said, will be added to the day work base rate.

To Buy Building

Other business taken up and approved at yesterday's meeting was authorization of the purchase of the Cooke Building, 152-154 North Mechanic Street for union office headquarters provided it is clear of all incumberances.

The pay boost to local rubber workers follows a pattern set by major rubber companies recently. Goodyear, Firestone, Goodrich and U. S. Rubber companies and unions agreed on a 13-cents an hour boost in negotiations earlier this month.

Adam Is Named Secty.-Treas. YMCA District

Lashley Also Attends Area Conference

Lynn C. Lashley, president, and Winfield H. Adam, general secretary of Central YMOA, attended the annual district meeting of the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCA's in Hagerstown, Saturday. District Two of the Area is composed of YMCA's in Washington, D.C., Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland. Lashley served as vice president of the district during 1950-1951.

During the business session conducted at the new North Street Branch of Hagerstown YMCA, Adam was elected secretary-treasurer of the District for the term 1951-1952. The North Street Branch of the Hagerstown YMCA was opened August 15, in a converted school building to serve the negro population of the city. The County Commissioners of Washington County and the City Council of Hagerstown leased the old school building to the YMCA and spent $15,000 each on renovating and improving the property for YMCA programming. Friends of the "Y" in Hagerstown raised an additional $5,000 for equipment. Eugene Mitchell, of Washington, D.C., was appointed executive secretary of the newly organized branch.

Principal speaker at the district meeting was Rev. Paul Minnich Robinson, pastor of Hagerstown Church of the Brethern who just returned from a three month's tour of Europe and the Middle East. He reported on the program being conducted by the YMCA in the Middle East for the 600,000 displaced Arabs who lost their homes and property with the Division of Palestine into the two nations—Jordon and Israeli. Rev. Robinson also spoke at length on the rehabilitating work of the YMCA with former Nazi youth in Germany.

Omer T. Kaylor, president of the district and vice president of the Hagerstown YMCA, was chairman of the meeting. During the morning session a spirited discussion was conducted by Philip W. Breaux, executive secretary of the Washington, D. C., Central Branch on the subject "How Can We Interest Young People in the YMCA."

F. Henry Jones, member of the board of directors of Washington, D. C., YMCA and a member of the National Council of YMCA's, reported on the recently held Centennial Convention in June in Cleveland; and Dr. William T. Grady, also a member of the Washington, D.C., YMCA board of directors and a National Council member, reported on the National Council meeting of the YMCA held in conjunction with the Centennial Convention.

State's Attorney To Get Fire Probe Information

Information received in the probe of a two-alarm fire which gutted the home of Ellis Llewellyn, 220 Emily Street, last week will be turned over to the State's Attorney's office for action, Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, said last night.

Lilya, who has been conducting the probe, after being called in by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, when a partially filled five gallon can of gasoline was found in the house, said all persons involved in the probe have been interviewed. The fire, which occurred at 5:15 p. m. Wednesday, caused four city firemen to be overcome. Llewellyn recently purchased the two-story brick building from Mrs. Anna L. Reith, who lived in the downstairs apartment. The Llewellyn family resided upstairs.

Cycle Fire Checked

South End firemen answered a call early yesterday morning when a motorcycle was reported on fire. The cycle, belonging to Elmer L. Kerns, RFD No. 2, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., was damaged extensively, according to firemen. Cause of the blaze which occurred in the 1900 block of Oldtown Road was explosion of the gas tank, firemen reported. The cyclist was uninjured.

MRS. MYRA GRACE BURKETT

A funeral service for Mrs. Myra Grace Burkett, 23, who was fatally wounded by her husband Clarence Burkett in a shooting fracas Wednesday near Hyndman, Pa., was held yesterday afternoon at Ziegler's Funeral Home.

Rev. Frederick D. Oberkircher, pastor of Hyndman Reformed Church, officiated, with interment in Palo Alto Cemetery. Pallbearers were John Shaffer, James Shaffer, Dale Martz, Kenneth Emerick, John Emerich and Melvin Korns.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Teter RFD No. 3, Bowman's Addition, a son Friday night.

Lost Watch Found

A valuable platinum and diamond wrist watch belonging to Mrs. Morris L. Barnes, 19 Washington Street, which was reported lost Saturday, was returned to her yesterday. The watch was found by Mrs. John Trieber, 209 Central Avenue, on George Street near Baltimore Street.

Hagerstown Fair To Open Today With Huge Entry List Expected

Officials of the Great Hagerstown Fair predict one of the biggest weeks in the event's history, on the basis of early entries, reservations and inquiries.

The Great Hagerstown Fair will run day and night from Monday, September 17, through Saturday, September 22, at the Hagerstown Fairgrounds.

The agricultural exhibitions, which attract entries from the four-state area of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia are shaping up rapidly as entry deadlines approach.

Superintendents indicated that cattle entries will at least equal last year's record of 300 head, competing for more than $3,500 in prize money.

With Wade H. Rice, extension specialist of the University of Maryland, engaged as judge, the poultry department under Superintendent Leonard G. Mathias is making rapid strides back toward the size and quality that made it one of the best in the nation in past years.

The Maryland Horticultural Society is sponsoring a special apple exhibition, open to orchardists throughout the state, as one of the features of the farm products departments.

The Hagerstown Fair Association has again engaged the Cetlin-Wilson Shows to furnish the bulk of the midway entertainment. Thirty acres were added to the Fairgrounds last year, permitting the full complement of shows, rides, and booths to be brought to Hagerstown.

NEW MARINE COMPANY FORMS — First Lt. John E. Rich, (seated) discusses formation of the new Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, with Master Sgt. Eugene W. Snyder, sergeant-major of the new unit. Lt. Rich officially took over his duties as inspector-instructor of the company Saturday. Actual formation of the unit is expected to begin soon.

Today's Sermonette

You shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. John 8:32

By REV. W. RANDOLPH KEEFE

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at Grace Baptist Church by the pastor, Rev. W. Randolph Keefe. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

How Free I Am

Rev. Keefe

Under God you and I are free. It is by the grace of God that the freedom we now have shall be assured. God has made us free and He has privileged us to maintain that freedom. How sweet a duty it is for us to work together with God that all men might likewise have freedom. As we recognize that our God has so freely given may we accept the opportunity that is ours of freely giving. Let us be reminded that the blessings of God, including freedom, depend upon man's appreciation, man's labor and man's sacrifices.

On July 30, 1619, slightly more than 12 years after the original settlers landed at Jamestown Island, the first freely elected governing body on this continent was brought into existance. How great and precious is the freedom we have today in our land. How grateful we are to those who prized liberty and freedom above life itself. Our farsighted and wise forefathers were inspired of God and were God led laborers and evangelists of freedom. We are grateful for so rich an heritage. We will show our gratitude by refusing to let it slip from us.

Our freedom is worth whatever it may cost us. It has often cost men dearly. The one millionth man has just paid for this precious freedom with his life. Let us this day humbly thank almighty God for what Thomas Jefferson called, "A privilege never given to civilized men before — the privilege of beginning anew, here, now a government of free men. This is a glorious challenge." May the spirit of Jefferson guide us in the appreciation of and the preservation of this grand freedom. On this day proclaimed us "Freedom Sunday" in Maryland, by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, accept the admonition which Jefferson proclaimed long ago, "Let us in prayer and dedication of spirit resolve now to . . . lift our faces toward the light, a new people, and under God and under heaven dedicate ourselves to establishing here on this earth a government of righteousness, of true liberty and justice among men."

God's holy word stirs our hearts as we see depicted on its pages the dignity of man. In His image and after His likeness He has made us. No individual, no organization, no government has the right to take away from us those rights with which God Himself has ordained us. I know that my God wants me to be free, To be free in my intention. My hope is to be able, in some measure, to help grant freedom to all men. How great is the challenge! How vast the opportunity in today's world where so many are denied the freedom which God gave to man.

The only safe and sure road to freedom is the road of truth. By the dissemination of the truth among all peoples we shall bring freedom to all. Ignorance enslaves a nation. Prejudice and partiality are freedom's enemies, Russia, Spain, China and other nations are without religious freedom as we know it in America. Without religious freedom there cannot long be any freedom. By the maintaining of the principle of the separation of church and state we can continue the enjoyment of our religious freedom. Let us seek to know the truth, to make it known, and see how much freedom we can give to the peoples of this world.

Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel for Allegany County Schools; Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools; Lt. W. E. O'Hara, commanding officer of the State Police Barracks at LaVale, and Dr. D. W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools. They addressed more than 100 drivers on safe operation of their vehicles.

Marines Begin Formation Of New Unit Here

Special Company Will Organize

Work toward formation of a new Marine Corps Reserve company here got under way Saturday as First Lt. John E. Rich assumed his duties as inspector-instructor of the unit.

Actual organization will start about October 1. Lt. Rich said his office will start signing up volunteers as soon as a commanding officer is named for the unit.

The new unit, the Sixth Special Infantry Company, will be one of 23 such units to be formed in the U. S. In all, 110 Marine Reserve ground units will be organized.

Purpose of the unit in a national emergency would be to provide a security unit to replace similar regular Marine Corps units. Its members later would be assigned to the Fleet Marine Force, which comprises combat units of the Marine Corps.

The new company will replace Company D. Fifth Infantry Battalion, which was ordered to active duty July 29, 1950. It was one of the first units in the nation to be called.

Before Company D was activated it stood at the top of the national list in competitive reserve activities. Many of its members later saw action in Korea, and several have since been returned to inactive status.

Lt. Rich, whose home is in Evergreen Park, Ill., recently returned from Korea, where he was wounded while serving with an infantry unit in the battle for Seoul.

A veteran of 12 years service with the Marine Corps, he fought on Guadalcanal, Saipan, Tinian and in the Marshalls during World War II.

His chief assistant here is Master Sgt. Eugene W. Snyder, sergeant-major of the new company.

Briefs

The second of two teaching clinics at St. Luke's Lutheran Church will be held today at 7:45 p. m. Churches of the Mountain District of the Maryland Synod will participate.

Plans for fall and winter activities of the Gephart Teenage Club will be made at a meeting today at 7:30 p. m. at Gephart Playground. New members may join.

Mrs. Louise Bittle, Cresaptown, recently received birthday wishes via telephone from her husband, Petty Officer 1C Clarence J. Bittle, who has been stationed at Odak, Alaska, with the 124 the Seabees for the past 13 months.

Dr. John T. Gorman will open a dental office at 19 South Liberty Street today. A star football player at Allegany High School in 1943 he received his degree as doctor of dental surgery in June at the University of Maryland.

The Cumberland Choral Society will rehearse this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church social rooms, Washington Street.

Cumberland Council No. 179, United Commercial Travelers, is planning a golden anniversary celebration this year. Completed arrangements are expected next month at a meeting in IOOF Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Dawson, Blackiston Avenue, received a telephone call Friday from their son, Cpl. William T. Dawson, who is stationed in Japan.

Miss Bonnie Blue Loughrie, daughter of U. S. Deputy Marshal and Mrs. Howard P. Loughrie, 301 Baltimore Avenue, and a 1951 graduate of Frostburg State, has begun her teaching career at Glenmont Elementary School, Silver Spring. She is assigned to the sixth grade.

The Weather

Cumberland couldn't have asked for a more pleasant September weekend than it had Saturday and Sunday. Cool breezes and a slightly overcast sky kept mercury to a high of 81 yesterday, while the overnight low was 50. By 9 p. m. the thermometer had dropped to 63, but was not expected to go much below 50 during the night. About 2,000 people flocked to Constitution Park yesterday. Today is expected to be fair with pleasant temperatures no higher than 75 to 80 degrees.

NEW ENGINEER—E. D. Billmeyer, LaVale, has been named division engineer for the Elkins Division of the Western Maryland Railway, with headquarters here. He succeeds G. H. Hornbaker, who is retiring after 38 years with the railroad. Billmeyer started work with the railroad in 1937 at Hagerstown, was later transferred to Baltimore to become office engineer, and came here in 1949 as assistant division engineer. A native of Cumberland, he is married and has two children, Jane, 11, and Daniel, six, both students at LaVale School.

Local Man Dies In Collision Near Frederick

Rites Tomorrow For Lee H. Cole

A Cumberland resident was fatally injured early Saturday morning in an automobile crash near Frederick. Lee Hartman Cole, 53, 143½ Bedford Street, died at 5:15 a. m. in Frederick Memorial Hospital.

The car in which he was riding, State Police said, skidded off Route 40 during a heavy rain and crashed against a tree one mile east of Frederick at about 3 a. m. Saturday.

Cole, who was accustomed to coming home on weekends, was a painter employed by Wilson Contracting Company in Baltimore for the past three months.

State Police identified the driver as Albert Schimminger, 44, of Baltimore, who was admitted to the Frederick hospital with a fractured arm, chest injjuries and lacerations of the face and body.

Born in Bolivar, W. Va., Cole was a son of the late John W. and Agnes McCormick Cole. He was a member of the Methodist Church. Surviving besides his wodow, Mrs. Gertrude A. Barkley Cole, are two brothers, Charles A. Cole, Frostburg; Gilbert W. Cole, this city, and three sisters, Mrs. Alice Heckrotte, Washington; Mrs. Charles A. Trappe and Mrs. Robert Rice, both of this city.

A funeral service will be held at George's Funeral Home tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. S. R. Neel, retired Methodist minister, officiating. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

In another weekend accident, Charles Spicer, 26, of Montreal Avenue, was admitted to Allegany Hospital Saturday at 3:55 a. m. after being injured in a crash on McMullen Highway near Rainbow Inn.

An attending physician said Spicer is suffering from a brain concussion, crushing injuries to the right thigh and lacerations of the face. His condition last night was reported as "satisfactory" by hospital attaches.

State Police brought him to the hospital. The automobile in which he was riding, police said, knocked down a light pole. Homes in the immediate area were without lights for about four hours.

Probe Is Continued In Brydon Home Fire

County investigating authorities are continuing a probe into a fire late Friday night, believed to be of incendiary origin, which slightly damaged the historic Brydon home at Bloomington. Fire companies from Bloomington, Westernport, Piedmont, W. Va., and Beryl, W. Va., responded.

Authorities said a window had been broken and a circular cut made in one of the doors of the home. It is believed entry was made through one of the damaged sections.

It was also reported that plaster had been broken on one of the walls of the fire-damaged room and rags stuffed inside.

The house is now owned by Mrs. Carroll Pattison, Piedmont, who reported the structure was unoccupied. She added that the damage was covered by insurance.

River Commission Sponsors Pollution Picture Contest

Area photographers are being given an opportunity to share in cash awards totaling $170 in a contest sponsored by the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin. Purpose of the contest which opened September 1 and will extend to November 30 is the development of a picture library which will show water pollution or the direct effects of water pollution.

Entrants eligible are from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia. Black and white photos or color transparencies may be submitted. Pictures are desired showing sources of pollution and exemplifying pollution of water or the effect of water pollution within the Potomac watershed.

Contestants must be able, upon request, to supply a release from persons recognizable in the photos for use of the photos by the sponsors. No artwork, coloring, multiple printing or retouching is permissible. Pictures are eligible only if taken since January 1, 1951. Any make of camera or film may be used. As many pictures as desired may be entered but it must be understood no picture entered in any other competition may be used.

Entries should be mailed to Photographic Competition, Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, 202 Transportation Bldg., Washington, D. C.

Kelly Plant Workers Ratify Plan For 13-Cent Pay Boost

Union, Company May Sign Pact Today

A 13 cents "across the board" wage increase granted to plant workers of the Kelly Springfield Tire and Rubber Co., was ratified by members of Local 26, United Rubber Workers Union of America, CIO, at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Union Hall, South Mechanic Street.

Raymond C. Burkhart, union president, said last night the union and Kelly-Springfield Tire Company intend to sign the agreement as soon as possible, probably today. The agreement reached will be retroactive to September 10, Burkhart added. Both company and union, Burkhart continued, will apply immediately to the Wage Stabilization Board for approval of the increase.

The original request for something to correct intra-plant inequities was dropped since the wage negotiating committee headed by Chairman Burkhart decided it may jeopardize approval by the Wage Stabilization Board. Representing production on the committee was A. E. Johnson. Ray Adams represented engineering.

Add-on Incorporated

Burkhart said last night the 35 cent add-on and general increase of 13 cents which totals 48 cents will be incorporated into the wage structure. Burkhart explained the 35 cents has been carried as add-on by the payroll department in various raises since 1947.

The International Union has approved the .13 cent increase and manner of incorporating the entire 48 cents into the wage structure, Burkhart noted.

The entire amount will be incorporated on piece work jobs in such a manner that employes will receive 48 cents based on straight time piece work earnings for the payroll period from March 5 to April 2. It will be incorporated on a percentage basis equal to 48 cents for the average on each job classification. The day workers 48 cents, Burkhart said, will be added to the day work base rate.

To Buy Building

Other business taken up and approved at yesterday's meeting was authorization of the purchase of the Cooke Building, 152-154 North Mechanic Street for union office headquarters provided it is clear of all incumberances.

The pay boost to local rubber workers follows a pattern set by major rubber companies recently. Goodyear, Firestone, Goodrich and U. S. Rubber companies and unions agreed on a 13-cents an hour boost in negotiations earlier this month.

State's Attorney To Get Fire Probe Information

Information received in the probe of a two-alarm fire which gutted the home of Ellis Llewellyn, 220 Emily Street, last week will be turned over to the State's Attorney's office for action, Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, said last night.

Lilya, who has been conducting the probe, after being called in by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, when a partially filled five gallon can of gasoline was found in the house, said all persons involved in the probe have been interviewed. The fire, which occurred at 5:15 p. m. Wednesday, caused four city firemen to be overcome. Llewellyn recently purchased the two-story brick building from Mrs. Anna L. Reith, who lived in the downstairs apartment. The Llewellyn family resided upstairs.

Cycle Fire Checked

South End firemen answered a call early yesterday morning when a motorcycle was reported on fire. The cycle, belonging to Elmer L. Kerns, RFD No. 2, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., was damaged extensively, according to firemen. Cause of the blaze which occurred in the 1900 block of Oldtown Road was explosion of the gas tank, firemen reported. The cyclist was uninjured.

MRS. MYRA GRACE BURKETT

A funeral service for Mrs. Myra Grace Burkett, 23, who was fatally wounded by her husband Clarence Burkett in a shooting fracas Wednesday near Hyndman, Pa., was held yesterday afternoon at Ziegler's Funeral Home.

Rev. Frederick D. Oberkircher, pastor of Hyndman Reformed Church, officiated, with interment in Palo Alto Cemetery. Pallbearers were John Shaffer, James Shaffer, Dale Martz, Kenneth Emerick, John Emerich and Melvin Korns.

Adam Is Named Secty.-Treas. YMCA District

Lashley Also Attends Area Conference

Lynn C. Lashley, president, and Winfield H. Adam, general secretary of Central YMCA, attended the annual district meeting of the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCA's in Hagerstown, Saturday. District Two of the Area is composed of YMCA's in Washington, D.C., Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland. Lashley served as vice president of the district during 1950-1951.

During the business session conducted at the new North Street Branch of Hagerstown YMCA, Adam was elected secretary-treasurer of the District for the term 1951-1952. The North Street Branch of the Hagerstown YMCA was opened August 15, in a converted school building to serve the negro population of the city. The County Commissioners of Washington County and the City Council of Hagerstown leased the old school building to the YMCA and spent $15,000 each on renovating and improving the property for YMCA programming. Friends of the "Y" in Hagerstown raised an additional $5,000 for equipment. Eugene Mitchell, of Washington, D.C., was appointed executive secretary of the newly organized branch.

Principal speaker at the district meeting was Rev. Paul Minnich Robinson, pastor of Hagerstown Church of the Brethern who just returned from a three month's tour of Europe and the Middle East. He reported on the program being conducted by the YMCA in the Middle East for the 600,000 displaced Arabs who lost their homes and property with the Division of Palestine into the two nations—Jordon and Israeli. Rev. Robinson also spoke at length on the rehabilitating work of the YMCA with former Nazi youth in Germany.

Omer T. Kaylor, president of the district and vice president of the Hagerstown YMCA, was chairman of the meeting. During the morning session a spirited discussion was conducted by Philip W. Breaux, executive secretary of the Washington, D. C., Central Branch on the subject "How Can We Interest Young People in the YMCA."

F. Henry Jones, member of the board of directors of Washington, D. C., YMCA and a member of the National Council of YMCA's, reported on the recently held Centennial Convention in June in Cleveland; and Dr. William T. Grady, also a member of the Washington, D.C., YMCA board of directors and a National Council member, reported on the National Council meeting of the YMCA held in conjunction with the Centennial Convention.

Hagerstown Fair To Open Today With Huge Entry List Expected

Officials of the Great Hagerstown Fair predict one of the biggest weeks in the event's history, on the basis of early entries, reservations and inquiries.

The Great Hagerstown Fair will run day and night from Monday, September 17, through Saturday, September 22, at the Hagerstown Fairgrounds.

The agricultural exhibitions, which attract entries from the four-state area of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia are shaping up rapidly as entry deadlines approach.

Superintendents indicated that cattle entries will at least equal last year's record of 300 head, competing for more than $3,500 in prize money.

With Wade H. Rice, extension specialist of the University of Maryland, engaged as judge, the poultry department under Superintendent Leonard G. Mathias is making rapid strides back toward the size and quality that made it one of the best in the nation in past years.

The Maryland Horticultural Society is sponsoring a special apple exhibition, open to orchardists throughout the state, as one of the features of the farm products departments.

The Hagerstown Fair Association has again engaged the Cetlin-Wilson Shows to furnish the bulk of the midway entertainment. Thirty acres were added to the Fairgrounds last year, permitting the full complement of shows, rides, and booths to be brought to Hagerstown.

NEW MARINE COMPANY FORMS — First Lt. John E. Rich, (seated) discusses formation of the new Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, with Master Sgt. Eugene W. Snyder, sergeant-major of the new unit. Lt. Rich officially took over his duties as inspector-instructor of the company Saturday. Actual formation of the unit is expected to begin soon.

Today's Sermonette

You shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. John 8:32

By REV. W. RANDOLPH KEEFE

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at Grace Baptist Church by the pastor, Rev. W. Randolph Keefe. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

How Free I Am

Under God you and I are free. It is by the grace of God that the freedom we now have shall be assured.

Rev. Keefe

God has made us free and He has privileged us to maintain that freedom. How sweet a duty it is for us to work together with God that all men might likewise have freedom. As we recognize that our God has so freely given may we accept the opportunity that is ours of freely giving. Let us be reminded that the blessings of God, including freedom, depend upon man's appreciation, man's labor and man's sacrifices.

On July 30, 1619, slightly more than 12 years after the original settlers landed at Jamestown Island, the first freely elected governing body on this continent was brought into existance. How great and precious is the freedom we have today in our land. How grateful we are to those who prized liberty and freedom above life itself. Our farsighted and wise forefathers were inspired of God and were God led laborers and evangelists of freedom. We are grateful for so rich an heritage. We will show our gratitude by refusing to let it slip from us.

Our freedom is worth whatever it may cost us. It has often cost men dearly. The one millionth man has just paid for this precious freedom with his life. Let us this day humbly thank almighty God for what Thomas Jefferson called, "A privilege never given to civilized men before — the privilege of beginning anew, here, now a government of free men. This is a glorious challenge." May the spirit of Jefferson guide us in the appreciation of and the preservation of this grand freedom. On this day proclaimed us "Freedom Sunday" in Maryland, by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, accept the admonition which Jefferson proclaimed long ago, "Let us in prayer and dedication of spirit resolve now to . . . lift our faces toward the light, a new people, and under God and under heaven dedicate ourselves to establishing here on this earth a government of righteousness, of true liberty and justice among men."

God's holy word stirs our hearts as we see depicted on its pages the dignity of man. In His image and after His likeness He has made us. No individual, no organization, no government has the right to take away from us those rights with which God Himself has ordained us. I know that my God wants me to be free, To be free in my intention. My hope is to be able, in some measure, to help grant freedom to all men. How great is the challenge! How vast the opportunity in today's world where so many are denied the freedom which God gave to man.

The only safe and sure road to freedom is the road of truth. By the dissemination of the truth among all peoples we shall bring freedom to all. Ignorance enslaves a nation. Prejudice and partiality are freedom's enemies, Russia, Spain, China and other nations are without religious freedom as we know it in America. Without religious freedom there cannot long be any freedom. By the maintaining of the principle of the separation of church and state we can continue the enjoyment of our religious freedom. Let us seek to know the truth, to make it known, and see how much freedom we can give to the peoples of this world.

Marines Begin Formation Of New Unit Here

Special Company Will Organize

Work toward formation of a new Marine Corps Reserve company here got under way Saturday as First Lt. John E. Rich assumed his duties as inspector-instructor of the unit.

Actual organization will start about October 1. Lt. Rich said his office will start signing up volunteers as soon as a commanding officer is named for the unit.

The new unit, the Sixth Special Infantry Company, will be one of 23 such units to be formed in the U. S. In all, 110 Marine Reserve ground units will be organized.

Purpose of the unit in a national emergency would be to provide a security unit to replace similar regular Marine Corps units. Its members later would be assigned to the Fleet Marine Force, which comprises combat units of the Marine Corps.

The new company will replace Company D. Fifth Infantry Battalion, which was ordered to active duty July 29, 1950. It was one of the first units in the nation to be called.

Before Company D was activated it stood at the top of the national list in competitive reserve activities. Many of its members later saw action in Korea, and several have since been returned to inactive status.

Lt. Rich, whose home is in Evergreen Park, Ill., recently returned from Korea, where he was wounded while serving with an infantry unit in the battle for Seoul.

A veteran of 12 years service with the Marine Corps, he fought on Guadalcanal, Saipan, Tinian and in the Marshalls during World War II.

His chief assistant here is Master Sgt. Eugene W. Snyder, sergeant-major of the new company.

Miss Bonnie Blue Loughrie, daughter of U. S. Deputy Marshal and Mrs. Howard P. Loughrie, 301 Baltimore Avenue, and a 1951 graduate of Frostburg State, has begun her teaching career at Glenmont Elementary School, Silver Spring. She is assigned to the sixth grade.

The Weather

Cumberland couldn't have asked for a more pleasant September weekend than it had Saturday and Sunday. Cool breezes and a slightly overcast sky kept mercury to a high of 81 yesterday, while the overnight low was 50. By 9 p. m. the thermometer had dropped to 63, but was not expected to go much below 50 during the night. About 2,000 people flocked to Constitution Park yesterday. Today is expected to be fair with pleasant temperatures no higher than 75 to 80 degrees.

River Commission Sponsors Pollution Picture Contest

Area photographers are being given an opportunity to share in cash awards totaling $170 in a contest sponsored by the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin.

Purpose of the contest which opened September 1 and will extend to November 30 is the development of a picture library which will show water pollution or the direct effects of water pollution.

Entrants eligible are from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia. Black and white photos or color transparencies may be submitted. Pictures are desired showing sources of pollution and exemplifying pollution of water or the effect of water pollution within the Potomac watershed.

Contestants must be able, upon request, to supply a release from persons recognizable in the photos for use of the photos by the sponsors. No artwork, coloring, multiple printing or retouching is permissible. Pictures are eligible only if taken since January 1, 1951. Any make of camera or film may be used. As many pictures as desired may be entered but it must be understood no picture entered in any other competition may be used.

Entries should be mailed to Photographic Competition, Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, 202 Transportation Bldg., Washington, D. C.
